PREFACE TO THE FOURTH EDITION.

In bringing out the Fourth Edition of this digest I beg to convey my heart-felt thanks to the Members of the Bench, the Bar and the Executive Departments whose patronage has ever encouraged me in compiling the successive Editions of the book within such a short period.

This time also the book has been thoroughly revised and materially improved and enlarged by about 400 pages of solid matter, and various new Acts and topics and up-to-date matter have been incorporated making the book much more useful and exhaustive, while its price has not at all been increased.

The cases that were reported during the period the book was being printed, have been inserted in the Supplement, and the case-laws reported up-to the time of publication have been carefully collected.

Abandonment of children, see I. P. C. s. 317.

ABATEMENT.

—criminal proceedings once legally instituted, whether upon a complaint or otherwise, do not terminate or abate merely by reason of the death of the complainant or the person injured.
2 Lahore 27

—a criminal prosecution under s. 323 I. P. C. does not abate by reason of the death of the person injured. 44 M. 417, 22 A. L. J. 520 : 81 Ind. C. 719 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1007.

—a criminal prosecution cannot abate merely on account of the death of the injured party. S. 89 of the Probate and Administration Act has no application to a criminal prosecution. Where the complainant of an offence under s. 498 I. P. C. died before judgment the prosecution did not abate and the accused might nevertheless be convicted. 24 Cr. L. J. 29.

—a son cannot be made party in place of his deceased father.
21 C. 404.

—the words "may cause" in s. 145 show that the M. is not bound to continue the proceeding on the death of a party. 4 L. W. 57 : 17 Cr. L. J. 138.

B 564

—the representatives of the deceased appellant has their remedy by application to the Government in Council. Rat. Un Cr. 707

—in the case of a non-cognizable offence instituted upon complaint, the axiom of "actio personalis moritur cum persona" in civil law confined to torts does not apply and the trying M. has discretion in proper cases to allow the complaint to continue by a proper and fit complainant. 93 I. C. 726 : 26 Cr. L. J. 165

—each case of concealment of arms must be decided on its own facts as to whether it falls under s. 19 or 20 of the Act. To apply s. 20 there must be some special indication of an intention that the possession of the arms was being concealed from a public servant or from a Railway official. If arms are merely concealed in a house which, it cannot be anticipated, the police will come and search, s. 20 will not apply. The possession must be furtive as against public servants, railway servants, or public carriers and such cases generally occur when arms are being illicitly imported or transported. 94 I. - (1) Statement of accused.

—statements made by accused to a Police Officer are admissible as admissions against the accused under ss. 17 and 18 of the Evidence Act, but not in his favour. 41 C. L. J. 253 : 1927 Cal. 17 : 54 C. 237 : 99 I. C. 227.

—statement on oath made by the accused before the Coroner at the time of the inquest is admissible in evidence at the trial as a statement made by a party to a proceeding under ss. 18 and 21 of the Evidence Act. 93 I. C. 690 : 1926 Bom. 466 - 50 B. 111 : 27 Cr. L. J. 466; Contra. it is not admissible. 50 B. 56 : 93 I. C. 225 : 1929 Bom. 144 : 27 Cr. L. J. 433.

—a statement made to a Police officer but not amounting to a confession may be used against the maker of it. 20 A. L. J. 178 : 65 I. C. 849.

—s. 25 Evi. Act does not exclude all statements by an accused to the Police but only confessions. There is a distinction between mere admission and confession which are statements either directly admitting guilt or suggesting the inference of guilt, 41 C. 602.

(2) Confession, what is and how to be proved and how far evidence.

—a confession is an admission made at any time by a person charged with a crime, stating or suggesting the inference that he committed the crime 5 L. B. R. 131; 4 Ind. C. 1023.

—s. 24 does not exclude confession of approver under a. 339 (2) Cr. P. C., 29 Cr. L. J. 413; 1928 Lah. 320; 108 I. C. 514 F. B.

—an admission of all the ingredients required to constitute an offence is a confession 24 P. W. R. 1909

—a confession does not become inadmissible in evidence simply because there is in it false statement on a material point. (1883) A. W. N. 148.

—the word confession as used in the Evidence Act, must not be construed as including a mere inculpatory admission, falling short of being an admission of guilt. 7 A. 646.

—"Huzur, kasur map kiyajai, ab aise kabhi nahin hoga" (your honor will please pardon the fault, in future no such thing will happen) is not an expression of confession. 14 C. L. J. 652.

—a confession must be considered as a whole. Cr. R. 19 of 1884, 8 W. R. 38, 25 W. R. 15, 23; 1 Burma 324, 327 P. R. 4 of 1872.

—a confession must be read and accepted as a whole unless there is evidence to contradict any portion in which case that portion may be rejected. 1926 Lah. 554; 99 I. C. 71; 28 Cr. L. J. 39.

—the words actually used by the accused ought to be ascertained 10 B. L. R. 332, (1883) 3 W. N. 12.

—the strictest precision should be enjoined on the witness proving the confession so that there may be no room for mistake or misunderstanding. 6 A. 509; (1884) W. N. 221, 14 B. 260 F. B., 11 C. 635, 2 L. B. R. 168.

—the tests for appreciating the evidence of witnesses cannot appropriately be applied, in estimating the value to be attached to a confession. 6 Bom. L. R. 773.

—the confession of accused in one case in which he was convicted cannot be used against him in another case, unless they are deposed to on oath by the person who took them down or by some one else who heard them. 10 W. R. 56, 11 C. 580.

—a police officer should not be permitted to depose that the accused had confessed to him. 16 C. W. N. 238.

—in case of extra-judicial-confession the court is to scrutinise the whole of the material before it. 81 Ind. C. 530 (Lahore), 6 L. L. J. 208.

—in order to make a confession irrelevant, it must be shown that the confession itself was improperly made. 9 Bom. L. R. 789.

—a confession made to a Magistrate in a Native State is admissible in evidence in a trial in British India if it is duly recorded in proceedings under and in the manner required by the Cr. P. C. 2 P. R. 1909; 7 P. W. R. 1909, 69 Ind. C. 257; 23 Cr. L. J. 673.

(2) Confession, what is and how to be proved and how far evidence - contd.

—a confession made to a private individual may be evidence against the prisoner if proved by the person before whom the confession was made. 13 W. R. 69.

—evidence of admission of guilt to villagers may be as strong evidence as confession before Magistrate. 1928 Oudh 393: 5 O. W. N. 698

—a confession made by a prisoner in a private conversation which was overheard, has been held to be admissible. 7 W. R. Cr. 56

—confession must be read as a whole. 99 I. C. 71: 28 Cr. L. J. 39

(3) Confession voluntarily made. S. 24 Evl. Act

—a confession made voluntarily is admissible under s. 24 Evl. Act 45 A 300

—a confession against oneself made to a witness with the idea that it would be to his advantage is admissible in evidence. 1929 Mad. 92.

—the statement of a prisoner, whether taken as a confession or on examination, may be received in evidence 5 W. R. 1.

—but it must be voluntarily made and substantially true, 10 Cr. L. J. 200

—the Judge is to decide whether it is voluntarily made and the jury is to say whether it is true or not. 11 Bom. L. R. 332: 2 Ind. C. 517.

—a Judge ought to be satisfied that a confession was voluntarily made before it can be even admissible in evidence. 8 Bom. L. R. 697.

—where the confession appears to be made voluntarily, and where it agrees with all the circumstantial evidence in the case and the account contained in it is not an improbable one, the confession can be accepted as true. Cr. Rul. 30 July, 1197: Rat. Un. Cr. 867.

—the circumstance that the confession purported to be made voluntarily is one to be taken into account and is a fact of which the accused person may reasonably be expected to give some satisfactory explanation. 22 W. R. 51 of 87.

(4) Confession involuntarily made i.e. under compulsion, threat or promise, etc. S. 24. Evl. Act, —it is improper to attempt to make an accused person, before any evidence is recorded, confess his guilt and admit facts that may go to incriminate him 2 C. W. N. 702, 8 C. W. N. 22, 13 C. W. N. 197, 4. N. L. R. 163, 6 C. L. R. 431.

—where the accused makes a statement in writing containing an allegation from which it appears that it was not voluntarily made, it is inadmissible. 37 C. 735.

—where a statement is elicited by a question, it is inadmissible under s. 164 Cr. P. C.

s. 24 Evl. Act, though such circumstance may be material on the question of its voluntariness 37 C 467.

—when questions were put which elicited a statement of a confessional nature, such examination was wholly inadmissible. 25 C. L. J. 323.

—under s 24 Evl. Act, the confession becomes irrelevant if it was obtained by inducement, threat or promise. 25 B. 543; 3 Bom. L. R. 122, but admissions which lead to a discovery of a certain fact is admissible. P R 8 of 1882, 6 A. 509; (1834) W. N. 219, 24 W. R. 36, 14 B. 26) F. B.

—to apply s 24 the inducement or promise must be given to the accused by some person who had authority to give it. Idle hope such as that the accused will be pardoned if he makes the disclosure is irrelevant and does not render the confession inadmissible. 32 C. W. N. 616 109 I. C. 225; 1928 Cal. 500; 29 Cr. L. J. 497. 11 Lah. L. J. 5; 30 Cr. L. J. 49; 113 I. C. 65

—confession duly received under s. 161 Cr. P. C. is admissible unless rebutted by s 24 Evl. Act; the subsequent retraction is not enough in all cases to make it appear to have been unlawfully induced. 2 Bom. L. R. 761 25 B. 163.

—a statement made under promise of pardon is no evidence against a prisoner. 8 W. R. 53; 45 A. 933; 74 I. C. 529.

—a Magistrate acts without due discretion when as a prosecutor, he holds out promises to the accused as an inducement to them to confess 1 W. R. 24

—a statement of co-accused while in the custody of the police being an admission of a criminating circumstance cannot be admitted in evidence. 19 B. 363.

—confession made by an accused person while temporarily separated from the Police lock up is not admissible in evidence. 108 I. C. 398: 1923 Lah. 282: 10 Lah. L. J. 174: 29 Cr. L J. 386.

—the confession to the police may be used for the purpose of arriving at a conclusion as to whether a subsequent judicial confession should be believed or not, 75 I. C. 693: 1923 Leb. 315: 25 Cr. L. J. 5.

—though a confession made to a Police-officer may not be proved as against an accused, it may be proved for other purposes. 2 B. 61, 9 B. 131, 25 B. 168, 19 B. 668.

(6) Confession while under Police custody s. 26 Evl. Act

—as soon as an accused or suspected person comes into the hand of a "Police officer," he is, in the absence of clear and unmistakable evidence to the contrary, no longer at liberty and is therefore in custody within s. 26, 71 I. C. 429 : 1924 Nag. 173 : 25 Cr. L. J. 381.

—where an accused was sent to hospital from lock-up for treatment and the Police was in the veranda while in the room the accused confessed his guilt, the confession was inadmissible as he was in custody while in hospital. 42 B. 1

—confession to Magistrate while in Police custody is not admissible 91 I. C. 806 : 27 Cr. L. J. 134 : 1925 Lah. 557

—an admission not being a confession of guilt, made by an accused person to a police officer before arrest, is admissible, 6 C. 530 : 7 C. L. R. 45.

—confession was held unworthy of credit for amongst others the reason being that the confession appeared to have been made after the accused had been in police custody for sometime, 15 C. W. N. 593, 11 C. L. J. 273.

—statement made by an accused while in Police custody to a friend, during the temporary absence of the police is not admissible. 20 B. 165.

—confession made by an accused person while temporarily separated from the Police custody is not admissible, 108 I. C. 398 : 1928 Lah. 282 : 10 Lab. L. J. 174 : 29 Cr. L. J. 386.

—confession made to a person asked by the police officer to take down the confession, the police officer being in such proximity as to make his presence likely to affect the mind of the confessing person, is in substance a confession made to a police officer. 97 I. C. 44 : 1926 All. 737 : 49 A. 57 : 27 Cr. L. J. 1068

—the evidence of a Police who overheard a prisoner's statement made in another room, and in ignorance of the Police man's vicinity and uninfluenced by it, is not inadmissible. 7 W. R. 56.

—a confession to a Magistrate on leave in the presence of a Police officer who had arrested the accused is not admissible in evidence. 1929 All. 855 : 30 Cr. L. J. 867 : 118 I. C. 46

—a Judge d' instruction in French India is a "Magistrate" within s. 26 and a statement made by an accused in Police custody to such person is admissible in evidence. 52 M. 529 : 1929 Mad. 487 : 1929 M. W. N. 383 : 56 M. L. J. 628.

(7) Confession to person in authority.

—there is no definition of a "person in authority." The expression has been construed in England and the test is, had the person authority to interfere in the matter? The accused's wrong impression will not suffice. 50 C. 127 : 74 I. C. 264.

—a confession made to a person in authority induced by false hope or fear is not voluntary and is inadmissible in Evidence. 89 I. C. 961 : 4 Pat. 616 : 26 Cr. L. J. 1441 : 1925 Pat. 772.

(7) Confession to person in authority—contd

—a village panchayat who actively assists the police officer in the investigation of a crime is a "person in authority." 8 Pat. 289: 30 Cr. L. J. 675: 1929 Pat. 275: 116 I. C. 770: 10 Pat. L. T. 549: 1929 Cr. C. 62.

—confession to a village Panchayat who is a person in authority is, within the meaning of s. 24 Evi. Act inadmissible. 9 C. W. N. 474: 2 Cr. L. J. 255, 11 C. W. N. 901: 6 Cr. L. J. 154.

—collecting panchayat and assistant panchayat constitute "persons in authority." 50 O. 127, 74 I. C. 264, 1923 Cal. 458.

—a confession made before the Panchayat who did not give any inducement but only told the accused to speak the truth is admissible. 11 C. W. N. 934 6 C. L. J. 154.

—a president of a Panchayat is a person in authority 23 O. L. J. 477 21 C. W. N. 512 33 I. C. 82, so also a Lamhardar. 4 Lab. L. J. 235

—a Mukhia of a village is a person in authority 97 I. C. 44, 1926 All. 737 6 Cr. R. 211 49 A. 57, 24 A. L. J. 958.

—medical officer was not a person in authority within the meaning of s. 24 Evi. Act, 8 Bom. L. R. 507

—the expression "person in authority" includes Polica Patal (in Bombay) who arrests one of the persons accused of the offence. 40 B. 220, also the prosecutor. 26 C. W. N. 54

—Zeminder of the village who is also a Magistrate is a person in authority. 1927 Pat. 257: 101 I. C. 881: 28 Cr. L. J. 497: 8 Pat. L. T. 566.

—a confession legally taken by the Magistrate cannot be ruled out of court, simply because the accused was produced before the Magistrate with sole object of having his confession recorded by him. 24 P. W. R. 1909 Cr —confession made to panchayatdars is admissible as they are not persons in authority. 45 M. L. J. 845: 18 L. W. 586: 76 I. C. 829: 1924 Mad. 230.

—confession made before the Administrator in Portuguese territory is excluded under s. 26 Evi. Act. 25 Bom. L. R. 706: 1924 Bom. 480.

—statements made by the accused to the Sub-Deputy Magistrate, deputed to make local inquiry, are inadmissible. 8 C. W. N. 22, 2 C. W. N. 702, 9 M. 224, 9 C. L. J. 55, Dist.

—an Inamkhor holds semi-official position and is not a person in authority under the Evi. Act. 114 I. C. 719: 30 Cr. L. J. 375: 1929 Cr. C. 102: 1929 Lab. 558.

(8) Confession leading to discovery of fact, S. 27 Evi. Act.

—in construing this sec. the word "confession" does not necessarily mean a complete admission of guilt but means and includes any incriminating statement. 1929 Lab. 338: 115 I. C. 1: 30 Cr. L. J. 385.

—the word "distinctly" in s. 27 is used in some sense other than the word "directly", 1929 Lab. 338: 115 I. C. 1: 30 Cr. L. J. 385.

(8) Confession leading to discovery of fact, s. 27 Evi. Act—contd.

—the word "fact" as used in s. 3 includes not only the physical fact but also the Psychological fact or mental condition of which any person is conscious, the word is used in the section in the former sense. 1929 Lab. 344: 30 Punj L. R. 197: 30 Cr. L. J. 414: 115 I. C. 6: 11 Lab L. J. 159: 10 Lab. 283 F. B.

—the word "information" which is distinct from the word "statement" connotes a statement or other means employed for importing knowledge possessed by one person to another and the knowledge so derived by other person. 1929 Lab. 338: 115 I. C. 1: 30 Cr. L. J. 385.

—such portion of the confession made to the investigating officer as leads to the discovery of any fact are admissible under s. 27 of the Evi. Act. 93, I. C. 894. 5 Pat. 63; 1926 Pat. 232: 7 Pat. L. T. 306

—the whole of the statement which leads to the discovery is admissible and sentence should not be so cut up as to reduce the statement only to the actual words which the accused may use to express the fact that he had hidden the property. The confession that the accused had in his possession certain stolen property is admissible in evidence even though he himself produced this property and it makes no difference whether he himself digs out the property or whether on the information given by him some one else digs up the ground and produces the property. 93 I. C. 42: 1926 Mad. 638: 27 Cr. L. J. 394. 50 M. 274.

—when some fact is discovered by information from several persons charged with an offence it should not be treated as discovered from the information of them all but from the first informant and it cannot be used as evidence against the subsequent informants. 101 I. C. 488: 28 Punj. L. R. 187: 28 Cr. L. J. 456: 1927 Lab. 789

—joint discoveries are not admissible at all against any of the accused unless it can be proved who first made the discovery. 1929 Lab. 665: 30 Punj L. R. 297. 1929 Cr. C. 214: 30 Cr. L. J. 639. 116 I. C. 619

—once property has been discovered in consequence of information received from respected person it cannot be re-discovered in consequence of information received from another suspected person. 9 P. L. R. 1922, 64 I. C. 502.

—the general rule in s. 25 Evi. Act. is further subject to that which admits statements leading to discovery whether they amount to confession or not. 41 C. 601.

—under s. 27 the truth of the confession is guaranteed by the discovery of facts in consequence of the information given, so risks under ss. 24, 25 and 26 disappear. 1928 Lab. 476.

—a confession made to a Police giving information which leads to the discovery of fact is admissible 6 A. 509: (1884) W. N. 229, 24 W. R. 36, 14 B. 260 F. B., 10 B. 595, 2 L. B. R. 168, 31

A. 592, 6 Pat. 747; 106 I. C. 698; 1928 Pat. 162; 29 Cr. L. J. 106

—It is not all statements connected with the discovery of property that are admissible, but those only which lead immediately to the discovery of property and so far. 11 B. H. C. 242 6A. 509, F. B. 14 B. 260 F. B., 3 B. 12, 12 M. 153, 6 C. 530, 10 B. 595, (1883) 3 W. N. 126, P. R. 30 of 1895 and it must be a fact relevant to the case in which the evidence is sought to be given. 105 I. C. 683 6 Pat. 611 28 Cr. L. J. 971, 9 Pat. L. T. 449 1928 Pat. 22, 9 A. 1. Cr. R. 118 infra, 1929 Lah. 344; 115 I. C. 6; 10 Lah. 283; 30 Cr. L. J. 414; 30 Punj. L. R. 197, F. B.

—admissibility of first information by accused admitting guilt and leading to discovery. 49 C. 167; 1923 Cal. 342.

—the confession must be made by a person accused of offence. Where the husband assaulted his wife who died as a result of it and the former went to the police station and reported the matter in consequence of which the police found out the corpse, the statement to the police was not admissible under this sec. as the husband was not at the time making the statement as a "person accused of an offence" 6 Pat. L. T. 533; 111 I. C. 118; 1923 Pat. 491 7 Pat. 411; 29 Cr. L. J. 790.

—statements to the Police-officers pointing out the places where the offence was committed by others or where he concealed himself and the houses to which he went for assistance, whether regarded as information leading to discovery or as statement made by him as part of his defence, are admissible in evidence as admissions. 41 C. 601.

—statements by the accused as to what, according to his case, had actually happened, exculpating himself and put forward by way of defence are admissible notwithstanding that by other evidence it may be shown that such statements are inconsistent with truth. 41 C. 601.

—a useful test as to the admissibility of statements made to the Police is to ascertain the purpose to which they are put, by the prosecution. If the prosecution relies on the statements of the accused as being true then they may, and probably in many cases will, be found to amount to confessions. If on the other hand, the statements of the accused are relied on not because of their truth but because of their falsity, they are admissible. They are in such cases brought forward to show what the defence of the accused is, and that, as the defence is untruth, this is a circumstance tending to prove the guilt of the accused. 41 C. 601.

—such statements are also inadmissible when the fact discovered was already known to Police-officer. 11 C. 635, 1929 Cr. C. 678; 1929 Sind. 250, 1929 Cr. C. 673; 1929 Nag. 350, 12 M. 153.

—where the article is found not in consequence of the information given by the accused but by his own act e.g. his going with the Police and pointing out the spot, the confession is admissible, 6 A.

—where the statement of the accused is necessary preliminary to the fact thereby discovered, it is admissible under s. 27 Evi. Act, the question whether the statement is sufficient to enable the Police to make the discovery by themselves, or is only of such nature as to require further assistance of the accused to enable them to discover the fact, is immaterial. 25 C. 413, 2 C. W. N. 257, 11 C. 635 Ref., 14 B. 268 fol., 4 A. 198 Dis.

—where a person was murdered and his body was discovered in consequence of information received from the accused the statement of the accused to the police that he with his father and brother buried the body is admissible in evidence. 95 I. C. 603 : 27 Cr. L. J. 827 : 8 Lah. L. J. 519, 25 C. 413 fol.

—a statement by the accused to a police officer amounting to a confession is not admissible in evidence, but it is admissible under s. 27 Evi. Act, if a fact is discovered as discovered in consequence of the information. 44 C. L. J. 233 : 1927 Cal 17 : 54 C. 237 : 99 I. C. 227 : 28 Cr. L. J. 99.

—where the accused voluntarily went to the Police officers and made a statement that he had committed the murder and that the instrument of murder was in a place named, and he was subsequently arrested, held that the statement was a confession and was not admissible, but evidence of Police officer however was admissible to prove the conduct and condition of the murderer at the time when the statement was made. 10 C. L. J. 13 : 10 Cr. L. J. 193 : 2 Ind. C. 951.

—so much of the information, even if it amounted to a confession, made to a Police officer, may be proved, as related to discovery of the articles stolen. The conduct or acts of the accused were not dealt with by s. 27 and relevant under s. 8 Evi. Act. S. 27 of the Evi. Act was an exception to the preceding sections and its object was to provide for the admissions of evidence, which, but for that sec. could not be admitted. 6 A. L. J. 839 Cr. F. B., 31 A. 592, 1924 Lah. 434, 69 I. C. 377. But see 14 B. 260., 25 C. 413 : 2 C. W. N. 257, where it was held that s. 8 Evi. Act does not render admissible in evidence any statement which ss 25 and 26 exclude.

—there are two limitations in order to prove the information against the accused. (1) The information must be such as has caused the discovery of the fact. (2) The information must relate "distinctly" to the fact discovered. Thus only that portion of the information is provable which was the immediate or proximate cause of the discovery of the fact. 1929 Lah. 344 : 30 Punj. L. R. 197 : 30 Cr. L. J. 414 : 115 I. —this sec. does not refer to statements made at the trial but to the statements made before and proved at the trial, 1929 Mad 285 118 I. C. 512 1929 M. W. N. 371; 30 Cr. L. J. 932; M. 38 302 Dis from, 45 A. 323, 4 C 48 F B Approved —a confession of co-accused made in the absence of the other is of no weight as against the latter, such confession as well as the statement of approvers are regarded as tainted from their position, 10 C 970, 6 Bom. L. R. 481.

—the confession not made in the presence of a Magistrate, is not admissible in evidence unless the fact discovered is one which of its own force, independently of the confession, would be admissible in evidence, 3 Mad. H. C. 318-2 Weir 735

—s. 30 applies to confessions made to the residents of the same village as the accused, 4 Pat. L. T. 505.

—confession recorded in the manner provided by Cr. P. C. even though made to M. outside Br India, if proved against the maker of it, may be taken into consideration against co-accused, 69 Ind. C. 257 23 Cr. L. J. 673.

—in the case of several accused persons an entry in the account book of one that he paid rents on behalf of another, is not evidence against that other, 45 M. L. J. 728; 33 M. L. T. 182.

—if prima facie evidence of the existence of a conspiracy is given and accepted, the evidence of statement made by one conspirator is admissible against all, 20 L. W. 202; 81 I. C. 817; 1924 Mad. 805.

—a confession of a co-accused is corroborative evidence of another co-accused's confession, if the former supports the latter in all its material parts, 24 P. W. R. 1909.

—a retracted confession of co-accused is of no practical value N. 670, 28 C. 689, 18 Cr. 28 Cr. L. J. 854, 101 I. C. Cr. L. J. 497, but if that confession is unrebutted it is admissible as very strong piece of evidence, 114 I. C. 771; 30 Cr. L. J. 360; 1929 Oudh 167.

—a retracted confession of one accused can be taken into account against his co-accused under s. 30 Evi. Act '7 Burma 333; 2. P. L. J. 80; 18 Cr. L. J. 445.

—a retracted confession should practically carry no weight against the co-accused because it is not made on oath, it is not tested by cross-examination and its truth is denied by the maker himself who has lied on one or other of the occasions and a very fullest corroboration would be necessary in such a case for more —to make the confession admissible against co-accused it is not necessary that confessing prisoner should implicate himself as fully as his co-accused. All that is necessary is that the confession shall substantially implicate its maker in regard to the crime with which he and his co-accused are charged. 4 Pat. L. T. 505, 72 Ind. C. 497 : 24 Cr. L. CONTEMPT OF COURT (s. 480 Cr. P. C.)

—any conduct that tends to bring the authority of court into disrespect or which amounts to an insult offered to a Judge or the dignity of the Court even though it may be after the termination of a pending case, is a contempt of Court. There is no rule of law restricting the manner in which complaints of defamatory attacks may be brought to the notice of the High Court. The High Court has jurisdiction to deal with cases of contempt in a summary manner by fine or imprisonment or both. 97 I. C. 108 : 24 A. L. J. 849 : 1926 A. 623, 29 A. 108 Fd.

—when an undertaking is given to a court by a litigant on the faith of which the Court sanctions a particular course of action or inaction, its breach is misconduct amounting to contempt. A person guilty of such contempt places himself in a perilous situation so as not to be heard by the court till he has purged his contempt. The rule denying privileges is limited to proceedings in which contempt occurs. A litigant in contempt has no standing in the court. 39 C. L. J. 217 : 82 I. C 292 : 1924 Cal. 953 —where the article as a whole would leave on the mind of an ordinary reader the clear impression that injustice had been deliberately done on political grounds to some of the accused who were apparently innocent, in other words it attributed judicial dishonesty to the Judges, such article constituted a contempt of Court. —a M. can commit a person charged with an offence under s. 147 I. P. C. to the Sessions Court though the Schedule says that the offence is triable by him. 24 C. 429.

—but when the offence falls under special law specifying the forum on some particular court, it cannot be changed. 19 A. 465.

—the jurisdiction of a M. is not ousted merely because the same facts disclose a more serious offence beyond his jurisdiction, 24 M. 675, 2 Weir 20, but a tribunal cannot clutch jurisdiction by intentionally ignoring facts of aggravated character. 12 M. 54, 2 Weir 21, 13 B. 502, 4 N. L. R. 18.

—a M. cannot decline jurisdiction on the ground that the offence is a petty one to be redressed by the Heads of the villages. 7 M. H. C. R. App. 31 or on the ground that it falls within the jurisdiction of ecclesiastical authority whose action plainly amounts to an offence. 8 M. 140.

S. 29 (Offences under other laws).

—a Magistrate has jurisdiction to try a landlord for an act specified in s. 58 (2) B T. Act, in the same way as he would try a summons case, the Act not having specified any particular Magistrate to try such offence. 9 C. W. N. 816; 2 Cr. L. J. 532

—an offence under special law triable by M. with special powers cannot be tried by ordinary M. (1886) A. W. N. 289. So an offence under the Opium Act is triable only by a M. and not by S. C. 19A. 465, an offence under s. 16 of the Bombay Village Police Act is triable only by Police Patels and not by Taluk Magistrates. Ratanlal 196, an offence under Madras Act 1 of 1868 is triable only by Magistrate and not by H. O. 5 M. H. C. —the claim to be tried as a European British subject must be made before the inquiry or trial commences and not at any subsequent stage. 54 C. 1041

S. 29 B. (Jurisdiction in the case of juveniles).

The introduction of s. 29 A. by the Amending Act has practically ousted the jurisdiction of second and third class Magistrates over European British subjects except in a very few cases.

The introduction of s. 29 B in the Amending Act has empowered the Dt. M., Pry M or any Magistrate having special power to try juvenile offenders unless the offence is so serious as to be punishable with death or transportation for life.

—a sentence passed on the juvenile offender cannot be more severe than that imposed on his adult co-accused with previous convictions. 23 Bom. L. R. 1199.

—an offence committed under s. 130 Railways Act by a child is triable only by a District Magistrate and not by a First Class Magistrate 110 I. C. 589; 1928 Lab. 909; 29 Cr. L. J. 733; 29 Punj. L. R. 536.

S. 30 (Offences not punishable with death).

—this section must be read as qualifying or controlling the provisions of s. 28 which in its turn makes reference to column 8 of the second schedule. 95 I. C. 56; 6 Cr. R. 380.

—when a Deputy Commissioner tries a case exclusively triable by a Court of Sessions under powers conferred on him by this section, he does so as a Magistrate and if he tenders conditional pardon, he is precluded from trying the case himself. 10 C. W. N. 847; 4 Cr. L. J. 44.

—the District Magistrate cannot try cases summarily when specially empowered under this section. 25 P. R. 1879 Cr.

—a Sessions Judge is competent under s. 437 to revise the order of the District M. empowered under this section. 15 P. R. 1904 Cr.

S. 33. Power of M. to sentence in imprisonment in default of fine.

—imprisonment in default of fine need not always be proportionate. 1 Bur. L. R. 483

—a M. cannot pass a sentence of imprisonment under this sec. in excess of the term prescribed by s. 65 I. P. C., 10 M. 165, 166 (note), 1 A. 465, 1 M. 277 overruled

—in cases of simple imprisonment, ordered as a process for enforcement of payment of fine, the rule in this sec. applies. 6 A. 61.

—a sentence of four months imprisonment in default of payment of fine is illegal, 3 L. L. J. 346 · 59 I. C. 848.

S 34 Higher powers of certain District Magistrates

—under this sec. read with s. 33 a Dt. M. in trying a case under s. 478 I. P. C. can pass a sentence of imprisonment for one year and nine months in default of payment of fine, 1885 P. R. 35, and a M. can, under s. 59 I. P. C. pass a sentence of transportation for seven years instead of awarding a sentence of imprisonment. 9 W. R. 6.

S. 35. (Sentences in cases of conviction of several offences at one trial.)

—The repeal of the explanation and the illustration and the omission of the words "distinct offences" have set at rest the conflict of cases as to what are and what are not "distinct offences" under the Old Code and by the amendment the section will now be controlled by the provisions of s. 71.

—under the amended Act separate sentences can be passed under s. 35. Cr. P. C. read with s. 71 I. P. C. for offences under ss. 380 and 457 I. P. C., 41 C. L. J. 563. (23 B. 706 F. B., 37 C. L. J. 171). Ref.

Concurrent Sentences.

Under the amendment of s. 397 Cr. P. C made at the end of the first para, it is no longer illegal to make the sentences in the two trials concurrent.

—under s 35 (1) the court can direct that sentences should run concurrently but it is so only when the accused is convicted at one trial of two or more distinct offences. The Court has no power to order sentences to run concurrently with the sentences passed in other trials. 47 A. 59 : 85 I C. 714 : 1925 A. L. J. 305 : 26 Cr. L. J. 570.

—a sentence is defective when it does not determine whether the sentence of imprisonment and transportation are to run concurrently. 23 C. L. J. 596.

—the court must expressly direct whether the sentences are to run concurrently or consecutively. 21 C. W. N 608. 23 C. L. J. 596

—a sentence of imprisonment cannot be directed to pass concurrently with sentence of transportation for life 21 P.R. 1913 : 5 P. L. R. 1914 : 22 I. C. 420.

—It is illegal to direct that a sentence of imprisonment for an offence should take effect after the expiry of the sentence the accused is undergoing for default of furnishing security for good behaviour, 30 I. C. 446 : 16 Cr. L. J. 622 : (31 M. 515, 4 M. L. T. 223, 8 Cr. L. J. 402) Ref.

—where an accused was sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for one day and to pay a fine of Rs. 150, and in default to suffer rigorous imprisonment for 3 months for each of two offences, the sentences runolog concurrently, held that the passing of concurrent sentences of imprisonment in default of fine imposed for two offences was not legal under this section, but the substantive term of imprisonment for 1 day may run concurrently. 91 I. C. 543 : 27 Bom. L. R. 1351 : 1926 Bom. 62.

Appeal.

—s. 35 CL (3) refers only to sentences of imprisonment and not to sentences of fine when it says that several offences at one trial should for the purpose of appeal be deemed to be a single sentence. 96 I. C. 270 : 28 Bom. L. R. 658 : 1926 Bom. 415 : 27 Cr. L. J. 926.

—concurrent sentences do not come within the meaning of aggregate punishment for the purpose of this section or for the purpose of raising the forum of appeal. 3 P. L. J. 133 : 19 Cr. L. J. 90.

Appeal—contd.

—for the purpose of appeal an aggregate sentence of one month under each of two sections is to be taken to be single sentence of two months even if the sentences are to run concurrently. 15 C. W. Sub-sec. (1) has been amended by adding the words "or cause him to be taken in custody" giving effect to the ruling in 29 A. 575 as cited below.

—for the sake of preservation of peace any individual may arrest, 44 M. 913.

—power of arrest is restricted to non-bailable and cognizable offences committed in presence, and to a proclaimed offender. 11 M. 480.

—to apply the sec the offence must be committed in presence of the private person 35 C. 361, 1922 P. L. R. 19:23 Cr. L. J. 3: 64 I. C. 371, 1922 Lah. 73.

—s. 59 empowers a private person to arrest any person who, in his view, commits a non-bailable and cognizable offence. One who attempts to arrest a thief running away after theft is not protected by this section. 64 I. C. 371: 23 Cr. L. J. 3: 1922 P. L. R. 19:1922 Lah. 73.

—the words "in his view" should not be construed too strictly, 81 Ind. C. 312: 18 L. W. 818: 25 Cr. L. J. 782.

—the words "in his view" in this section mean "in the presence of" or "within the sight of". When a person is found hiding in the house of another he cannot be arrested by a private person under this section, as hiding alone does not amount to a non-bailable and cognizable offence. 89 I. S. 71. (Procedure when service cannot be effected as before provided.)

—where sufficient steps have not been taken to serve the accused personally and there has been want of reasonable diligence in service, substituted service should not be allowed. 6 N. L. J. 63 : 23 Cr. L. J. 739, 69 I. C. 627 : 23 Cr. L. J. 739.

—the procedure provided by s. 71 cannot be made use of unless service in the manner mentioned in ss. 69 and 70 cannot be effected by the exercise of due diligence. 43 C. L. J. 113 : 94 I. C. 907 : 1926 Cal. 1208 : 27 Cr. L. J. 715.

S. 72. (Service on servant of Govt. or Ry. Company)

—this sec. is intended to apply only to summons issued by a court of justice and not to orders of Police Officers investigating a crime under Chap. XIV of this Code. 40 I. C. 733 : 18 Cr. L. J. 733 (M.)

—summons to a Sub-Inspector of Railway Police should be served through the Superintendence of Railway Police of the District, 89 I. C. 421 : 6 Pat. L. T. 215 : 26 Cr. L. J. 965 : 19 25 Pat. 553.

S. 75 (Form of warrant of arrest.)

—a signature by stamp is not sufficient. 6 M. 396. but see, 5 C. W. N. 447, 8 A. 293.

—signature by initial does not vitiate the warrant, 3 P. L. J. 493, 8 A. 293, 5 C. W. N. 447, contra. 23 C. 896.

—warrant containing wrong description is not valid. 28 399 : 5 C. W. N. 413 and it must give description. 9 B. H. C. 18 B. 636.

S. 75. (Form of warrant of arrest).—contd.

—a seal of the court is essential. 19 C. W. N. 224; 42 C. 708; 16 Cr. L. J. 336, 18 B. 636.

—the warrant must be signed by the presiding officer of the court. 26, 2 P. L. J. 487.

—it can be cancelled only by the court. R. 103; 28 Cr. L. J. 326, 1927 Lah. 744.

—when a warrant has been cancelled it cannot be re-issued. 1 C. W. N. 150.

—when no form is prescribed by any act the form to be used is the ordinary one prescribed by this Act. 18 B. 636.

—a warrant issued by any other person is bad. 2 P. L. J. 487.

—the warrant must be executed within the time specified. 28 B. 129, 13 C. W. N. 1091.

—a person in the first instance unless there is strong likelihood of the charge being proved. 1908 P. W. R. 20

—a person obstructing a public servant in execution of a warrant of arrest bearing only the initial of the Magistrate which was not made known to the accused, cannot be prosecuted under s. 185 I. P. C., 23 C. 896.

—unless time is limited, a warrant remains valid until it is executed. 28 B. 129, 13 C. W. N. 1091.

—a warrant with an endorsement for bail to be taken for the appearance of the accused on a particular date does not lapse on the expiry of that date. Only the direction to take bail lapses, 13 C. W. N. 1091.

—a warrant of arrest remains in force until it is cancelled by the issuing court or until it is executed although it bears a returnable date. 1928 Pat. 466; 112 I. C. 223; 7 Pat. 478.

—warrant issued by the civil court to the bailiff making it returnable on certain date is legally executed within that date even if the Nazir fixes another shorter date within which it is not executed, 17 C. W. N. 941.

—the Magistrate should stay his hand when a rule is issued by the High Court. 2 C. W. N. 498, 5 C. W. N. 110, 19 M. 375.

—where a M. recalled warrants issued against the accused the Dt. M. had no jurisdiction to set aside the order of withdrawal of the warrants and to direct the warrants to be issued. The course open to him was to order further inquiry. 26 C. L. J. 114; 42 I. C. 729; 18 C. L. J. 1001.

S. 76. (Court may direct security to be taken)

—the Magistrate cannot issue a warrant for the appearance of a witness at an investigation by a Police Officer. 24 C. 320; 1 C. W. N. 154.

—the arrest of an accused on the 29th Oct, on a warrant issued with an endorsement for bail to be taken for his appearance on the

S. 76. Court may direct security to be taken—contd

26th Oct. is not illegal and the rescuing or escape of the accused is punishable under ss 224 and 225 I. P. C. 13 C. W. N. 1091

—a M. should issue a bailable warrant even in non-bailable cases, when the offence borders on the technical and the accused is a man of position and respectability. 1 M. W. N. 452.

S 77. (Warrant to whom directed).

—a warrant should not be issued to an unofficial unless the urgency is imminent. 5 B. L. R. 274; 13 W. R. Cr. 27, 8 W. R. 74

—under this sec. the name and designation of the Police Officer need not be inserted. C. W. N. 1918 (Pat) p. 269.

—a warrant addressed not to an officer by name but to the bailiff of the court is not illegal, 1914 M. W. N. 498, 25 I. C. 328, so also a warrant addressed in a Sub-Inspector without mentioning his name. 3 Pat. L. J. 493.

S 79. (Warrant directed to police officers).

—to make the warrant legal the endorsement must be by name, 4 C. W. N. 83. In the absence of such endorsement an officer other than that to whom it is addressed cannot lawfully make the arrest. 27 C. 457, 3 Pat. L. J. 493

—if the endorsement is initialed and if the initial is identified upon the evidence, it is all right 5 C. W. N. 447.

—an endorsement by a Court Head constable, on a warrant addressed to the Court-Inspector, in favour of peons who are not Police officers, is not legal. 27 C. 457; 4 C. W. N. 822.

—warrant addressed to a "bailiff of the court" but executed by naib nazir and process server without any endorsement by the bailiff, is bad. 59 I. C. 849; 22 C. L. J. 145; 3 L. L. J. 346.

—this sec does not apply to Forest Officers. 51 M. 873; 109 I. C. 365; 1928 Mad 624; 29 Cr. L. J. 541.

S 80. (Notification of substance of warrant)

—the section does not apply to arrest under section 56 Cr. P. C.; 27 C. 320; 4 C. W. N. 311.

—when substance is not notified obstruction to the warrant is no offence under s. 186 I. P. C. 23 C. 896, 10 C. 18, 37 C. 122, 13 B. 168 so even when warrant is shown to the accused. 26 C. 748, 3 C. W. N. 741, but if the Police Officer shows the warrant and gives the accused notice of it.

A. W. N. (1904) 229, 27 A. 258.

—the person against whom a warrant is issued is entitled to see that the person executing it has authority. 10 C. 18, 13 B. 168, 23 C. 896, 3 C. W. N. 741; 26 C. 748.

—it cannot be said that an arrest is legal without compliance with the provisions of s. 80 because a police officer may justify his action under s. 46 (2) Cr. P. C. 33 C. W. N. 284; 53 C. 831; 116 I. C. 723; 49 C. L. J. 264; 30 Cr. L. J. 703; 1929 Cal. 174.

S. 82. (When warrant may be executed).

—as to arrest on the lands of Hyderabad State Railway which is not British India for offence committed in British Territory, see. 25 C. 20 : 2 C. W. N. 1, 24 I. A. 137 P. C., 1 Lab. 406.

—so in the case of Residency of Jaypur. 7 Bom. L. R. 83, But see 48 I C 865, 31 P. R. 1918.

—this section applies to warrant issued under Act XIII of 1859, 20 A. 124, 20 M. 235, 457, 33 Punj. Rec 1898 P. 27, 1898, P. R. 11.

—the Political Agent of the Native State cannot be directed by the H. C. to produce a person in custody in the Native State as he is not in the vicarious custody. 119 I. C. 527 : 27 A. L. J. 520 : 1929 All 347.

S. 87. (Proclamation for person absconding)

—the officer who wants to serve the warrant must be examined as to measures he adopted to serve the warrant. 3 W. R. Cr. 63.

—the Magistrate must be satisfied that the accused is absconding or concealing which he must record. 6 W. R. Cr 73, 66 P. L. R. 1922 : 67 I C. 726 : 23 Cr. L. J. 454.

—a man who files a petition against the order issuing the warrant and takes steps to procure an order of a superior court that he should be allowed to remain on bail after such warrant has been issued, can neither be said to be absconding nor concealing himself. 67 I C. 726 : 23 Cr. L. J. 454.

—if the Magistrate considers that there is sufficient prima-facie proof of offence he can proceed under ss. 78 and 88 otherwise he should refuse to proceed 3 L. B. R. 116, 19 W. R. Cr. 12, 5 N. L. R. 125.

—the proclamation is illegal if it directs appearance within 30 days, it must not be less than 30 days from the date of publication of the proclamation. 9 C. W. N. 294 (note), 17 M. L. J. 438, 1919 P. R. 32, 19 M. 3.

—30 days should be counted from the date of publishing the proclamation in the accused's place of residence. 1917 P. R. 6, 19 M. 3, 19 W. R. 12.

—a validating order under s. 87 (3) which does not state that the proclamation has been duly published on a "specified day" is defective, the words "on a specified day" in s. 87 (3) being important. If the proclamation is published less than 30 days before the date fixed for appearance, subsequent proceedings are invalid. 128 P. L. R. 1920 : 54 I. C. 994 : 21 Cr. L. J. 210.

—if it is not published according to Cl. (a) it is not legal. 19 M. 3, 22 A. 216, 1904 A. W. N. 159, formalities prescribed by ss. 87 and 88 must be observed. 14 Bom. L. R. 163 : 14 I. C. 757.

—orders under ss. 87 and 88 may be passed simultaneously. 29 C. 417 : 6 C. W. N. 680.

—a warrant not being a "summons, notice or order" as mentioned in ss. 172 and 174 I. P. C. an offender against whom a warrant has been issued, is not punishable under this section. 5 W. R. Cr. 71, Mad H C R 21 April, 9 W. R. Cr, 1866 70.

—a previous issue of warrant is a necessary condition. So if the court is not authorised to issue warrant he cannot issue proclamation or order of attachment. 1893 P R 15, 14 Bom L. R. 889.

the proclamation must be published according to sub-sec. (2) court-house may be cured by s.

—if the procedure laid down in ss 87 and 88 has not been complied with, the irregularities can be covered by s. 537 Cr. P C But if s 537 be not applicable the attachment is not a valid one. 40 P. W. R. 1916; 36 I. C. 974.

—"abscond" does not necessarily imply change of place, it means to hide oneself. It does not apply to the commencement of concealment, but applies to continuing to do so after process is issued. 4 M 393

—one should not be too readily assumed to be an absconder without due inquiry and notice 2 Weir, 40.

—prosecution is to prove that the proclamation was duly made. 7 M. 436 —until the accused surrenders he shall be regarded as in contempt. 2 N. W. P. H. C R. 441, 5 W. R 71.

—where there is no endorsement or statement in writing of the court validating the proclamation it is not legal and the attachment and sale are invalid. 27 A. 572, 22 A. 216. It must specify the date of publication also. 1919 P. R. 32.

—court records must show that the formalities were strictly observed. 14 Bom. L. R 163, 14 I. C. 757.

S. 88. (Attachment of property of person absconding); Scope of amendments.

Sub-sec. (6A) to (6E) and some words in sub-sec. (7) have been newly added by the amendment to provide rules of procedure for the investigation and determination of claim, as in the C. P. Code.

—orders under ss. 87 and 88 may be passed simultaneously. 29 C. 417; 6 C. W. N. 680, 6 C. P. L. R. 38

—the undivided share of the absconding member of the joint family is attachable under this section. 39 M. 831, 1915 P. L. R. 28, 27 I. C 550, contra 2 P. L. W. 179; 42 I. C. 781, so also the share in the partnership business is attachable not by actual seizure but by prohibitory order. 5 B. L. R. 386, but no such share when in the hand of Receiver. 15 B. L. R. 382.

—attachment of joint family property was held to be illegal and disobedience to it by other members was held to be no offence. 2 Pet. L. W. 179; 42 I. C. 781, 2 Weir 43.

—property not belonging to the absconder cannot be attached. 7 W. R. 35.

—with regard to ancestral lands all that can be attached in proceedings under ss. 87 and 88 is the interest of the absconder and on his death the lands must be released in favour of his heirs. 88 I. C. 460, 1925 Lah. 629; 7 Lab. L. J. 40; 26 Cr. L. J. 1148

—the Magistrate cannot inquire into the claims of the parties. 6 A. 487, the claimant should go to the civil court. 7 R. W. Cr. 35, 5 C. 540; 6 C. W. N. 175, 17 W. R. Cr. 10, 20 M. 88, 22 C. 953, but these rulings have become obsolete by the insertion of subsec. 6 A. 49, sec. 88.

—the sale shall be subject to the term of the lease already made, 1908 P. R. 9.

—a sale cannot be set aside for irregularity. 22 A. 216, 19 M. 3 Contra. 27 A. 572 But it can be set aside by the civil court. 1904 A. W. N. 159.

—only the Government can restore the property to the owner and not the Court. 18 W. R. Cr. 33, even not the H. C. 9 B. L. R. 349.

—a civil suit is maintainable for possession of the property attached and for mesne profits and damages. 28 C. 540.

—a subsequent attachment and sale in execution of money decrees by the civil court does not affect property at the hand of the Govt. 9 C. 861.

—but prior attachment of the civil court prevails. 116 I. C. 271; 31 Bom. L. R. 345; 1929 Bom. 200.

—by confiscation, title in the property is lost. 25 Bom. L. R. 228; 1923 Bom. 93.

—the order of the Magistrate refusing to release certain property from attachment is subject to the revisional power of the H. C. 76 I. C. 18.

—ss. 87 to 89 form a complete Code by themselves and the remedies provided therein are exclusive subject to the right of appeal or revision by the High Court. 111 I. C. 508; 1928 Lah. 562.

S. 89. (Restoration of attached property).

—the person must explain his absence. 6 W. R. Cr. 73, 3 W. R. Cr. 63.

—if the provision of sec. 87 Cr. P. C. has not been complied with in issuing the proclamation, it is invalid and the attachment and the penal consequences are all void. 19 M. 3, 22 A. 216, 1904 A. W. N. 159.

—where property comes at the disposal of the Government, no other attachment or sale subsequently held can confer any title. 9 C. 861; 12 C. L. R. 411.

—if third party claims, the Magistrate should stay the sale allowing the claimant to establish his right. 20 M. 88, 28 C. 540; 6 C. W. N. 175.

—s. 89 applies to a case where the validity of attachment proceedings is challenged, 39 P. R. 1917; 42 I. C. 593; 18 Cr. L. J. 979, 40 P. W. R. 1916 not approved, (22 A. 216, 27 A. 572, 14 Bom. L. R. 163, 19 M. 3 Dist)

S. 98. (Restoration of attached property).—contd.

—an application under s. 89 by an absconder for restoration cannot question the legality of the proclamation issued under s. (87) (a) 32 P. R. 1919: 54 I. C. 954: 21 Cr. L. J. 210, 22 A. 216, 19 M. 3 fol —under s. 89 it is necessary that the "proof" that the accused person has not absconded should be offered or given within two years of the date of attachment. The adverbial phrase "within two years from the date of the attachment" qualifies not only the word "appears" but also the word "proves" which is connected with "appears" by "and." 15 Bom. L. R. 176: 19 I. C. 333: 14 Cr. L. J. 237.

—the property can be restored only when the applicant praying for restoration of property shows both that he had not absconded and that he had not the proper notice. 96 I. C. 977: 1926 Lah. 662: 27 Cr. L. J. 1025: 8 Lah. L. J. 608: 27 Punj. L. R. 825.

—not only the petition must be made but also the necessary facts must be proved within the period of two years. 96 I. C. 977: 1926 Lah. 662: 27 Cr. L. J. 1025

—if no application for restoration be made within two years the H. C. has no jurisdiction under s. 561 A. to order restoration. The proper remedy is an application to Govt. 82 Ind. C. 365: 26 Bom. L. R. 719, 1917 P. R. 6, 15 Bom. L. R. 175 —forfeiture should not be carried into effect until after a regular inquiry into the cause of the offender's absence. 3 W. R. 63.

—accused need not himself personally apply for the restoration of the property. The application can be made by any one on his behalf. 15 Bom. L. R. 175: 19 I. C. 333.

—where property has been sold and an application under the sec is allowed, the applicant can only get the net proceeds of the sale. 73 I. C. 269: 24 Cr. L. J. 573.

S. 91. (power to take bond for appearance).

—a bond by a mukhtear undertaking to produce a witness when called upon, is sufficient. 1901 A. W. N. 35.

—money deposited by surety cannot be attached for the realisation of fine imposed on the accused. 19 A. L. J. 887; 64 I. C. 136; 22 C. R. L. J. 744.

—sureties should not be rejected on mere Police report. 20 A. L. J. 780; 23 Cr. L. J. 498; 68 I. C. 35.

S. 92. (arrest on breach of bond for appearance).

—this sec. has reference only to the case of a person who is bound by a bond to appear in court. 38 M. 1088.

S. 93. (Summons to produce documents or other things).

—the document or the book must have a bearing upon and must be relevant to the case. 5 Bom. L. R. 980, 19 C. 52, 4 P. L. W. 65; 19 Cr. L. J. 217, 15 C. 109, 47 C. 647.

—the words "court" and "Magistrate" are convertible terms. 33 C. 953 P. C.

—the Magistrate should either issue a summons or a warrant—he cannot order Police to seize the books. 12 C. W. N. 1075, but he can issue search warrant. 47 C. 164.

Amendment, scope of :—

The charge in sub-section (1) has obviated the difficulty of deciding whether a particular offence was one involving a breach of the peace.

Sub-headings of notes.

- (1) Object of Chapter VIII.
- (2) Application of s. 105.
- (3) Procedure
- (4) Appeal.

(1) Object of Chapter VIII.

— the primary object of Chapter VIII is not the punishment of subjects for past unproved crimes but to prevent him from committing offences and to afford him an opportunity of reforming himself. 82 I. C. 154 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1226

— the object of Chapter VIII is practically served even when when an accused is on bail for a long time. 1924 S. 120 : 17 S. L. R. 160

(2) Application of the sec. 106

— the amendment has made an order under this section impossible where the only section under which the accused are convicted is a section of the Penal Code read with s. 149. 85 I. C. 42 : 1925 Pat. 117 : 26 Cr. L. J. 426 : 6 P. L. T. 330 : 3 Pat. 870.

— the word "involve" in s. 106 connotes the inclusion not only of a necessary but also of a probable feature, circumstance, antecedent condition or consequence. To justify an order for security was

— "offences involving a breach of the peace" refer to offences in which breach of the peace is an ingredient and not to offences which merely provoke or are likely to lead to a breach of the peace. 30 C. 366. 29 M. 190. 81 Ind. C. 920. 26 M. 469. 35 C. 315. 2 Lah. 279. 30 C. 93. 47 M. 846 : 47 M. L. J. 232 81 I. C. 920.

— the words "other offences" are ejusdem generis with the offences against public tranquility and of assault mentioned therein, 81 Ind. C. 920 : 47 M. L. J. 232.

— to attract the operation of this section it is enough if the offence brought home to the accused necessarily includes or implies a breach of the peace. It is not necessary that apart from the offence there must have ensued a breach of the peace. Wrongful confinement does not per se involve a breach the peace but if the accused is found to have violently seized another person, tied his hands and wrongfully confined in an open garden, security can be ordered under this section. 47 M. 846 : 81 I. C. 920 : 1924 Mad. 808 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1066.

— an order under this sec. cannot be passed in the absence of a finding that there is a "breach of the peace." 81 Ind. C. 888. : 36.

trouble = persons appear to be very own under this sec. 81 Ind. C. 442. : 36.

— a Magistrate cannot bind the accused down merely on the ground that the parties were on bad terms. 49 A. 131 : 1927 All. 157 : 99 I. C. 120 : 28 C. L. J. 88.

— trespassing in a man's house for the purpose of causing him injury involves a breach of the peace and an order under this section is legal. 89 I. C. 1020 : 1925 Lab. 621 : 26 Cr. L. J. 1462.

S. 107. (Security for keeping the peace in other cases), Amendments, scope of.

(1) The words "if in his opinion there is sufficient ground for proceeding" in cl. (1) have been added by the amendment to prevent the Magistrate from proceeding upon any and every information.

(2) The words "pending further action by himself under this Chapter" in cl. (4) have been substituted for the words "until the completion of the enquiry hereinafter prescribed" making the power of the Magistrate less wide.

1. Scope of the Sec.—contd.

9 C. W. N. 551, 10 C. W. N. 288, 25 C. 537, 559, the general principle is that in case of land dispute one party should not be bound down leaving the other party free without deciding which party is in possession, 3 C. W. N. 297, 463, 7 C. W. N. 29, C. W. N. 1919 Pat. 93. In case of land dispute the M. can undoubtedly proceed under s. 145, but that will not preclude him from taking proceedings under this sec. In such cases he can exercise discretion. 32 C. 966, 39 C. 150 36 M. 315, 26 M. 471, 34 A. 449, 7 C. W. N. 746, 24 C. W. N. 1075, 2 Weir 50, 23 Cr. L. J. 123 (c), 23 Cr. L. J. 567 (Nag).

—A dispute about land justifying proceedings under s. 145 does not bar proceedings under this section. But if the complainant is out of possession of the land in dispute and there is no danger of a breach of the peace unless he attempts to resume possession he should be referred to his remedies under s. 145 or in the Civil Court. 68 I. C. 407; 23 Cr. L. J. 567, 5 N. L. R. 94 Rcf

—it is clear from the authorities that the provision of section 145 are mandatory while it is discretionary with the Magistrate to draw up proceedings under s. 107. When there is bonafide dispute regarding lands the proper course is to proceed under s. 145; otherwise the effect would be to bind down one of the parties only without any adjudication upon the question as to which of the two parties is in possession. But where one party is clearly in wrong and threatens another who is in actual possession of the lands, 145 has no application. 90 I. C. 442; 6 Pat. L. T. 766; 26 Cr. L. J. 1562; 1925 Pat. 610.

—an order under s. 144 Cr. P. C. prohibiting the holder of a market likely to cause breach of the peace is legal, and it cannot be said that the Magistrate's only course was to take proceeding under s. 107 Cr. P. C. 55 C. 1077; 32 C. W. N. 913. 47 C. L. J. 452; 1928 Cal. 446; 29 Cr. L. J. 423.

—the existence of enmity between persons or faction is no ground for proceeding under this sec. it must be established that a breach of the peace is imminent, 103 I. C. 517; 10 Lah. O. J. 72; 1928 Lah. 243; 29 Cr. L. J. 417; 9 Lah. W. N. 47. 10 Lah. L. J. 72; 110 I. C. 453; 1928 Lah. 863; 29 Cr. L. J. 714.

—where it is probable that the parties to a land dispute will break the King's peace before the Civil Court can give decision, that danger can be guarded against by an order under s. 107 in an appropriate case. 93 I. C. 62; 23 Bom. L. B. 488; 1926 Bom. 313.

—the fact of dispute concerning land likely to cause a breach of the peace does not deprive the Magistrate of his jurisdiction, under this section, his competence depends upon whether convictions specified in the section have been established as against person not in possession. 32 C. 150; 16 C. W. N. 83; 14 C. L. J. 429.

—proceedings under ss. 107 and 145 may go on concurrently: order under s. 107 does not deprive the Magistrate of his power to make orders under s. 145, 18 Cr. L. J. 129.

1. Scope of the Sec.—confd.

—but evidence having been taken under s. 145, a magistrate cannot pass an order under s. 107, 10 C. W. N. 170 (note)

—simultaneous orders under s. 107 and 144 cannot be passed. 7 C. W. N. 142

—where the evidence shows that the persons were likely to cause a breach of the peace during the last Moharam, it cannot be prosecuted that they were likely to do the same at the next festival. 1927 Pat. 231 103 I. O. 907; 28 Cr. L. J. 719.

—this section presupposes that the person sought to be put under a rule of bail is likely to commit a breach of the peace or disturb the public tranquility; where the evidence showed that the ~~persons were likely to cause a breach~~ during the last Moharam at they were likely to do security should not be —a District Magistrate cannot take cognizance of a case under s. 107 without issuing notice to show cause nor he can transfer such case under s. 192 Cr. P. C. He cannot also make over initiation of the proceedings to a Magistrate having no local jurisdiction. 41 M. 246.

—that there are various litigations between the parties and hence there is likelihood of the breach of the peace is no ground for proceeding under this section. 16 C. W. N. 143 (note), 14 A. L. J. 769, 17 Cr. L. J. 484.

1. Scope of the Sec.—contd.

—where there were old standing feuds between the parties or two branches of a family and the Magistrate finding no evidence against the masters discharged them but on the assumption that there was a likelihood of a breach of the peace ordered their servants to provide securities, the order was illegal and without jurisdiction. 37 I. C. 517: 23 A. L. J. 300: 1925 All. 443, 24 Cr. L. J. 230 (C).

—it is unfair to bind down the party in possession; proper order is to bind down both the parties under the section or to institute a proceeding under s. 145, 12 C. W. N. 606

—where both the parties put forward right which is in dispute only one party should not be bound thus giving advantage to the other. 1927 Pat. 314; 8 Pat. L. T. 645: 28 Cr. L. J. 605; 102 I. C. 781.

—but where the acts of one party is lawful and is provoked by the unlawful acts of the other party, security proceedings against both the parties are illegal. 1929 Mad 842: 118 I. C. 504: 30 Cr. L. J. 931: 1929 Cr. C. 610.

—an order that no rate should be collected from bat, till the decision of the rights of the parties by civil court, is bad. 9 C. W. N. 76 (note) —putting in of a written statement or making a verbal statement is not 'showing' cause' but supporting of that statement by such evidence as the party may be able to produce 23 W. R. 9 Cr.

—servants should not be bound down leaving aside the master. 23 A. L. J. 300.

(2) Grounds for order.

—threats of violence are indication of the intention of breach of the peace. 31 C. 350, 27 A. 92, 21 Cr. L. J. 651 (C).

—the words "wrongful act" means an act forbidden or declared to be penal or wrongful by the criminal law. 21 Cr. L. J. 453 (Pat).

—acts in the exercise of lawful rights are not wrongful acts. 31 C. 935, 21 Cr. L. J. 651 (C), 12 W. R. 47, 18 A. L. J. 157, 22 C. W. N. 702, 9 C. W. N. 618, 14 M. L. J. 491, 3 C. W. N. 463, 16 A. L. J. 279, but where there are doubts as to the existence of the respective rights and obligations of the parties, both the parties should be bound down. 34 C. 935 20 Cr. L. J. 194 (Pat.)

—where the accused has not committed any overt act, the expression of opinion by some witness that there is an apprehension would be bound down, danger of breach of I. C. 858: 1926 Lah.

30 Cr. L. J. 2000

—it is unfair to bind down unless the acts are wrongful. A party having a right to load procession through a road along which they have a right, should not be bound down. 12 C. W. N. 703.

—some definite wrongful act is contemplated. 1911 P. W. R. 43: 1 A. L. J. 418, 1887 P. R. 64, 1838 P. R. 21.

S. 107. (2) Grounds for order. -contd.

—a hasty speech likely to break the peace does not justify an order against the speaker under s. 107 specially when all fear of breach of the peace passes away before the order. 7 Cr. L. J. 232

—when 2nd party obstructs the 1st party who are in the wrong, it is illegal to bind down the 2nd party. 9 C. W. N. 618.

—where the anticipated breach is to be committed by the other side, the only point to be seen is whether the act bringing about that breach is wrongful in itself. 97 I. C. 39 : 1926 Lah. 653 : 27 Cr. L. J. 1063 : 7 Lah. 482 : 27 Punj. L. R. 810, 32 A 576 fol.

—the fact that if one party exercises his rights in a lawful manner the opposite party will commit a breach of the peace is not a proper ground for demanding from the former security to keep the peace. 97 I. C. 358 : 27 Punj. L. R. 599 : 1926 Lah. 695 : 27 Cr. L. J. 1094 : 8 Lah. 98.

—opening a cattle market in the vicinity of ones already existing is not wrongful act. 16 A. L. J. 279 —granting lease of land not in the possession of the accused but to which he is entitled is not wrongful act. 25 C. 798.

—that the accused have prevented the services of village washerman or barber or that they have committed diverse other acts of oppression, is not ground for an order. 7 C. W. N. 32.

—a durputnidar resisting the purchaser at putni-sale of a putni taluk, is rightly bound down. 9 C. W. N. 792.

—singing in the street is not in itself a wrongful act. Punj. Rec. 1889 p. 1358, 3 C. W. N. 463.

(3) Jurisdiction.

—this section requires that unless the proceedings are started by the District Magistrate, both the person informed against and the place where the breach of the peace is apprehended shall be within the Magistrate's local jurisdiction. Where the place was within while the person informed against was not within the jurisdiction but the parties did not raise any objection of jurisdiction, it was a mere technicality which failed. 531 Cr. —an order under s. 107 directing security for good behaviour can be appealed against under s. 406 Cr. P. C. but no appeal lies against an order for security for keeping the peace under s. 107 read with s. 118 Cr. P. C. 19 N. L. R. 160.

—the High Court seldom interferes in the preliminary stage with the discretion of a Magistrate taking action under the preventive sections of the Cr. P. Amendments.

Besides minor amendments in other clauses the last clause has been amended in accordance with the recent amendments made in the Press and Registration of Books Act 1867.

Application of the sec.

—the test to apply this section is whether the person has been disseminating seditious matter and there is fear of the repetition of the offence. 11 Bom. L. R. 743.

—a speech which advocates the Home Rule in India and the attainment of it by constitutional means does not per se amount to disseminating seditious matter within the meaning of this sec. 19 Bom. L. R. 211: 18 Cr. L. J. 567, 34 C. 991.

—substance of a speech and not the exact words should be looked to, 34 C. 991: 11 C. W. N. 1050, 32 M. 2.

—formerly incriminating words were sufficient to justify an order under s. 103 Cl. (b), intention of the accused was not necessary as under s. 153A. I. P. C. 43 C. 591: 23 C. L. J. 105: 20 C. W. N. 199, But this decision is no longer correct as the word "intentionally" has now been added in the sec. by the amendment. Now s. 108 (b) must be read with s. 153 A. I. P. C. under which the offence of promoting class hatred is committed only if there is an intention in the accused to promote class-hatred. The use of the word "intentionally" in the later amendment to s. 108 (b) is intended for this purpose, 30 C. W. N. 953: 44 C. L. J. 172: 97 I. C. 738: 1926 Cal. 1133: 27 Cr. L. J. 1154: 54 C. 59.

—in proceeding under the sec. it must be shown that the accused was disseminating seditious matter. If it is shown that the accused was the author of a big libel, it is not necessary to prove the knowledge of the contents thereof. But in case of publishing his knowledge is presumed. 47 B. 438: 25 Bom. L. R. 97: 1923 Bom. 255.

—under s. 153 A does not require proof of intention, 1923 All. 344: 26 A. L. J.

—under s. 108 it must be proved that unless prevented the accused would continue to act in the way in which it had done. 1923 All. 344: 26 A. L. J. 813: 50 A. 854: 114 I. C. 48: 30 Cr. L. J. 216.

S. 109. (Security for good behaviour from vagrants and suspected persons).

Clause (a)

—the concealment referred to in cl (a) must be with a view to committing some offence. 39 C. 456 · 16 C. W. N. 499, 15 C. L. J. 396.

—s. 109 (a) should not be read as applying to any person who takes steps to conceal himself in the sense of concealing his presence in the way in which a criminal conceals his presence when he goes in the dark or by a deserted road or by some other secret means to commit a crime in his own neighbourhood. The passage "within the local limits of such Magistrate's jurisdiction" is part of the predicate to "conceal his presence" and the offence contemplated is that of a person probably, although not necessarily, coming from outside into the Magistrate's jurisdiction for some nefarious purpose and taking precaution to conceal his presence there. 97 I. C. 428 : 27 Cr. L. J. 116 : 49 A. 240 : 1927 All. 50 : 25 A. L. J. 94, followed in 1929 Cal 774 : 1929 Cr. C 519

—the accused may be arrested from a place outside the Magistrate's jurisdiction 31 C. 557, 26 M. 121 and the accused need not reside within Magistrate's jurisdiction. 2 Weir 53, but the accused cannot be called upon by a Magistrate to give an account of his presence in any other jurisdiction 39 C 456

—before a person can be ordered to execute a bond under s. 109 (a) it must be shown that he was taking precaution to conceal his presence within the local jurisdiction of the Magistrate and that such precautions were taken with a view to commit an offence. Merely showing a disinclination for the society of the police and endeavouring to avoid them by running away on their approach cannot be said to come within s. 109 (a). The clause must be applied with discretion and not to a person merely found talking at night time with bad character at a public place 97 I. C. 648 · 27 Cr. L. J. 1128 : 1926 Pat. 569 : 8 Pat. L. —where the only evidence against the accused was that he was seen at 10 P. M. to come out of a sugarcane field by two persons who challenged him and ran away and was caught at the place, there was no offence under s. 109. 1928 All. 476 : F. B.

—where a person on being accosted by a Police Officer gives out a false name, it is a concealment of his identity, but not necessarily a concealment of his presence. 81 Ind. C. 598 : 21 A. L. J. 847 but giving false name with a view to commit crime comes within cl. (a). 15 Cr. L. J. 255 (C) —to support a proceeding under s. 109 (a) it is not necessary to show that the accused has followed continuous course of conduct in taking precaution to conceal his presence; nor is its application confined to cases where a person has not been brought under arrest 97 I. C. 648; 27 Cr. L. J. 1128; 1926 Pat. 569, contra, see the following cases.

—it refers to a continuous act and not to momentary effort of concealment, and it applies to the case of a person brought under arrest 22 C. W. N. 163; 18 Cr. L. J. 825; 27 C. L. J. 382, 41 C. L. J. 142, 50 C. L. J. 181; 1929 Cal. 729; 1929 Cr. C. 365.

—clause (a) refers to continuous act and not to a momentary effort at concealment to avoid detention or arrest. Precaution to conceal one's presence or identity with a view to commit an offence alone amounts to a continuous course of conduct 41 C. L. J. 142; 86 I. C. 666; 26 Cr. L. S. 110. (Security for good behaviour from habitual offenders)Amendments, Scope of—

The sec. now applies to forger and to one who attempts to commit or abets the commission of the offence of kidnapping, abduction, extortion, cheating or mischief, or any offence punishable under Ch. XII or under ss 489 A. to 489 D. of the I. P. C.

(4) Jurisdiction.

(5) Evidence.

(6) Procedure.

(7) Security and surety.

(8) Appeal and Revision.

(1) Scope of the section.

—the object of s. 110 is preventive and not punitive. The purpose which the Legislature had in view was to afford protection to the public against the repetition of crimes in which the safety of property is menaced and not the security of the person alone is jeopardised. 17 C. W. N. 238 : 16 C. L. J. 467 : 14 Cr. L. J. 5, 46 C. 215 : 23 C. W. N. 193, 2 A. 835.

—the preventive jurisdiction is a powerful means to secure the interests of the community from injury at the hands of hardened offenders of the most dangerous classes. This very fact, however, renders it necessary that the powers should be exercised with caution and discretion. 17 C. W. N. 238 : 16 C. L. J. 467.

—it being a preventive sec. action cannot be taken under it for having committed a specific offence 23 A. L. J. 10, 86 I. C. 282 : 26 Cr. L. J. 746.

—the provisions of this sec. should not be applied to a harbouring of dacoits as that is punishable under the specific sec. of the I. P. C. i.e., s. 216A. 1928 All 682 : 51A. 459 : 116 I. C. 804 : 30 Cr. L. J. 694, 1929 All. 813 : 27 A. L. J. 981 : 1929 Cr. C. 449 : 119 I. C. 571

—it is for the prevention of crime and not for the punishment of offence 4 C. W. N. 531, 17 C. W. N. 238 16 C. L. J. 467.

—it is wrong to use ss. 110, 117 and 118, so as to add to the punishment for past offences 10 B. 174.

—the greatest thief is entitled to a locus penitentiae and only when he is a habitual offender the severity of the law should be set against him 16 C. W. N. 90, 28 A. 306, 5 C. . .

—the object of this sec. is to afford protection to the members of the community from the effects of oppression. Strict relevance whether the evidence produced is sufficient to establish the offence. 1930 All. 37.

—it is a curb upon the activities of persons who set the ball of discord in motion and try to create or foment dissensions amongst men and men or amongst communities. 1930 All. 23.

—proceedings under this sec. must be bonafide. 17 C. W. N. 238.

—mere suspicion is not sufficient to bind a man down to be of good behaviour under s. 110. The evidence ought to be of such nature as to lead to a reasonable and definite ground for concluding that the petitioner is a habitual offender. 75 I. C. 723 : 25 Cr. L. J. 35 : 1924 Pat. 498 : 5 Pat. L. T. 129.

S. 110. (3) Applicability of ss. 107, 108, 109 and 110.

—when the information set forth in the order of the Magistrate refers to apprehended breach of the peace, proceedings should be instituted under s. 107 and not under s. 110. 6 A. 132, 27 A. 92.

—in principle there is no distinction between the trials under s. 107 and trials under s. 110 and therefore in either case the Magistrate must hold an inquiry of the offence and not bind an accused person merely because he agrees to furnish security. 92 I. C. 882 : 27 Cr. L. J. 370. 1926 All. 614.

—after issuing a notice under s. 110 a Magistrate cannot proceed under sec. 107 without issuing a fresh notice. 30 M. 282, similarly after issuing a notice of showing cause under s. 107 he cannot direct the execution of a bond for good behaviour under s. 110. 25 C. 798.

—the mere fact that sec. 108 may apply does not necessarily make s. 110 inapplicable. 46 C. 215.

—during the continuance of an order under s. 109, no order under s. 110 can be passed as both the sections have the same object. 8 C. W. N. 543.

—a person cannot be bound down under both the ss. 109 and 110. 38 M. 555 556.

—preliminary order under s. 112 must be clear as to whether the accusation the accused has to meet is under s. 109 or 110. 11 C. 13.

(4) Jurisdiction.

—proceedings under Chapter VIII are inquiries and not trials. A person proceeded against under this Chapter is not "accused." 81 Ind. C. 909 : 27 C. W. N. 996.

—in proceedings under s. 110 the Magistrate cannot remand an accused person to custody; sec. 117 Cr. P. C. applies to proceedings under Ch. XIV and not under s. 110. 39 M. 928.

—if a person has been arrested without jurisdiction for an offence within the jurisdiction and the charge of substantive offence fails, he can be proceeded against under this sec. 46 C. 215 : 23 C. W. N. 193 : 28 C. L. J. 25.

—where a person resided within the jurisdiction of a Magistrate and habitually committed theft and disposed of stolen properties and absconded and was brought back, but in the meantime he was convicted by another Magistrate in a proceeding initiated against him under s. 109, this fact does not oust the jurisdiction of the former Magistrate to take action under s. 110. 1929 Sind 166 : 1929 Cr. —accused persons should be given some chance of reforming their characters and they should not be prosecuted under sec. 110 soon after they have emerged from jail. 20 C. W. N. 723; 33 L. C. 525.

(7) Security and surety

—the period for which a person is bound over to be of good behaviour begins from the date of order. 24 Cr. L. J. 588 73 L. C. 332.

—a Magistrate has no authority to reject sureties merely upon an unfavourable report of the police. 15 O. C. 263, 17 L. C. 72; 15 Cr. L. J. 760, 68 L. C. 35; 23 Cr. L. J. 499 20 A. L. J. 760.

—the provision of law regarding sureties for the bond is made not with a view to obtain money for the Crown by the forfeiture of recognizances, but to ensure that a particular person should be of good behaviour.

—a person who is bound over to be of good behaviour in a particular manner and he is bound to be of good behaviour in that manner especially when he is bound over to be of good behaviour in that manner. 1913; 21 L. C. 115.

—leaving at 4 miles from the accused and looking like a boy was no good ground for rejecting a surety. 24 O. C. 292.

—living at a distance of nine miles is also no ground for rejecting surety. 19 L. C. 310.

—living at a distance is no ground for rejecting surety. 15 A. L. J. 545; 42 L. C. 788, 67 L. C. 585, 23 Cr. L. J. 585, 8 A. L. J. 785; 11 L. C. 1008.

—a M. cannot lay down any limits within which the sureties must reside. 67 L. C. 352, 23 Cr. L. J. 400; 1922 All. 4; 9.

—helping in defence is no qualification of surety. 16 A. L. J. 263; 44 L. C. 263; 19 Cr. L. J. 411, 39 L. C. 134.

—being a friend or in good terms with the accused or being named as a defence witness is no disqualification. 39 L. C. 134; 22 Cr. L. J. 22.

—conviction for an offence of assault is no disqualification to stand surety. 22 Cr. L. J. 453; 62 L. C. 179.

(B) Appeal and Revision.

—ordinarily a court of appeal in a summary trial is not bound to write a judgment but an appeal from an order requiring a person to furnish security to be of good behaviour is different. The Dt. M. should write a judgment showing that he has considered the whole case. 38 A. 393, 35 I. C. 485; 17 Cr. L. J. 309, 31 Cr. L. J. 9, 13 I. C. 102.

—the cases in which the H. C. can interfere in revision on question of fact are rare. At the same time, the administration of the sec. has to be very carefully watched and where evidence has been misunderstood or ignored, difficulties have not been seen or the rules of evidence have not been followed, and the S. J. has reviewed the case in a very perfunctory way, without noticing the palpable defects in the evidence, the case requires to be carefully scrutinized. 19 A. L. J. 668; 63 I. C. 452; 20 Cr. L. J. 860, 17 Cr. L. J. 461, 36 I. C. 141, 22 A. L. J. 678; 82 I. C. 36, 12 O. L. J. 413; 1925 Oudh 473, 1927 All. 473; 102 I. C. 211; 28 Cr. L. J. 515.

—a notice to show cause must contain particulars of the charge setting forth the information he had received. Mere statement in such a notice that a man is a habitual thief or robber is not sufficient. The failure to record particulars in a notice under s. 112 is not a mere irregularity to be cured by s 537, Cr. P. C. 24 A. L. J. 908 : 1926 All 759 49 A. 5 : 99 I. C. 41 : 23 Cr. L. J. 9, 47 M. L. —s. 123 cl. (3) empowers the S. J. when proceeding with the taking of a security for good behaviour to require from the M. any sum he thinks necessary. 81 Ind. C. 936. It does not empower him to order a re-hearing of the case above case.

—s. 123 applies specifically only to ss. 106 and 118 and not to s. 562 of the Code. 84 Ind. C. 349 : 2 R. 360 (1925).

—S. J. is required to pass definite order binding over and is not to confirm Magistrate's order. 85 I. C. 944 : 26 Cr. L. J. 656 : 10 Oudh 517.

—pending the hearing of a reference in a good behaviour case the S. J. has power to enlarge the accused on bail. 50 C. 969 : 37 C. L. J. 592.

—on the failure to furnish security the M. cannot pass an order for rigorous imprisonment without making a reference to the S. J., 57 I. C. 287 : 21 Cr. L. J. 623.

S. 123. Imprisonment in default of security.—contd.

—when a person is committed to prison for failure to furnish security under s. 123 (1) he is not undergoing a sentence within s. 397. 8 N. L. R. 20, 13 Cr. L. J. 189; 13 I. C. 1005; 1 Pat. L. J. 212; 17 Cr. L. J. 528; 36 I. C. 496.

—an order that the accused shall have to suffer simple imprisonment for one year in default of furnishing security cannot be sustained under s. 123 Cr. P. C., as the accused is entitled to be released from custody the moment he furnishes security. 1927 Mad. 976; 53 M. L. J. 762; 1927 M. W. N. 788.

—if a person when undergoing imprisonment for failure to furnish security, is convicted of substantive offence, he will undergo the latter punishment first. 14 Bom. L. R. 965; 37 B. 178; 13 Cr. L. J. 849; 8 N. L. R. 20, 13 Cr. L. J. 189.

S. 124. Power to release person imprisoned for failing to give security —the order passed by the Dt. M. under this sec., may be of an original or of a revisional character. The M. may release a person on various grounds. 37 M. 125 F. B.

—the Dt. M. is the best Judge as the head of the district to determine when and under what circumstances he should act under this sec. 1893 A. W. N. 183.

S. 125. Power of Dt. M. to cancel bonds.

—the jurisdiction of the Dt. M. under this sec. is not merely an original jurisdiction but may be exercised as in appeal or revision. 34 C. 1; 11 C. W. N. 25; 4 C. L. J. 428 F. B., 32 C. 948; 9 C. W. N. 860 overruled 33 A. 626, 40 A. 140, 16 Cr. L. J. 555, 24 Cr. L. J. 204 (Oudh) 24 Cr. L. J. 616 (Oudh).

—but a contrary view has been held in the following cases where it has been held that the jurisdiction of the Magistrate under this sec. is not appellate or revisional but original. 71 I. —the Magistrate may cancel the bonds of the applicant or his pleader. 39 A. 466; 18 Cr. L. J. 143.

—the Magistrate has no revisional authority over the subordinate M.

—the Magistrate may set aside the order of the subordinate M. as ultra vires or to quash the proceedings. 3 P. L. T. 103; 65 I. C. 435; 23 Cr. L. J. 281.

—the jurisdiction of the D. Magistrate under this sec. is not limited; he can cancel a bond on ground that the order ought not to have been made. 34 C. 1; 4 C. L. J. 428; 11 C. W. N. 25 F. B., 9 C. W. N. 860; 32 C. 948 overruled, 37 M. 225 F. B., 35 A. 103, 41 A. 651, 11 N. L. R. 98, contra, 1 C. W. N. 394, 29 C. 453; 6 C. W. N. 13 W. R. 44.

S. 125. Power of Dt. M. to cancel bonds.—contd.

—the D. M. can cancel a bond on the ground that its evidence is insufficient 37 M. 125 : 25 M. L. J. 459 : 14 M. L. T. 328 : 1913 M. W. N. 715, F. B. 11 N. L. R. 98 Contra. 44 A. 614 : 67 I. C. 350 : 23 Cr. L. J. 398. 20 A. L. J. 521.

—the only ground on which a Dt. M. can cancel a bond for keeping the peace and to be of good behaviour is that something has supervened since the date of the first court's order satisfying the Dt. M. that there is no longer any necessity for keeping the accused person under a bond, 44 A. 614 : 67 I. C. 350 : 23 Cr. L. J. 398.

—a Dt. M. cannot set aside a proceeding under s. 107 even where the subordinate M. has acted without jurisdiction. 66 I. C. 425 (Pat).

—provisions of s. 428 dealing with remand has no application. 20 Cr. L. J. 221, 489

—under this sec. D. M. may cancel a bond for good behaviour but he cannot send the persons bound to jail. 8 A. L. J. 658 12 Cr. L. J. 480, 33 A. 624, 29 C. 455.

—when a Magistrate has accepted sureties the D. M. cannot cancel the bond on police report for insufficiency. 6 C. W. N. 291 : 26 C. 455, 1 C. W. N. 394.

—a Magistrate acting under s. 145 has jurisdiction to sanction prosecution under s. 476 Cr. P. C. 14 C. W. N. 306 37 C. 72 : 5 Ind. C. 555.

—under s. 423 (d) an appellate court has power to set aside an order for security to keep the peace. 6 C. W. N. 422.

—In an appeal from an order under s. 110, the D. M. should write a judgment considering the evidence on the record and the pleas of the accused. 17 Cr. L. J. 309 : 19 P. R. (1916) Cr.

—when proceeding started under s. 107, is transferred to another District the D. M. of the latter District only has jurisdiction under this section. 23 C. W. N. 958.

—when an order is passed by a Magistrate subordinate to a Dt. M. the record should be laid before the Dt. M. and before the S. J. to consider the matter. 40 A. 140 : 43 I. C. 604, 37 M. 125.

—the revisional jurisdiction of a Sessions Judge or Dt. Magistrate under s. 435 is not in any way trenching upon by the provisions of sec. 125. 4 Pat. J. W. 327 : 3 Pat. L. J. 302 : 45 I. C. 397 : 19 Cr. L. J. 589

S. 127. (Assembly to disperse on command of Magistrate or police officer.)

—a Deputy commissioner of the police who is an officer superior in rank to an officer in charge of a police station may act under this section. 7 B. 42 : 7 Ind. Jur. 202.

—whether a disturbance of the peace is likely to be caused, must of necessity be very much a matter of opinion, and the police officer, to whose discretion the law leaves the duties of dispersing assemblies, must of course act upon his own opinion one way or the other. 7 B. 42 : 7 Ind. Jur. 202.

S. 127. (assembly to disperse on command of Magistrate or police officer.)—contd.

—when the police officers act under ss. 127 and 128, what instructions are to be given to the jury—right of private defence—necessity of sanction 33 C. L. J. 340 25 C. W. N. 628 : 62 I. C. 878.

—when a police order is disobeyed the proper procedure is that provided in s. 127 Cr. P. C. to order the prosecution of the persons for being members of an unlawful assembly. 101 I. C. 475 1927 Pat. 191 : 28 Cr. L. J. 443 8 Pat. L. T. 245

S. 132 (Protection against prosecution for acts done under this Chapter)

—the sanction required under the section is not affected by s. 337 (b), 31 M. 80 6 Cr. L. J. 382.

—prosecution without the necessary sanction is bad. 16 M. 473, 2 B. 288

—the term "good faith" is to be interpreted relatively to the position of the person doing an act or omission. 12 B. 377.

—when the order is illegal subordinate is not bound to obey. 21 M. 249 1 Weir 310

—the powers of a police officer in charge of a patrol boat are no higher than those of an officer in charge of an outpost, and so he cannot use firearms under this sec. and no sanction is necessary for his prosecution for such act. 50 C. 318 : 1923 Cal. 517.

S. 133 (Conditional order for removal of nuisance). Amendments

The application of the sec. has become wider by the amendment
 (i) All 1st class Magistrates are empowered now to deal with the case without being specially empowered by the Local Govt. (ii) In para (3) the words "regulated" and "the keeping of goods should be regulated" have been added (iii) In para (5) the words "tent or structure or any tree" have been added (IV) In para 7 provision relating to the disposal of dangerous animals has been added, besides some other consequential changes.

- (1) Scope of the section.

—the scope of the section is limited to injuries arising or likely to arise to the members of the general unascertained mass of the public whose ordinary avocation may take them to the neighbourhood of the building supposed to be in a dangerous condition 20 A. 501 : 18 A. W. N. 141, 36 A. 185 : 12 A. 25, 24 Ind. C. 745, 81 Ind. C. 942.

S. 112. (1) Scope of the section.—contd.

—this Chapter is not intended to obtain by summary criminal process what one fails to get through civil court or when a civil suit is pending. There must be urgency or imminent danger to the public interest. 32 Punj Rec. (1897) 7.

—it is an emergent section framed to deal with evils either existent or imminent. A. W. N. (1901) 126.

—as under s. 133 (3) no order duly made by a M. under this sec. can be questioned by the civil court, s. 133 should be sparingly used. 18 C. W. N. 1086, 42 C. 158.

—the second para of sec 133 prevents the civil court from questioning the conditional order made under s. 133, but the absolute order made by the M. may be questioned by the civil court. 1929 All. 833; 1929 Cr. C. 358.

—s. 133 is not a bar to a proceeding under s. 147, 26 M. L. J. 233.

—proceedings under s. 133 are more of the nature of civil than criminal proceedings and the person proceeded against is not an "accused" and may be examined on oath. 9 C. W. N. 983; 2 C. L. J. 149 24 C. 395.

—a. 133 does not provide for costs. 85 I. C. 357; 26 Cr. L. J. 517; 1925 Cal 399 —costs of the removal of the nuisance must be realised only by proceeding against those parties to the proceeding who were served with the notice of the order. 44 C. L. J. 211; 99 I. C. 62; 1927 Cal 70; 28 Cr. L. J. 30.

(2) Applicability of the section.

S. 133. (2) Applicability of the section.—contd. .

—an order under s. 147 Cr. P. C. is made without jurisdiction if it is passed in a proceeding under s. 133 without any action under s. 145 Proceedings under s. 133 are in entirely different Chapter of the Code. 15 C. W. N. 667; 12 Cr. L. J. 43; 9 I. C. 262.

—but s. 133 is not a bar to a proceeding under s. 147, 26 M. L. J. 233

—proceedings under s. 133 are more of the nature of civil than criminal proceedings and the person proceeded against is not an "accused" and may be examined on oath. 9 C. W. N. 983; 2 C. L. J. 149, 24 C. 395.

(3) Public place, public way,

—the duty of determining whether the site of the obstruction as a public place or public way is cast by statute on the Magistrate in the first place and under no circumstances it can be left to the jury. 72 I. C. 617; 1923 Lah. 525; 24 C. L. J. 457; 4 Lah. 224; 5 Lah. L. J. 420, nor the party against whom the order is directed need contend that the land is his private land. 120 I. C. 289

—the fact that the residents of a particular village had a right to take the cattle across a field was not sufficient to constitute a public way. 1906 4 Cr. L. J. 65, 36 A. 209; A. 656 upon the unmetalled portion of a Government road can be properly proceeded against under this sec. A. W. N. (1901) 25.

water flows from adjoining field is not a channel which can be lawfully used by the public and this obstruction to water cannot be dealt with under this sec. 12 A. L. J. 248; 15 Cr. L. J. 229, 36 A. 209, 1906 A. W. N. 190, 22 B. 998, 34 A. 345, 32 C. 930 Dist.

—the word "channel" is not defined in the Cr. P. C. but it is quite wide enough to include a water-course carrying water to a public urani. Where there was a catchment area in the centre of which there was a water-course which was obstructed and the water flowing into the water-course was attempted to be carried away by the petitioners to their village tank by building a bund and cutting new channel making the water run away in a different direction, this was an obstruction to the water-course and can be dealt with under this sec. 91 I. C. 537; 1926 Mad. 165; 27 Cr. L. J. 105; 1925 M. W. N. 663.

—not only the way, river or channel should be one of public use but the obstruction must be of that public use. 22 B. 998, 11 C. L. J. 659; 81 I. C. 942.

—this sec. is applicable to a dispute between two villages in respect of the rights of one to dig and clear a water-course for irrigation purposes, denied by the other. 25 W. R. 1912 Cr: 16 Ind. C 162 13 Cr L. J. 594, 2 P. R. 1903, Cr 22 B. 988.

—the obstruction of a private path is not a nuisance under this section 2 W. R. Cr 36, 1 W. R. 344.

—it does not apply to the violation of a private right but only to public nuisances. 22 W. R. 19, 25 W. R. Cr 4.

—the provision of this sec applies to public thoroughfare. 5 C. 875, 36 A. 209, 22 B. 988, 25 W. R. 4, it is sufficient if the way is one that may be lawfully used by the public. 10 Cr. L. J. 210 (C), 12 A. L. J. 1024, 20 Cr. L. J. 556 (Pat.), 4 P. L. T. 402.

—there is no warrant for the view that railway land is necessarily a public place to be a subject of dispute under s. 133. There must be a finding that the land encroached upon is or may be lawfully used by the public. 4 Pat. L. T. 402; 1 Pat. L. R. 154; 74 I. C. 1047 24 Cr. L. J. 855 1923 Pat. 540.

—an order for the removal of building bona fide erected by a person on land to which he has a claim, in good faith, under a patta, on the ground that it obstructs one railway signal from the view of another, is not legal. 61 I. C. 117 22 Cr. L. J. 389.

—a denial that the path was a public one is equivalent to a claim that it was a private one. 61 I. C. 175 22 Cr. L. J. 351.

—a long user by a private person what is claimed to be a part of the public path may be taken as a bonafide claim ousting the jurisdiction of the criminal court while a long user by the public of a place as a part of the public path raises a presumption that the place was relinquished by the owner thereof. 1928 Pat. 268; 9 Pat. L. T. 587 108 I. C. 559 29 Cr. L. J. 422.

—one co-sharer of an undivided share cannot dedicate to the public a way over the common estate without the consent of others. The act must be a concerted act, at one given moment, of all joint owners. 45 A. 656 74 I. C. 849 F. B.

—a private property cannot be converted into a public merely because it looks as though it ought to be so and because to do so would be convenient to a section of the public who have enjoyed permissive user of it. 45 A. 656 F. B.

(4) Nuisance.

—any obstruction on a public road is a nuisance, whether in point of fact it causes practical convenience or not. 23 A. 159; A. W. N. (1901) 130, 23 A. 84.

—the motive of obstruction is irrelevant. 23 A. 159.

—where the inhabitants of one village have placed an unlawful obstruction to prevent the flow of water along its natural channel and the resultant injury affects a large area of cultivated land and a considerable body of persons, the case is one of public nuisance. 9 A. —no length of time can legalise a trade or occupation which is public nuisance. 16 W. R. Cr. 4 : 7 B. L. R. 499, 4 Bom. L. R. 982, Punj Rec (1883) 31, but that can give to the objections a bona-fide character ousting the jurisdiction of the criminal court. 25 C. 278.

—a common nuisance cannot be excused on the ground that it causes some convenience or advantage to the person guilty of it. 13 Ind. C 999

—the working of Foulders or rice-husking machine throughout the whole night in a residential quarter is a public nuisance, being injurious to the comfort of the neighbourhood. 9 P. R. 1904 (Cr).

—the creation of a bund in a river near to which the public has a prescriptive right of way is obstruction or nuisance. 32 C. 930.

—a. 133 deals with the condition of things at the time when the inquiry is held. If at such times a house or branch of a tree is likely to fall and thereby endanger the life of the public, action may be taken under the sec. But it is not meant to apply to what may happen at some indefinite time in the future or under quite abnormal circumstances. Where solid and vigorous branch of a tamarind tree is 16 ft. above the level of the country road it cannot cause any unlawful obstruction within a. 133 and should not be ordered to be cut down especially as a tamarind tree is an object of veneration to many of the Hindus. 22 A. S. 139 A. (Procedure where existence of public right is denied)

N. B.

By the introduction of this new sec. provision has been made for the stay of the proceeding, under certain circumstances, until the decision of the civil court.

—after notice is issued under s. 133, it is the duty of the

—this sec. contemplates an inquiry by the M. himself. He cannot delegate his power to make an inquiry as to the existence of a public way to a Subordinate M. If he does so the procedure is not merely irregular but illegal. 34 C. W. N. 228.

—the M. has the absolute discretion to decide whether materials are sufficient for not deciding questions in criminal Court. 27 A. L. J. 385; 116 I. C. 786; 30 Cr. L. J. 670; 1929 All. 220.

—the sole object of the sec. 145 is to prevent an imminent breach of peace and the decision must be made at once 81 Ind. C. 933 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1109.

—proceedings under s. 145 Cr. P. C. should be finished quickly and before the disposal of other cases relating to the same subject-matter, 1929 Rang. 314 : 114 I. C. 677 : 30 Cr. L. J. 314, 1923 Rang. 211 Ref.

—s. 145 relates only to dispute about immovable property. Standing crops are immovable property within clause (2) but crops that have been severed from the land are not immovable property and a dispute concerning such crops cannot be the subject of dispute under this section. 6 Cr. R. 527 : 7 L. R. 193 (Cr.)

S. 145 (1) Scope of the section—contd

—the purpose of the section is to preserve the public peace and prevent the breach of the peace 30 C. 112; 6 C. W. N. 417, 30 A. 41, 28 C. 446; 5 C. W. N. 428, 6 C. W. N. 101, 24 C. 55, 4 B. R. 1892-1896 vol 123

—proceedings will be initiated under this sec. only to avert a breach of the peace which would otherwise take place due to the existence of a dispute between the parties. When the Police report disclosed only that there was a likelihood at some future date of a breach of the peace, it was not sufficient to initiate proceedings under s. 145 33 C. W. N. 509, 49 C. L. J. 394; 30 Cr. L. J. 977, 1929 Cal. 341, 118 I. C. 892

—the intention of the Legislature in enacting this sec. is that the order made by the M. should have reference rather to the subject matter of the dispute than to the person who are engaged therein 1929 Cr. C. 265, 1929 Pat. 505; 30 Cr. L. J. 840; 117 I. C. 643

—a M. in deciding the question of possession under this section is concluded by a previous order of the Criminal Court unless he finds that there has been a change of possession since the previous order 95 I. C. 475, 27 Cr. L. J. 815; 1926 Lah. 479 (33 C. 33, 1923 C. 361) Dist

—ordinarily a dispute as to land should be inquired into in a proceeding under s. 145; but where a Civil Court has put one of the parties in possession, there is no land dispute, 3 Pat. L. T. 826; 1922 Pat. 13

—where the M. finds that there is a bona fide dispute between the parties he ought to initiate proceedings under s. 145. Where the presumption of the Record of Rights and of the partition papers were in favour of one party and the police report was in favour of the opposite party there was clearly a case in which there was a bona fide dispute as regards possession, 3 P. L. R. Cr. 70; 88 I. C. 845, 1925 Pat. 514; 1928 Pat. 574; 29 Cr. L. J. 613; 109 I. C. 805.

—the provisions of sec. 10 of the Bengal Alluvial Lands Act are wide enough to apply to all proceedings including an attachment under s. 145 Cr. P. C., 33 C. W. N. 1115; 1929 Cal. 646; 1929 Cr. C. 326.

(2) Applicability of the section.

—to apply this section (i) there should be dispute likely to cause a breach of the peace, and (ii) this dispute should concern land or water. 30 C. 155; 6 C. W. N. 737, 89 I. C. 156; 26 Cr. L. J. 1292 F. B., 2 Weir 117.

—two essential conditions are necessary to confer jurisdiction on a M. to proceed under s. 145, i.e. (1) there should be a dispute over land or water (2) and also it must be likely to cause a breach of the peace. 89 I. C. 156; 26 Cr. L. J. 1292

—an order under s. 522 Cr. P. C. which has never been acted upon is no bar to a Magistrate to take proceedings under s. 145. 18 C. W. N. 1088

—a M. can transfer a case to another M. 4 Pat. L. T 308; 73 I. C 173.

—the fact that there was a proceeding under s. 145 Cr. P. C. that there was an enquiry into the matter and that there was decision adverse to one of the parties, is a relevant fact in a suit for possession of the disputed land in a civil court. 40 C. L. J. 30.

(4) Procedure

—no complaint is necessary, nor is the M. confined to evidence recorded on oath. 19 W. R. Cr. 10.

—the information on which the Magistrate takes action must contain reference to a breach of the peace. 6 C. W. N. 340, 23 C. 557, 4 C. W. N. 57.

—the provisions of the sec. must be complied with. 25 A. 537; A. W. N. (1903) 102, 26 C. 183, 24 B. 527, 18 M. 41, 27 C. 981, 7 C. W. N. 174, 26 A. 144.

—a telegram is not an information. 22 B. 956.

—the Magistrate must specify the nature of information received by him and state the principal facts which is his judgment.

constitute grounds for believing that a dispute concerning a certain land exists. 19 W. R. Cr. 10, 4 C. W. N. 799, 10 C. 78, 6 P. R. 1885, 20 C. 520.

—the use of printed forms by the Magistrate was condemned as it is likely to prevent the magistrate from applying his mind to a consideration of the case. 9 C. W. N. 51 (note), 45 M. L. J. 56 : 1923 M. 142.

—the magistrate must examine the witnesses tendered by the parties and come to a judicial conclusion. 4 O. W. N. 779, 9 W. R. Cr. 64, 15 C. W. N. 114 (note)

—it is not obligatory on a M. to assist the parties to produce their witnesses and they cannot claim as a matter of right that process should be issued. The refusal to issue such summons does not mean a denial of fair trial. 3 Pat. L. T. 433 : 66 I. C. 419 : 23 Cr. L. J. 275, 32 C. 1096, 38 C. 24 fol.

—a magistrate has no jurisdiction to pass order under this sec. without giving notice to the parties, without calling for written statements from them and without giving an opportunity to cite witnesses or to put in documentary evidence. 8 C. L. J. 71.

—where no notice was served on a party to the proceedings under s. 145 he is entitled to have the proceedings set aside. 101 I. C. 450 : 1927 Nag. 234 : 28 Cr. L. J. 418.

—but where on revision from an order under s. 144 Cr. P. C. by a Subordinate M. the District M. remanded the case directing the former to initiate proceeding under s. 145 and the subordinate M. initiates proceeding under s. 145 without giving notice to the opposite party it was held that it was merely an irregularity, 33 C. W. N. 723 : 1929 Cal. 751 : 1929 Cr. O. 335, in the same case it was also held that although the order of remand by the Dt. M. was ultimately set aside the order of the Subordinate M. upon the original Police report was not illegal.

—proper opportunity should be given to the parties to produce their evidence. 6 Pat. L. T. 215 : 26 Cr. L. J. 965 : 1925 Pat. 553.

—magistrate can postpone proceedings sine die and such postponement does not operate as an withdrawal of the proceedings. 13 C. W. N. 601.

—the Magistrate cannot adjourn proceedings under this sec. sine die pending settlement of the tract under regulation VII of 1882, 8 C. L. J. 564 : 13 C. W. N. 104

—an order purporting to be under Ch. XII should specify the section under which it is passed and it should not be left for speculation to the court of Appeal or Revision to determine the sec. 18 Cr. L. J. 295.

—publication near the place is general notice and it is not necessary to give notice to all persons interested. 30 C. 155 : 6 O. W. N. 737.

—cl. (3) requires that a copy of the proceedings under s. 145 shall be published by affixing it to some conspicuous place at or near the subject-matter of dispute ; this provision is intended to give notice to the persons interested to come forward and he made parties. So the M. must maintain the order relating to possessions by taking action under ss. 107 and 144 Cr. P. C. against all including persons who were not parties in the prior proceedings. 10 Pat. L. T. 685.

—a notice which does not state the ground of satisfaction of the M. or specify the plot in regard to which the dispute exists, though irregular, does not vitiate the proceeding. 81 Ind. C. 963; 25 Cr. L. J. 1139.

—the Magistrate in his final order under s. 145 must set out the reasons for his decision. 34 O. L. J. 125, 28 Cr. L. J. 623; 1927 Nag. 177; 102 I. C. 911; 5 Rang. 129, and it must be based on evidence. 34 C. L. J. 127, 71 I. C. 518. 1923 M. 24.

—when there has been previous proceeding under s. 145 Cr. P. C. a fresh proceeding in respect of the same land and parties is not legal, the previous order must be maintained. 27 C. W. N. 20 (Note).

—when proceedings have been struck off and fresh proceedings instituted on new materials they must be recorded. 6 C. W. N. 923, 23 C. 867, 15 C. W. N. 271, 563.

—the requirements of s. 145 must be strictly followed. The omission to record the preliminary order under cl. (1) amounts to an illegality. 26 P. L. R. 712, 99 I. C. 1031; 49 A. 325; 1927 All. 288; 25 A. L. J. 246.

—where an order under section 145 is based on evidence recorded at a time when one of the parties was not on the record at all, it is wholly illegal. 89 I. C. 153. 26 Cr. L. J. 1289; 1925 Nag. 457.

—the Magistrate cannot refuse summons to witnesses or to hear arguments. 11 C. 762, 21 C. 29, 30 C. 508; 7 C. W. N. 404 (414), 32 C. 1093, C. W. N. 1917 Pat. p. 118; 18 Cr. L. J. 322.

—under this sec. the M. takes action on behalf of the Crown on a report made to him and all processes should issue at Govt. expense and the parties originally mentioned and any others that may come in later should be ranged on one side as the first party and the second party and so on. 81 Ind. C. 933 (N); 25 Cr. L. J. 1109.

—proceedings under this sec. should be summary and not elaborate. 81 Ind. C. 905; 35 Cr. L. J. 1081.

—the M. should state the grounds upon which he is satisfied that a dispute likely to cause a breach of the peace exists. If he fails to do so his subsequent proceedings would be without jurisdiction. 81 Ind. C. 985; 2 Bur. L. J. 295.

—an order under s. 145 containing a very brief statement of some of the facts of the case and which does not discuss the evidence and states no reasons as to the finding of possession is not a decision according to law. 1928 Nag. 255; 29 Cr. L. J. 312; 10 Cr. R. 2; 107 I. C. 907, 1928 Nag. 325; 111 I. C. 445; 29 Cr. L. J. 861.

—the M. must give reasons for his decision. 1928 Mad. 1230; 1928 M. W. N. 921; 55 M. L. J. 693.

—an order striking off a case without making a final order as contemplated by law is illegal. 83 Ind. C. 665; 1924 Pat. 231.

—there must be some material before the M. to come to a conclusion that there is no apprehension of breach of the peace. 83 Ind. C. 665; 1924 Pat. 231, 83 Ind. C. 693; 5 P. L. T. 252

—the M. must exercise his own judgment upon materials placed before him. 83 Ind. C. 693; 5 P. L. T. 252

—but it may be refused on the ground of vexation. 24 C. 55 but see 18 C. W. N. 94 where such order was held to be bad.

—witnesses produced must be heard. 15 C. W. N. 114 (note).

—adjournment should not be granted after the date originally fixed without adequate grounds. 17 C. W. N. 144; 17 C. L. J. 610.

—s. 526 sub-sec. (8) does not apply to a proceeding under s. 145. 18 C. W. N. 393, 34 C. W. N. 59.

—where with the consent of parties, the matter is referred to arbitration and award is filed and accepted by both the parties it is not open to either of them to object to the award in revision. 3 P. L. J. 248; 19 Cr. L. J. 266, but see below

—proceedings under s. 145 Cr. P. C. cannot be compromised or submitted to arbitration. All that can be done is that there may be an agreement as to the mode of taking evidence either by a commissioner or by arbitrators who have no power to decide the case but can only submit a report which the M. must consider before passing order. 1929 Nag. 285, 1929 Cr. C. 459, 1924 Pat. 589, 2 Pat. L. J. 80, 32 C. 552, 15 C. W. N. 568, 1921 Cal. 637 Ref. 1923 All. 77, 7 C. W. N. 461 Dist.

—a Magistrate cannot execute his final order. 14 C. W. N. 78, 179; nor can possession be given of the property to the person in whose favour it is decided. 37 A. 654.

—order for cost should be made within a reasonable time. 29 M. 373, 22 C. 387, 23 C. 37, 10 C. W. N. 1059.

—the object of the sec. is to put an end to disputes as to possession of immovable property so as to prevent a breach of the peace. So all the parties should be allowed to put forward their respective claims. When a written statement of a party is refused he is not bound by the decision in the proceeding. 81 Ind. C. 442; 5 P. L. T. 458.

1929 Cr. C. 265; 10 Pat. L. T. 689.

—the M. may drop the proceeding at any stage being satisfied from any source that no dispute likely to cause a breach of the peace exists. When standing crops are attached and sold and the sale proceeds are in deposit, the proper order in such case would be to direct that the money be kept in deposit till one party obtains an order from the Civil Court. 81 Ind. C. 626; 46 M. L. J. 565; 47 M. 713.

—when the court decides to take action under this sec. all processes should be served at the expense of the Crown. 81 I. C. 933, 25 Cr. L. J. 1100.

—an ex parte order can be set aside on sufficient ground being shown. 76 I. C. 975. 25 Cr. L. J. 303.

—the finding of breach of peace is necessary for the purpose of the preliminary order and not for final order. 73 I. C. 519; 24 Cr. L. J. 631; 1923 Lab. 253.

—the apprehension of a breach of the peace is the first condition necessary to give jurisdiction and when it is found that there is no longer any apprehension the jurisdiction ceases and the M. is bound to cancel the initial order and to stop proceeding. 38 C. L. J. 284; 1923 C. 577.

—there is no provision for restoration of possession, it can simply be declared that certain party is entitled to possession. 72 I. C. 621; 24 Cr. L. J. 461.

—there is no legal basis for remuneration being allowed in excess of the actual income of the property. 8 N. L. J. 167.

—proceedings struck off cannot be renewed. 71 I. C. 512; 24 Cr. L. J. 160.

Local inquiry.

—the object of the local inspection is to understand and appreciate the topography of the land in dispute and to appreciate the evidence offered in court but it cannot take the place of legal evidence, much less can the result thereof be used as a basis for the decision. 77 I. C. 492; 25 Cr. L. J. 412, 1 Pat. L. T. 563.

—the possession that can be pleaded in a proceeding under this section must be possession based on a claim of right to possession. The possession of an agent or servant which is permissive cannot give a party to a proceeding a locus standi as against his principal or master. 92 I. C. 164: 27 Cr. L. J. 212: 1926 Nag. 286.

—possession under this section must be absolute and continuous and not occasional, but possession need not be exercised continuously or every day of the year. By "continuous possession" is meant such possession which a party in possession may have occasion to exercise and has exercised and exercises whenever he likes. Continuity of possession should be understood with reference to the object over which it is exercised. Occasional possession of fallow lands not capable of yielding much profit was sufficient possession under this section and an order of attachment under s. 146 Cr. P. C. was bad. 31 C. W. S. 147. Disputes concerning easements.

Changes introduced by the amendments are.—(1) subject matter of dispute has been clearly defined (2) procedure to be adopted by the Magistrate has been specifically stated and (3) continuance of the order has been determined by the decision of the competent civil court.

—sub-sec. (2) as amended does not give a Magistrate any power of directing one of the parties to do a positive act by way of mandatory injunction. This power is analogous to that of the civil court to grant temporary injunction. 41 C. L. J. 568; 30 C. W. N. 238; 1925 Cal 991; 88 I. C. 1041; 26 Cr. L. J. 1265.

—under Cl. (2) it is clear that where a right exists the M. may make an order prohibiting any interference with its exercise. 1929 Pat. 351; 1919 Cr. C. 153; 10 Pat. L. T. 376.

—a M. has no jurisdiction under the amended sec. to direct a party to demolish a new wall and air from other's house. Cal 991; 83 I. C. 1041, 5 C. L. J. 1265.

—no order can be passed to a finding that the right has been exercised within the period. 81 Ind. C. 708; 5 P. L. T. 457; 25 Cr. L. J. 996.

—proceedings amended must be notified. 81 Ind. C. 162.

—inclusion of a further portion of the pathway without notice to the party affected, vitiates the final order. 1925 Cal. 263.

—easement includes profits a prendre. e. g. right to take fish. 23 C. 55, 21 C. 29

—the onus is on the person who alleges the right. 11 C. 52. Sometimes it is better to bind down under sec. 107 instead of making an order under sec. 147. 23 C. 557, 21 C. 727.

—due notice must be given to persons who claim or deny the right. 21 C. 727.

—the proceeding must show the grounds of the Magistrate being satisfied as to the likelihood of breach of peace. 16 C. W. N. 99 (note).

Proviso.

—the expression "within three months next before the institution of the inquiry" in the proviso does not mean the date when the formal proceedings are drawn up 44 C. L. J. 214: 28 Cr. L. J. 1: 99 I. C. 33.

—the enquiry contemplated by the provision is one by the Magistrate and not by the police. So where a petition was filed before a M. for the obstruction of a pathway and the M. forwarded the same to the police for enquiry and passed orders on the body of the petition under s. 147, three months after, held that such an order was illegal as the inquiry was instituted three months after the date of the obstruction complained of. "Institution of the inquiry" did not begin on the date when the petition was forwarded to the police but only on the date when the proceedings were actually drawn up. 30 C. W. S. 154. Information in cognizable cases—contd

—in every trial, it is important that it should be known to the judicial officer what are facts given out immediately after the occurrence and reports to the police, and the object of the first information is to render him so acquainted. For that purpose the diary containing the first information is admissible in evidence as also any memorandum by the police officer of what the informant said 7 C. W. N. 345, 8 C. W. N. 218 Ref.

—the first information is of considerable value at the trial because it shows the starting materials of the investigation and the story first told; any statement recorded several days after the commencement of the investigation is not first-information and it has no value as it can be made to fit into the case as developed. 11 C. W. N. 554; 6 Cr. L. J. 86, 16 C. W. N. 145.

—the police officer is not bound to reduce any statement into writing, even if it be reduced into writing, oral evidence of such statements are not inadmissible under s. 9 Evi. Act 11 B. H. C. R. 120.

—a police officer may refresh his memory by looking to the documents, but the documents themselves cannot be used as evidence and the judge cannot read them to the jury to find out discrepancies. 9 C. 455, 11 C. L. R. 569, 31 C. 1050.

—if a witness makes a statement to the police under s. 161 Cr. P. C. that he knew nothing about the occurrence it is a statement under this section. 53 C. 980; 100 I. C. 553; 1927 Cal. 257; 28 Cr. L. J. 273.

S. 162. Statements to police not to be signed or admitted in evidence.

The amendments entitle the accused to obtain a copy of the statements made to the police by the witnesses except in some exceptional cases mentioned in the sec.

—this section entitles the accused to obtain a copy of statements made by a third party to the police, if such statements are recorded in writing and if the same are not made for either side of the case. If the statements are made for either side, writing it cannot be used for any purpose but one and that by the defence: Provided that the person who made it is called as a witness for the prosecution when the defence may use it to contradict that witness. 44 C. —a statement made before the police that the witness did not say anything to the police relating to the occurrence is not a “statement” within this section otherwise the result will be that the absence of a statement will be equivalent to a statement. But it is doubtful if a statement made by a witness to a police under s. 161 that he knew nothing about the occurrence is not a statement within the meaning of section 161 Cr. P. C. 53 C. 980 : 100 I. C. 353 28 Cr. L. J. 273 : 1927 Cal. 257.

—this section should not be construed to mean that while any part of the statement of a witness to the police may be used to contradict him, yet if the contradiction consists in this that a statement made at the trial was not made in any part of the statement to the police such a contradiction cannot be proved as that would be an artificial construction, 95 I. C. 396 : 27 Cr. L. J. 790, 1926 Pat. 362 : 7 Pat. L. T. 631.

—because a person of the accused party goes first to the Police Station and says that some of the complainant's party has committed an offence, so the real complaint lodged later on under s. 154 against the accused must be kept off the record save on terms under s. 162, this proposition is one which cannot be judicially approved. 1930 Cal. 130 : 1930 Cr. S 165 (Search by police officer)

To protect people from unnecessary trouble by general search provisions have been made to record in writing the reason for making a search and to send to the nearest M and to furnish the owner or occupier of the house with a copy of the record

—this section does not authorise general search by police of stolen property in the house of the absconding offender, it speaks of specific order unde 979, 16 C. : A. L. J.
 901, 16 C. : C L. J,

—this section does not give any authority for the general search of the stolen property but only for specified stolen articles. A general search means a search not in respect of specified documents or things which the officer conducting the search considered necessary or desirable for the purpose of the investigation in hand but a roving inquiry for the purpose of discovering documents or things which might involve persons in criminal liability. 97 I. C. 955 : 1927 Cal. 93 : 27 Cr. L. J. 1195

—when a Police Officer searches a house for stolen articles of which a particular list is given him he makes a search for specific article and his action is not illegal. 1927 Cal. 93 : 97 I. C. 965 : 27 Cr. L. J. 1195.

—a police officer is entitled to search even for specific documents or articles in the house of a person accused of a crime. 97 I. C. 955 : 1927 Cal. 93 : 27 Cr. L. J. 1195, 38 C. 304 Diss. from.

—a police officer is entitled to make a search for not only what is stolen property but also for everything necessary for the purpose of investigating the offence 91 I. C. 43 : 27 Cr. L. J. 11 : 1926 All. 147 : 23 A. L. J. 1037.

—when a police officer makes search in a non-cognizable case without the order of the Magistrate he acts illegally and is liable to be sued for damages. 24 C. 691.

—when a Sub-Inspector assaulted while he made a search he was guilty under Ss. 332 and 333 I. P. C. 17 C. W. N. 1209,

S. 165. (Search by police officer)—contd.

—while a police officer holds an investigation to the house of one he cannot enter the house of his neighbour. 1928 All. 185 : 26 A. L. J. 410 : 107 I. C. 688 : 29 Cr. L. J. 272.

—where there was no search-warrant under section 98 Cr. P. Code the search was not a legal search and person who were part-owners and occupiers of the house had the right of private defence. 15 C. W. N. 343 : 38 C. 304.

—it is essential that a Police officer conducting a search under s 165 or 166 of the Code should send forthwith to the nearest M. copies of the record that he has prepared before undertaking the search and if this is not done, the occupiers of the house resisting the Police cannot be committed. 93 I. C. 1038 : 27 Cr. L. J. 542 : 1926 Cal. 663

—the M. is bound to supply the owner or occupier of the house searched, copies of record prepared during search by the Police under s 165 Cr. P. C. The H. C. can in revision interfere with the order of refusal by the M. to supply such copies. 1928 All. 402 : 26 A. L. J. 703 : 110 I. C. 215 : 29 Cr. L. J. 633.

S. 167. (Procedure when investigation cannot be completed in 24 hours)

—s. 167 applies to investigations under Ch. XIV. and gives no authority to remand an accused in custody in proceeding under Ch VIII in order to enable the police to trace other persons to be proceeded against under that Chapter. 5 Bom L. R. 27.

—it is open to the M. to make report to police who can take action under s. 167 Cr. P. C. But the Magistrate has not the powers of a police officer to investigate and keep an accused person in custody for the purpose of such investigation; custody can only follow where definite charge has been made and complainant has been examined. 1930 All. 259 : 1930 Cr. C. 371.

—the detention of the accused in the police custody for the purpose of verification or identification is illegal. 7 C. W. N. 220, 457.

—the M. should not sanction detention without recording sufficient reasons as required by law. 7 C. W. N. 457, 11 C. W. N. 554, and the period cannot exceed 15 days on the whole 23 B. 32

—there should be at least something to satisfy the M. that the presence of the person arrested would assist in some discovery of evidence and his presence was indispensable for the purpose. 11 C. W. N. 554.

—by a mere perusal of the entries in police diaries the Magistrate may authorise detention from time to time not exceeding 15 days at a time. 13 C. W. N. 54, 11 M. 98, 23 B. 262.

—the section does not apply to cases under s. 112 Cr. P. C. 36 A. 262.

S. 167. (Procedura when investigation cannot be completed in 24 hours)—contd.

—where the accused is not brought before the court it is illegal to remand the prisoner merely on the application of the police. 36 P. R. 1867 (Cr.)

—the power of remand under this sec is given to detain prisoners in custody while the police makes the investigation and in a proper case, to commence the inquiry, but the period of detention is limited to 15 days in all. The custody mentioned in s. 344 is intended for under-trial prisoners. 38 C. L. J. 388 : 51 C. 402 : 81 Ind. C. 220.

—the intention of the Legislature, having regard to ss. 61 and 167, is that an accused should be brought before a M. competent to try or commit, with as little delay as possible. 51 C. 402 : 38 C. L. S. 168 (Report of investigation by subordinate police officer.)

—reports of the police officer in compliance with ss 167 and 161 are not public documents and the accused persons are not entitled to have copies of them before trial. 20 M. 189, F. B.

S. 170. (Case to be sent to Magistrate when evidence is sufficient)

—a bond under s. 170 can only be taken from a witness when the accused has been arrested and is either being forwarded to a Magistrate or is released on security being given for his appearance. L. B. R. 1893-1900, 478.

—when some of the accused are sent up and acquitted the D. M. can order those not sent up to be put on their trial. 7 C. W. N. 493.

—this sec. authorises the police officer, if there is evidence or reasonable ground for suspicion to forward the accused to a competent M. 51 C. 402 : 38 C. L. J. 388 : 81 I. C. 220.

of the investigation. 16 C. W. N. 145.

—the power under this sec. to look into case diaries should be exercised sparingly. 1929 M. W. N. 587.

—Police reports and Police diaries written before the commencement of an investigation under Ch. XIV, do not come under this sec. 14 C. W. N. 1114.

—entries made in personal diary of a police officer who did not investigate into a case do not fall within s. 172. 85 I. C. 723; 26 Cr. L. J. 579; 1925 C. 959.

—if the special diary is used by the court for contradicting the police officer making it, it is not the right of the Police officer to refresh his memory. 174 F. B.

—the entries in the police diary cannot be used as evidence in the case to discredit the prosecution evidence. They can be used under s. 172 (2) only to help the court in the inquiry or trial utilizing the information given therein as a foundation for question to be put to the witness and in using the diary the court should always act very cautiously. 1927 Oudh 64; 99 I. C. 342; 28 Cr. L. J. 134. 19 A. 390, 16 A. 207 Rel. on —it may be within the right of the police-officer not to refer to a diary, but the accused is entitled to the benefit of their refusal to refer to the diary and to disclose the source of their information. 86 I. C. 274; 6 Pet. L. T. 810; 26 Cr. L. J. 738; 1925 Pat. 131.

S. 172. (Diary of proceedings in investigation)—contd.

—a diary may be used to assist the court by suggesting means of further elucidating points which need clearing up and which are material for the purpose of doing justice between the Crown and the accused but not as containing entries which can by themselves be taken to be evidence of any date, fact or statement contained in the diary. Nona but the Police officer may be confronted with it. 21 C. —sec. 172 does not authorise a court to bring matters contained in Police diaries upon a judgment and to treat them as evidence. A. W. N. (1894), 155, 19 A. 390; 17 A. W. N. 174 Ref.

—disbelieving the story of the defence only because it is nowhere mentioned in the Zinnia amounts to making use of the Zinnia in such a way as to strengthen the case for the prosecution and to show that the rival story told by the defence is untrue, a course forbidden by the provisions of the Cr. P. C. 94 I. C. 140; 27 Cr. L. J. 572; 1926 Lah. 485.

—improper admission of diary is not sufficient ground for setting aside the decision of the Magistrate when he finds the accused guilty after considering the other evidence in the case. 15 Cr. L. J. 256; 23 Ind. C. 208.

—s. 172 (2) Cr. P. C. authorises a criminal court to send for the police diaries of a case under inquiry or trial in such court, and to use such diaries, not as evidence in the case, but to aid it in such inquiry or trial. 66 I. C. 187; 23 Cr. L. J. 251.

S. 173. (Report of Police officer.)

—the report referred to in sec. 190 (1) (b) is the report described in sec. 173, i.e., a report made by the Police after the case has been investigated and the facts ascertained and the conclusion arrived at, that there are sufficient grounds to justify the person reported against being forwarded to the Magistrate. 12 Cr. L. J. 92; 9 Ind. C. 492; 5 S. L. R. 1.

—abstract of the evidence need not be entered in the charge-sheet or report. 1929 M. W. N. 504.

—Police reports of police officers under Ss. 157 and 168 or 173 are not public documents within the meaning of sec. 74 Evi. Act and so the accused is not entitled to have copies of them before trial. 20 M. 189.

S. 190. (Cognizance of offences by Magistrate.)

Amendments.

The words in cl. (b) which run as "upon a report in writing of such facts made by any police officer," have been substituted for "upon a police report of such facts," making the decisions reported in 26 B. 150, 23 C. W. N. 451, 26 C. W. N. 131, 46 C. 807, 32 M. 3, 1 P. L. T. 73, 1 L. B. R. 13 in which the 'police report' was held to be a report in a cognizable case and the decisions reported in 51 C. 26 B. 150, 5 S. L. R. 1 : 12 Cr. L. J. 92, 6 S. L. R. 82 13 Cr. 262 in which a "police report" was held to be a report in investigation, obsolete.

S. 190. What is taking cognizance.

—taking cognizance of a case does not involve any formal action, or action of any kind, but occurs as soon as a M., as such, applies his mind to the suspected commission of an offence. 37 C. 412, 83 Ind. C. 485 : 17 S. L. R. 150.

—under s. 190 a Magistrate takes cognizance of an offence and not of the offender. 83 I. C. 885 : 17 S. L. R. 150.

—as the word has not been defined in the Code it is difficult to ascertain at what precise stage of the case cognizance is said to be taken. When a M. in charge on receipt of a police report makes over the case to another M. for inquiry, and the latter after taking evidence summons the accused, it is latter M. and not the former who is said to have taken cognizance of the offence. 17 C. W. N. 795.

—a M. cannot be said to have taken cognizance of a case under s. 107 until he issues notice to the person charged to show cause. 41 M. 246.

—a M. is not debarred from taking cognizance of an offence because another M. has already taken cognizance of the same. 50 C. 482.

—provisions of this sec. do not apply to proceedings taken by a Magistrate under s. 110 Cr. P. C. upon information received from any person other than the Police officer. 1927 Sind 77 : 27 Cr. L. J. 1280 : 93 I. C. 128 : 20 S. L. R. 291, 27 A. 172 fol

When the Magistrate can take cognizance

—the three alternatives upon which a M. may take proceedings are mutually exclusive. The M. need not take cognizance of an offence under some one of the alternatives to the exclusion of the other. 1929 Pat. 473 : 10 Pat. L. T. 779 : 119 I. C. 413 : 1929 Cr. C. 341 : 30 Cr. L. J. 1056, F. B.

—no court should accept a complaint which charges two people in the alternative and it is also wrong that an order sanctioning such a prosecution in the alternative should. 1930 Rang. 51 : 1930 Cr. C. 243.

Cognizance of offence upon receiving complaint, cl. (a)

As to "complaint" see definition of "complaint" in s. 4(h).

—when a complaint is made the M. is bound to examine the complainant and then he is to proceed under ss. 202 or 203. 13 C. 334, 29 C. 410, 11 M. 443, 12 B. 161.

—ss. 200 and 203 which impose upon the M. the duty of examining the complainant on oath are applicable only where the M. purposes to take proceedings upon the information supplied by the complainant but in every case where a document in writing is lodged it is not the duty of the M. to treat that as a complaint and proceed upon that and not upon any other source of information. 1929 Pat. 473 : 10 Pat. L. T. 779 : 119 I. C. 413 : 1929 Cr. C. 341 : 30 L. L. J. 1056, F. B.

S. 190. Cognizance of offence upon recording complaint, cl. (a)—contd.

—the M. cannot avoid the making of an inquiry and examining the complainant merely by accepting the conclusion of the Police. 14 C 707.

—the omission to examine a complainant under s. 200 is a mere irregularity and not an illegality. 19 L. W. 461; 81 I. C. 218; 1924 Mad. 587.

—refusal to summon the accused without examining the complainant and his witness in a serious case is illegal. 29 C. L. J. 50.

—when the written complaint did not contain a particular charge which was subsequently added by the M. on examining the complainant, it was not a legal complaint. 10 A. 39.

—the expression "information received from any person other than a police officer" in s. 190, 1 (c) clearly means only such information as does not constitute a complaint nor a police report. 14 Bur. L. R. 250; 4 L. B. R. 30.

—but where the police investigated a non-cognizable case without the sanction of the M. under s. 155 (2) Cr. P. C. and the accused were charged for one cognizable offence and two non-cognizable offences, and the M. discharged the accused regarding the cognizable offence, the charge-sheet sent by the Sub-Inspector could be treated as a complaint under s. 190 (a). 29 Bom. L. R. 742; 51 B. 498; 1927 Bom. 440; 28 Cr. L. J. 939; 105 I. C. 459.

—a police officer is not prohibited under this Act from presenting a complaint to the Magistrate in a non-cognizable case, 82 I. C. 753; 1925 Lah. 237; 25 Cr. L. J. 1361; 6 Lah. L. J. 606.

if the Magistrate had declined to take cognizance of the offence, he deemed to have taken cognizance of the offence by him. Ordinarily the Magistrate is to take cognizance of the offence under Cl. (a). 14 Bur. L. R. 250; 4 L. B. R. 30.

—proceedings taken against the remaining accused without any one formally taking cognizance of the case were held to be irregularly instituted and were set aside. 3 C. L. J. 433; 15 Ind. C. 65.

—where the complaint was lodged against some but the M. after examining the complainant and some witnesses issued processes against them as well as against some other, he took cognizance under cl. (a) and not (c) and s. 191 does not apply. 3 C. W. N. 491; 26 C. 786, 18 C. W. N. 921; 15 Cr. L. J. 546.

—s. 351 Cr. P. C. is independent of s. 190 and is not limited by the latter sec. but the M. initiating proceedings in regard to additional accused must be held to have acted under the same clause of s. 190. 73 I. C. 1; 25 C. 785, 3 C. W. N. 367, 41 C.

—if the M. is satisfied that to the D. M. that an accused before him had committed perjury and altered a document filed in court, he can take cognizance of the case under s. 190 (a).

—where a sub-divisional Magistrate empowered to hear appeal from his subordinate Magistrate, instead of making an order of retrial, tries the case himself he takes cognizance of the case not under cl. (a) but under cl. (b) as he has before him the police charge-sheet stating all the facts. 30 M. 228: 16 M. L. J. 546: 2 M. L. T. 46.

—cognizance of case not upon first information but upon a subsequent police report comes under cl. (b) and not (a), 8 C. W. N. 864.

—where a Magistrate sent the case to the police for inquiry and took cognizance of the case upon receipt of the report, it must be presumed that the action was based on the police report. 11 A. L. J. 331: 14 Cr. L. J. 218, 12 Ind. C. 314.

—where a Sub-divisional Magistrate listened to information given by the police and ordered them to challan the accused under s. 143. I. P. C., the magistrate really proceeded under cl. (b) and not cl. (a). 3 P. R. 1910 Cr.: 35 P. W. R. 1909 Cr.: 164 P. L. R. 1910, 24 M. 317 (note) Ref.

—the police report should set forth the nature of the information against the accused; where it did not set forth the nature of the information the prosecution instituted on the police report was set aside. 37 C. 49: 14 C. W. N. 304.

—where a Magistrate takes cognizance of an offence under s. 190 (c) he is bound to take further proceeding under s. 191. C. W. N. 202.

—a Magistrate is entitled to refuse to initiate proceedings on the report of the police where there is no complaint. 1 A. L. J. 609.

—the expression "Police Report" in cl. (b), before its amendment, meant a police report within the meaning of sec. 170 Cr. P. C., but under s. 190 (b), as amended by Act XVIII of 1923, a M. can take cognizance of an offence upon a report made by any police officer, but the report must state facts constituting the offence. A mere assertion that an offence has been committed is not sufficient. 51 C. 402: 38 C. L. J. 388: 81 Ind. C. 220.

—the Magistrate can take cognizance of even non-cognizable offences upon a report in writing made by a police officer. Now it is not necessary even to examine him on oath. 49 M. 525; 1927 M. W. N. 43; 1926 Mad. 865; 27 Cr. L. J. 1031, 96 I. C. 983 F. B., 1925 M. L. W. 317 overruled, 1928 All. 765; 111 I. C. 858; 51 A. 338; 27 A. L. J. 68.

—the word "report" in the amended clause should be interpreted as meaning not only police report but also a report in a non-cognizable case. 1928 Lab. 66; 29 Cr. L. J. 65; 106 I. C. 577.

—once a Magistrate has taken cognizance of an offence, he cannot take cognizance again of the same offence, though the Police may offer a fresh report. P. 597.

—where a Magistrate has taken cognizance both upon a report such as that of the Police and upon a receipt of the Police, he cannot take cognizance again of the same offence. Ind. C. 628.

—where a receipt of the final report of the Police on a complaint the M. ordered, "enter false, mistake of law 379—109 and 447—109 I. P. C." and the complainant then applied for revival of the case. Held, that there was no complaint before the M. and he had no jurisdiction to revive the proceedings after having finally disposed of the case. 1 Pat. L. R. 97; 12 I. C. 945; 24 Cr. L. J. 945.

—when on receipt of the police report the M. ordered "false under s. 379; action should be taken under s. 211 I. P. C." and the police thereupon lodged a complaint before M., held that the M. took cognizance under cl. (b) and not cl. (c) and the complaint by the police later on was one under cl. (a) and not (b) and it was not necessary to examine the complainant, the police officer being a public servant. 1929 Cr. C. 274; 1929 Pat. 514; 10 Pat. L. T. 609.

—where the proceedings for murder was started against the accused who was sent up by the police but some witnesses stating that the murder was committed by another person and not by the accused the M. directed proceedings against the latter the procedure was bad as further proceedings should not have been taken against the other person until the accused was either convicted, acquitted or discharged. 1929 Sind 17; 115 I. —s. 195 (1) (c) applies only to forgery committed or alleged to have been committed by a party to a proceeding before the civil court. 1929 Cal. 539; 1929 Cr. C. 194; it applies to parties and not to witnesses and counsels. 1929 Lah. 125; 29 Cr. L. J. 1061; 112 I. C. 565.

—a court has power to launch the prosecution of a person for forgery committed in respect of proceedings in court whether that person is a party or not. 100 I. C. 529; 1927 Nag. 14; 28 Cr. L. J. 305, (1926 All. 21; 49 B. 608; 1925 Bom. 433) fol. 2 Reng 374 not fol.

—a rakil holding a tokalatnama is not a "party" for the purpose of s. 195 (1) (c) and cannot be convicted in place of the client. 1929 Mad. 115; 30 Cr. L. J. 469; 115 I. C. 481; 28 L. W. 769.

—s. 195 (c) covers any document produced or given in evidence in the course of a proceeding whether produced or given in evidence by the party who is alleged to have committed the offence or by any one else. 27 Bom. L. R. 607.

—where an offence of forgery is committed by several persons and some are parties to the proceedings in which the document forged is produced, proceedings against others may be prosecuted otherwise than under the provisions of ss. 195 and 476 Cr. —offences under ss. 467 and 471 I. P. C. in respect of entries in the copies of books of account produced in court accompanying the plaint under Or. 7 R. 17 Cr. P. C. falls under s. 195 (1) (c) Cr. P. C. 49 A. 898; 1927 All. 571; 103 I. C. 204; 28 Cr. L. J. 668; 25 A. L. J. 555.

—a forged document filed in court as an annexure to a petition must be taken to have been produced within the meaning of s. 195 (c) Cr. P. C. 28 Cr. P. C. 388; 1927 Nag. 184; 100 I. C. 1044.

—Cl. (c) has been modified to include an offence committed in respect of a document produced but not given in evidence. 27 C. 887; 7 C. W. N. 112.

—when the D. J. on the report of the Munsiff as to forgery of a document referred the matter to the D. M. by a letter to take action and the case was made over to a Jot M. the letter was a complaint under s. 195 Cr. (1) (c). 35 A. B.

—only the court before which the document had been produced can file a complaint and not the Prosecuting Inspector. 1930 Lah. 225; 1930 Cr. C. 239; 12 Lah. L. J. 1.

S. 195. Absence of complaint in writing, effect of.

—absence of complaint in writing would not make a conviction illegal. The object of introducing the words "in writing" after the word complaint in s. 195 and adding cl. (a) to sec. 200 Cr. P. C., was to remove the inconvenience which might be felt if it was made incumbent on the M. to examine the complainant when taking cognizance of an offence. As the provision as regards sanction was removed from s. 195 and as it was made obligatory for the public servant concerned to make a complaint instead of giving a sanction it was thought that it would cause a good deal of inconvenience if such public servant had to attend the court and to appear before the M. in order to lodge the complaint. 5 P. L. T. 505; 81 I. C. 629; 25 Cr. L. J. 972; 1924 Pat. 691.

—where an objection as to the absence of a complaint in writing was not taken at the trial or in the appellate court but only in revision, it is not sufficient to upset a conviction under s. 183 I. P. C. 5 Pat. L. T. 505; 81 I. C. 629; 25 Cr. L. J. 972; 1924 Pat. 691.

—a case cannot be instituted under this sec. without a complaint. Section 537 Cr. P. C. provides for an error, omission or irregularity in the complaint and not the entire absence of a complaint without which no cognizance can be taken. 33 C. W. N. 285; 56 C. 824; 30 Cr. L. J. 658; 1929 Cal. 172; 116 I. C. 638; 49 C. L. J. 342.

Sub-sec. (2), "Court," meaning of.

—the "Court" contemplated by ss. 195 and 476 Cr. P. C. is the Court before which the offence is committed. When the offence of perjury was committed before the Sessions Court of one territory a portion of which was subsequently placed under a newly constituted Sessions Court, the latter though having territorial jurisdiction over the accused has no power to make a complaint regarding the offence committed before the former Court because the Cr. P. C. contemplated the trial of such offence only by the court before which it was committed. 96 I. C. 81; 28 Bom. L. R. 1296; 1927 Bom. 47; 28 Cr. L. J. 49.

—ss. 195 and 476 Cr. P. C. refer to "Court" and not to "Judge" or "Presiding Officer." So the Judge being the same or different person does not matter, it is the Court that is competent to make the complaint. 1928 Lah. 759.

—it is only the "Court" so question that can file the complaint under s. 195 cl. (1) (h) for the offence committed before it and not the particular public servant concerned. 1927 Pat. 327; 28 Cr. L. J. 643; 103 I. C. 49; 8 Pat. L. T. 674.

—the word "includes" as substituted for "means" has evidenced the scope of the court. 47 A. 934; 1925 All. 737.

—notwithstanding the use of the word "includes" in the sec. the courts which can make a complaint under that sec. are restricted to the courts detailed in s. 476 Cr. P. C. namely, Civil, Criminal and Revenue. So a Land Acquisition Collector is not a Court within s. 195 so far as s. 207 I. P. C. is concerned. 31 C. W. N. 825; 1927 Cal. 621; 104 I. C. 249; 28 Cr. L. L. J. 809.

S. 195. Sub-sec. (5), Withdrawal of complaint.

—a District M. cannot order the withdrawal of a complaint made by a court under s. 476 Cr. P. C. in respect of offence under s. 211 Cr. P. C. as such complaint is not mentioned in s. 195 (5) Cr. P. C. which gives the M. the power of withdrawal. 49 A 752 : 102 I. C. 351 : 28 Cr. L. J. 543 : 1927 All. 571.

—under section 17 Cr. P. C. the District Magistrate and not the Sessions Judge is the authority to whom the Sub-divisional Magistrate is subordinate. A complaint made by a Magistrate under s. 195 (a) is not a judicial order and the Magistrate does so as a public servant and not as a court, consequently sub-sec. (3) of sec. 195 Cr. P. C. can have no application to such a complaint. 1927 Pat. 111 : 28 Cr. L. J. 353. 100 I. C. 961 : 7 Cr. R. 466 8 Pat. L. T. 488.

—the expression "authority to which Police servant is subordinate" connotes apparently a more distinct and general entity than a departmental superior and covers the District Magistrate in relation to the Police of his District. 30 Cr. L. J. 710 : 117 I. C. 37

—while a District M. orders the withdrawal of a complaint made by a Police officer he acts in his administrative capacity and such an order is not open to interference by a judicial tribunal. 117 I. C. 37 : 30 Cr. L. J. 710.

—by reference to Rr. 16 and 17 of the Local Self Govt. Rules 1925, it may be taken that the returning officer is a public servant subordinates to the District M. Consequently the latter has authority to hear an appeal under s. 195 (5). 1929 All. 931 : 1929 Cr. C. 659.

—in view of an appeal being allowed by s. 476-B. Cr. P. C. a court cannot review its order refusing to make a complaint under s. 476. 49 A. 752 : 102 I. C. 351 : 28 Cr. L. J. 543 : 1927 All. 571.

—when an application for sanction for an offence committed in a suit before the Subordinate Judge valued at over Rs. 5000 is refused appeal lies to the District Court and not to the H. C. 1927 Mad. 683 : 99 I. C. 957.

—a Magistrate making a report to the Local Government for obtaining sanction is not incompetent to take cognizance of the case. 36 C. W. N. 878

—the sanction must be in the name of Local Government and not of a single member. 20 Cr. L. J. 455.

—the accused not named in the petition of complaint though named in the sanction of the Local Government, should be discharged. 15 C. W. N. 98

—the sanction given after the filing of the complaint is of no effect. 20 Cr. L. J. 455.

S. 196. (Prosecution for offences against the State)—contd.

—sanction communicated by telegrams must be proved to have emanated from the Government. 20 Cr. L. J. 455

—this is a special mode laid down in the Cr. P. C. whereby the order of sanction of Govt. is to be conveyed to the officer who puts the law in motion in cases under ss. 121 or 124 A. I. P. C. All that the Court is to see is whether the complaint was made by the order or under the authority of Govt. 77 I. C. 481; 25 Cr. L. J. 401; 1925 Med. 106.

—under s. 196 A. Cr. P. C. consent in writing of the authorities therein specified is not necessary to a prosecution for a conspiracy to commit a non-cognizable offence when sec. 194 cl. (3) is applicable to the case. 50 C. 461; 75 I. C. 533.

—a sanction under s. 196 Cr. P. C. for the prosecution of the accused in the alternative for offences under s. 121 or under s. 121-A. I. P. C. is not defective on the ground that it does not specify with sufficient clearness the section or the offence in respect of which it is given. 42 M. L. J. 108; 65 I. C. 859

S. 196 A. (Prosecution for certain cases of criminal conspiracy),

—this section applies only to a prosecution for conspiracy punishable under s. 120 B of the I. P. C. and not for abetment of conspiracy punishable under s. 109 I. P. C. 49 C. 573.

—where the complaint did not disclose a charge of criminal conspiracy under s. 120 B. I. P. C. but it contained a vague allegation of conspiracy alleged in popular sense, s. 196-A, Cr. P. C. was not applicable. 1928 Med. 1158; 1928 M. W. N. 801; 52 M. 695; 113 I. C. 625; 30 Cr. L. J. 191.

—conspiracy, non cognizable offence, effect of omission to specify particulars in the order of granting sanction. 1924 Cal. 53.

—the proviso lays down that a sanction under this sec. for prosecution for criminal conspiracy to commit a non-cognizable offence is not necessary where the court before which the forged document was used or false claim was made, makes a complaint in respect of this offence under sub-sec. (4) s. 195. 50 C. 461.

—the sanction must be obtained before the trial begins and September 1925 by which time the sanction had been obtained and the trial was not vitiated. 54 C. 155; 101 I. C. 594; 1927 Cal. 296; 28 Cr. L. J. 466.

S. 197. (Prosecution of Judges and public servants).

—to apply the sec. two conditions are necessary; (i) the accused must be a public servant not removable from his office without the sanction of the Local Govt., (ii) he must commit the offence while acting or purporting to act in the discharge of his official duty. 51 M. 259; 54 M. L. J. 570; 28 Cr. L. J. 1038; 106 I. C. 222; 1928 Mad. 161.

—to apply this section it is necessary that the criminal act constituting the offence should have been done as an official act or under the cloak of what purported to be an official act. It is the public servant put him in a . . . N. 1058; 1929 Cal. 724; 1929 Cr. . . cases only in which the offence . . . lic servant only. 31 Bom. L. R.

S. 202. (Postponement of issue of process.)Amendments.

The changes that have been introduced by the amendments are:—
(i) even the third class Magistrates have been authorised to act under this sec. save and except directing inquiry or investigation by others.
(ii) authority has been given to make preliminary inquiry in any case the M. thinks fit for reasons to be recorded, (iii) the words "enquiry or investigations" have been substituted for the expression "previous local investigation" giving power to take evidence upon oath.

S. 202. Application of the section.

—this section applies only to cases where there is a "complaint" as distinguished from a mere information. A Magistrate acting upon second-hand information cannot be said to be acting upon complaint. 1888 P R 24

—a Magistrate taking cognizance of a case upon a police report cannot act under this section and cannot refer the case to a subordinate Magistrate for local investigation. 40 C. 854, 17 C. W. N. 824; 2 P. L. T. 220.

—this section does not apply when evidence commences after the issue of process 9 M 282, 21 W. R. 44.

—the investigation under this sec. is not judicial investigation. 27 C. 921, 2 Weir 167.

—the Magistrate should follow the strict procedure laid down in ss. 202 and 204, 11 C. L. J. 921; 22 Ind. C. 165; 15 Cr. L. J. 24.

—the complainant must be examined before proceeding under this sec. 3 C. W. N. 305, 27 C. 921.

Postpone the issue of process.

—after the examination of the complainant the process shall ordinarily be issued unless the M. has reason to doubt the truth of the complaint when he can order an enquiry or local investigation. 27 C. 798

—this sec requires that reasons should be given for the postponement of issue of process but the failure to do that is a mere irregularity. 33 C. W. N. 369; 1929 Cal. 176; 49 C. L. J. 164; 116 I. C. 721.

—if the accused appears of his own accord without summons, he is entitled to require that the complaint shall be proceeded with or dismissed 26 b. 532.

Preliminary enquiry and local investigation.

—a Magistrate receiving a complaint may at his discretion either issue process at once or may make a preliminary enquiry under this sec. and thereafter issue process. 1929 Pat. 644; 1929 Cr. C. 372

—the object of the enquiry is to afford an opportunity to the Magistrate to remove his hesitation in issuing process. 10 Pat. L. T. 618; 116 L. C. 46; 30 Cr. L. J. 554.

N. 484, 623, sending out a sub-deputy Magistrate to hold a local investigation and then examining him as a witness does not vitiate the case if the s. 414, a deputy Magistrate in charge order local investigation and Magistrate to whom he is sent.

C. 484 : 13 Cr. L. J. 484 : 39 C. 1041. But the amendment empowers such persons to hold such enquiries and investigations and it was also held that an order referring the complaint to a subordinate Magistrate for inquiry and report was legal. 46 C. 854.

—a person to whom a complaint is sent for inquiry is not prohibited from importing his personal knowledge into it or from examining witnesses competent to throw light on the matter. 30 Cr. L. J. 1160 : 129 I. C. 69.

—a Magistrate who holds an enquiry under s. 202 is not disqualified from trying the case himself. 24 C. 167, 4 C. W. N. 604. Where the M. took an active interest in the investigation and in collecting evidence he was disqualified to try the case. 23 C. 828, 20 C. 857, 8 N. L. R. 1.

—a Magistrate making an enquiry under this sec. can sanction prosecution under s. 211 I. P. C. 13 C. W. N. 122, 17 C. 221, and can direct prosecution of the complainant under s. 476 Cr. P. C. 36 C. 72.

—when the Magistrate once ordered investigation by another person he cannot himself make further investigation in the absence of the accused. 11 A. L. J. 754 : 14 Cr. L. J. 493 : 20 Ind. C. 749, but he may hold an inquiry even after a local investigation.

—charge for substantive offence and abetment thereof is bad. 24 M. 523 P. 547.

—joinder of offences under s. 125, Railway Act and under s. 225 I. P. C. is illegal 29 C. 287; 6 C. W. N. 468, 29 C. 358.

—alternative charge of two different offences is bad in law. 10 B. 124, 15 B. 491, 14 A. 507. But alternative charge for making contradictory statements is not affected by this sec. 10 C. 937, 13 B. L. R. 324; 21 W. R. Cr. 72.

Effect of illegal joinder of charges.

—s. 233 must be strictly applied save where the Code itself provides exceptions. 28 M. L. J. 331; 16 Cr. L. J. 298; 28 Ind. C. 522, 25 M. 61, P. C. 41 C. 60, 722, 30 A. 351, 29 C. 385, 18 C. W. N. 1152.

—disobedience of an express provision of law is not a mere irregularity curable by s. 537 Cr. P. C., but an illegality and such illegality cannot be made good by subsequent acquittal or judgment upon which a conviction is based. 28 M. 61, P. C. (29 C. 7, 27 C. 839, 28 M. 61, P. C. 41 C. 60, 722, 30 A. 351, 29 C. 385, 18 C. W. N. 1152).

—but the Calcutta H. C. has held that the joinder of two distinct offences in a single charge is a mere irregularity and not illegality and cannot vitiate a trial unless that has prejudiced the accused. 31 C. W. N. 337; 1927 Cal. 330; 100 I. C. 827; 28 Cr. L. J. 347.

—this section provides that the trial must be limited to three offences, it does not say that the trial must be limited to three charges, the same offence may be charged under different sections of the I. P. C. and any number of such charges can be tried in one and the same trial 33 B. 77.

—the two ss. 234 and 235 Cr. P. C. must be construed apart; there is no provision which would allow the two to be added together, so to speak, in order to provide a trial of one person for more than three charges even if some of the charges may form one series of acts so connected together as to form the same transaction 1927 Nag. 22; 97 I. Applicability.

—“offences of the same kind” in the sec. includes offences
 „ R. 522,
 J. 149,
 A. 147,

—a person successively committing, within the space of twelve months, several offences of the same kind e. g., extortion, against different persons, may be charged with and tried at one trial for any number of them not exceeding three. 13 C. W. N. 507 49 O. 371, 7 A. 174, Rat. 331 (1887) fol. 11 C. W. N. 1128 doubted and distinguished.

—contrary view was held in 13 C. W. N. 418 where it was held that one trial of the accused for having been found in possession of stolen properties belonging to different persons and stolen at different times was illegal and also in 11 C. W. N. 1128, where it was held that section 234 refers to different acts done by the same individual or sets of individuals against the same complainant or complainants so connected with each other that they may in law be taken to be one person. (In this case three persons laid three separate complaints against the accused alleging that they committed rioting and individually caused hurt to each of the complainants and threw away and spoiled their foreign salts and other articles).

But the point has been set at rest by the insertion of the words “whether of the same person or not” in the section.

—this section applies where a person is accused of more offences than one; it does not apply where a person is charged for one offence only. 47 O. 151.

S. 234. Appliesability—contd.

—this section contemplates a joinder of charges for offences committed within one year 1905 P. R. 14 and it refers to offences and not to transactions. It does provide that all offences committed within one year in three different transactions may be tried and joined in one trial 10 S. L. R. 192, 30 M 328.

—where there was a charge of an offence under a 413 I. P. C. and some of several instances of the receipt of stolen property alleged were proved and the evidence did not make out a "habit" in the accused and the accused was thereupon convicted on separate charges for an offence under a. 411 I. P. C., the conviction was not illegal and a. 238 and not 231 or 236 applied to the case. 1928 All. 139 : 107 L. C. 241 : 29 Cr. L. J. 232

—this sec. does not apply where several persons are jointly accused but refers to the case of a single accused only 33 C. 292 :

—the word "a person" in ss. 234-238 includes a set of persons, having its ordinary and natural meaning as defined by the General Clauses Act and is not to be restricted to the singular number. 3 P. L. J. 224, 20 Cr. L. J. 354, M. W. N. (1919) 199, 3 P. L. J. 134 : 19 Cr. L. J. 673.

—the word "section" in this sec. is not invariably to be read as singular. It is not the intention of the Code, to exclude from the operation of the sec. an offence because it is made the subject of more than one charge. 33 B. 77, 221.

—the power given by the sec. is to be used with great care and caution when there are different complainants. 19 C. W. N. 557 : 16 Cr. L. J. 332.

—the sec. modifies a. 233, but there is nothing in the sec. to prevent an accused from being separately charged and tried on the same day for any number of distinct offences of the same kind committed within one year. 3 C 540 : 1 C. L. R. 478, 12 Bom. L. R. 226, 50 C. 632

—theft of two bicycles and the dishonest possession of them by different persons, knowing them to be stolen, form one transaction even though the receipt is not simultaneous with the theft. The joint trial of all of them is not bad in law, 44 A. 276 : 20 A. L. J. 96 : 67 I. C. 510.

—when a person is found in possession of a number of stolen articles, the offence committed by him (receiving stolen property) is a single offence and not a number of offences and it makes no difference whether the articles belong to a single owner or to different owners. But if there is evidence that the accused received the articles at different times or from different thieves, the case would be different. 45 A. 485, 50 C. 594, 3 Pat. 503 ; the mere fact that the goods stolen from two persons or on different occasions are found in the possession of the accused does not make it a distinct offence. 15 C. 511, 15 A. 317, but receiving stolen articles on different occasions though the articles were the proceeds of a single burglary, constitutes distinct offences. 2 Pat. —hurt caused to two persons 19 C. W. N. 972, or cheating three persons, 41 C. 66, 25 O. C. 151 or two attempts to cheat committed on two different dates. 2 C. L. J. 618, constitute distinct offences.

—wrongful confinement of several persons on several occasions constitute distinct offences. 1919 M. W. N. 199.

—receiving stolen articles on different occasions, though the articles were the proceeds of the single larceny, constitutes distinct offences 2 P. L. T. 47

Not exceeding three.

—an accused can only be charged and tried at one trial for any number of offences of the same kind not exceeding three and committed within the space of one year and each falsification of a book of account being a distinct offence under a. 477 A I. P. C., not more than three of such offences committed within the space of one year can be tried together, 26 C. 560, 30 M. 228, 1911 M. W. N. 536, 32 A. 57, 44 M. L. J. 67, 41 C. 722, but if such offences are committed in the course of a single transaction any number of them can be tried together 1912 M. W. N. 545.

—three charges of criminal misappropriation and a charge under section 210 I. P. C. 22 C. W. N. 596, three offences under section 411 I. P. C. and three offences under section 414 I. P. C. 49 C. 555, and three offences of forgery and three offences of criminal breach of trust 32 A. 219, 44 A. 540, cannot be tried together, —but when such offences are committed in the course of same transaction they may be joined together. 22 Cr. L. J. 230 (Pat.), 1912 M. W. N. 545.

—where three offences are offences of the same kind within the meaning of sec. 234 Cr. P. C. and they are committed within the space of one year the M. co. hold one trial 29 Cr. L. J. 287; 107 I. C. 826; 9 A. I. Cr. C. 483.

—where the charge consisted six distinct and separate charges of falsification of six separate and distinct accounts, the violation of the law under this section which provides that not more than three such offences should be tried together, rendered the trial illegal. 45 C. L. J. 1; 28 Cr. L. J. 291; 100 I. C. 371; 1927 Cal. 946.

—a single charge for three distinct offences under a. 420 I. P. C. in relation to three different persons committed within one month is not illegal. 96 I. C. 221; 1926 Pat. 347; 27 Cr. L. J. 909.

—the illegality of mis-joinder of charges cannot be cured by the judge by striking out one of the charges after the trial has closed, 29 M. 569, or by saying in his judgment that he would proceed only on the charges legally joined. 49 C. 555; 1922 Cal. 401.

Same transaction, what is?

—the word "transaction" suggests not necessarily proximity in time, so much as continuity of action and purpose. 34 B. 49 p 54

—the expression "same transaction" is incapable of exact definition. The area of facts covered by the expression varies with circumstances of each case 1925 Sind 233.

—whether the acts are so connected together as to form part of the same transaction is a question of fact. 1910 M. W. N. 511.

—the real test to determine whether several offences are so connected as to form the same transaction depends on whether they are so related to one another in points of purpose, or as cause and effect, or as principal and subsidiary acts, as to constitute one continuous offence 27 B. 135, 20 C. 822, 7 C. Amendments and scope of the section,

Sub sec. (2) of s. 237 has been transferred to this sec. and has been re-numbered as sub-sec (2A)

—the amendment of the section by the insertion of the clause 2A allows an accused person charged with a substantive offence to be convicted of an attempt to commit that offence though no separate charge is framed. 48 M. 774 85 I. C. 339. 1925 M. W. N. 113. 1925 Mad. 450 26 Cr. L. J. 755

—but under the same clause it is necessary that when an accused is charged with substantive offence he cannot be charged with abetment without a charge being framed. So an accused charged under s. 420 I. P. C. cannot be convicted under ss. 420 and 114 I. P. C. 44 C. L. J. 216; 99 I. C. 34; 1927 Cal. 63 28 Cr. L. J. 2.

—this is an enabling sec. and not imperative one. Rat. Un. Cr. 307.

Charge for substantive offence but conviction for attempt to commit that offence.

—an accused person charged with a substantive offence may be convicted of an attempt to commit that offence without a separate charge being framed. 48 M. 774; 85 I. C. 339; 1925 M. W. N. 113; 1925 Mad. 480; 26 Cr. L. J. 755, 113 I. C. 881; 30 Cr. L. J. 224, the test seems to be that all the legally necessary elements of the offence of which the accused is convicted are also necessary elements of the offence with which he is charged. 113 I. C. 881; 30 Cr. L. J. 224.

Charge for substantive offence but conviction for abetment.

S 239. Clause (a)—Persons accused of same offence committed in the course of same transaction.

—the words "same offence" signify one and the same physical act of crime and not different acts constituting crimes called by the same name or punishable under the same section. When two persons give false evidences in the same case, although they depose on the same day regard to the same matter and almost in the same words, they do not commit the same offence, which cannot be tried jointly. ent offences, which tried by them in the same transaction

—under s. 32 of the Evi. Act the expression "same offence" means the identical offence and not an offence of the same kind. 32 C. W. N. 1001.

—where there was no connecting link between the two persons found in possession of stolen properties and there was no suggestion that either or both of them were the original thieves and the only connecting link between them was that each of them retained some property stolen from the same complainant they cannot be tried together on a charge under s. 411 I. P. C., 20 A. L. J. 563, but if under similar circumstances the two accused were acting in concert and were in joint control of the stolen property their joint trial would not be illegal. 1 P. L. Clause (b)—Abettor of offence.

—this sec. allows an abettor to be tried with the principal, 15 C. L. J. 692, 18 A. 350, but the discretion must be exercised having regard to the facts of each particular case. 19 O. W. N. 121; 16 Cr. L. J. 348.

—ordinarily the correct course is to try an abettor with the primary offenders, but there may be circumstance justifying separate trial 1929 M. W. N. 796, 57 M. L. J. 754; 30 L. W. 736.

—when one person induces another to cheat and the latter attempts to cheat in consequence, they may be tried together for abetment of and attempt at cheating 38 C. 453.

—s. 234 permits joinder of three charges against one accused and s. 239 read with s. 234 permits the joinder of two charges against one accused and the charges of abetment of those two offences against the other accused; but there is no provision which permits the joinder of a third charge against one accused with either or both of the first two charges against the other accused. So when one accused is charged with three separate offences and the other accused is charged with abetment of two of these offences but not of abetment of the third s. 233 Cr. P. S. 239. Clause (d)—Different offences committed in the course of same transaction.

(1) Principle explaining the term "same transaction."

—the good test of what should or should not be regarded as the same transaction within s. 239, is the proximity of time, unity or proximity of place, continuity or design 35 C. L. J. 527, L. R. 73 : 8 Cr. L. J. 191, 21 S. L. 1927 Sind 39, it is substantia : 26 Cr. L. J. 29, 1923 All. 277.

—once charge of conspiracy is found, anything done in pursuance of the conspiracy can be tried at the trial for conspiracy for the offence of conspiracy and the offence committed in pursuance thereof, form one and the same transaction. 26 C. —in deciding whether offences are so committed as to form one and the same transaction the determining factor is not so much proximity in time as continuity and community of purpose and object 19 C. W. N. 676 : 23 C. W. N. 30 (note), 100 I. C. 965 : 1927 Lah 274 : 28 Cr. L. J. 357.

—the "same transaction" implies oneness of purpose. 119 I. C. 532

—it is not possible to frame a comprehensive formula of universal application to determine whether two or more acts constitute the same transaction. 35 C. L. J. 527.

—the legality of a joint trial depends on the accusation and not on the result of the trial. 49 C. 573 : 26 C. W. N. 680 : 35 C. L. J. 279, 3 Rang. 95 : 89 I. C. 305 : 1925 Rang. 296.

—the charge need not contain the statement as to unity of transaction. It is the tenor of the accusation and not the wording of the charge that must be considered as a test. 30 B. 49 : 7 Bom. L. R. 633.

—to constitute same transaction association must be continuous from start to finish. 31 C. 1033 : 8 C. W. N. 715, 29 B. 449 : 7 Bom. L. R. 507, 30 B. 49, 10 P. R. Cr. 1906 : 4 Cr. L. J. 285.

—the question whether the offences specified in different charges were committed in the same transaction is substantially a question of fact and admission on a question of fact made by an accused person can be received and acted upon by the trial Court. 83 I. C. 509 : 26 Cr. L. J. 29 : 1923 All. 277.

—in case of several accused the court should draw up the charges with care and frame specific charges against the accused. 1920 M. W. N. 149.

(2) Offences which are committed in the course of same transaction.

—before different offences can be said to have been committed "in the course of the same transaction" by different persons charged with the same it must be seen whether such persons had a common purpose resulting in actions which constitute a conciens of events ultimately leading to the commission of such offences 1927 Lah. 274 100 I. —In discharging an accused on the ground of misjoinder of parties the S. J. may order retrial. 28 C. 104

—when during trial the facts proved disclose different offences committed by several accused the trying court should try the accused separately 31 P. R. Cr. 1905: 165 P. L. R. 1905 3 Cr. L. J. 76

—joint trial of the accused for different offences is illegal if the offences were not committed in the same transaction. 7 Lah. L. J. 64, 1925 Lah. 326.

Effect of misjoinder

—a misjoinder contravening the provisions of this section is not a mere irregularity which can be cured by the provisions of section 537, 15 Cr. L. J. 420 (Oudh) or by waiver or consent of parties or their pleaders 6 C. 96.

—in discharging an accused on the ground of misjoinder of parties the S. J. may order retrial 28 C. 104.

—a separate trial is the rule and joint trial is the exception and it is for the prosecution to justify joint trial 45 A. 223

—where in a joint trial the proceedings have been illegal from the very beginning, quashing the charges against one accused does not validate the trial. 97 I. C. 363, 27 Cr. L. J. 1099: 1927 Nag. 22.

Miscellaneous.

—a material alteration in the charge at the close of the trial renders the whole trial bad 1920 M. W. N. 149.

—in case of joint trial the judgment should show on the face of it that the case of each accused has been taken into consideration. 35 C. 138

—the S. J. is the original court of original jurisdiction and cannot amend or add charges with regard to matters not covered by the indictment. 1920 M. W. N. 149, 32 C. 22 fol.

S. 241. (Procedure in summons case).

—in the investigation of complaint which forms the subject of two distinct charges arising out of the same transaction, one of which is a summons case and the other a warrant case the procedure of warrant case should be adopted. 11 C. 91: 3 L. B. R. 113: 3 Cr. L. J. 350.

—a warrant case cannot be tried under this chapter. 7 M. 454.

—when a warrant case is tried under this chapter it is more than an irregularity and the conviction should be set aside. 29 M. 372, 17 P. R. 1887, 36 M. 457: 22 M. L. J. 73.

—a summons case cannot be committed to the court of sessions. 1906 A. W. N. 28.

—S. 205 is applicable to both summons and warrant cases. 21 C. 588.

—if a warrant case is tried under the summons case procedure, the M. cannot convict the accused on his own admission without recording evidence and without framing a formal charge. 27 C. W. N. 923.

—in the trial of an ordinary summons or warrant case an accused person is not, before his appearance, entitled to any information as to the details of prosecution evidence. 1930 All. 272 1930 Cr. C. 442: 1930 A. L. J. 339.

S. 242. (Substance of accusations to be stated).

—omission to comply with the provision of sec 242 is an illegality and not a mere irregularity that can be cured by s. 537 Cr. P. C. Where a M. in a summons case objects to state to the accused the particulars of the offence with which he is charged it amounts to an illegality vitiating the sentence. 31 C. W. N. 167; 99 I. —this sec. does not make the examination of the complainant in a summons case absolutely necessary. 24 C. W. N. 199.

—the accused should not be discharged before complying with the requirements of this sec. simply because the prosecution witnesses are not present. 22 C. W. N. 33 (note).

—in a summons case, the first thing to be done is to ask the accused what he has got to say. 13 Cr. L. J. 488. 15 Ind. C. 488.

—the accused should have a clear statement made to him that he is about to be put on his trial and as to the offence or facts constituting the offence. 3 C. L. R. 87.

—rules as to joinder of charges apply to summons cases, 3 L. B. R. 52 F. B.

—if summons case is jointly tried with warrant case charge should be framed. 29 C. 481.

S. 247 Cr. P. C. lays down a general principle that a person charged with a summons case offence is entitled to an acquittal if the complainant is absent and there is no reason why this right be denied to him simply because the M. has adopted the procedure of a warrant case in the trial. 44 M. L. J. 119: 72 I. C. 815.

S. 247. Applicability of the section—contd

—this section does not apply to proceedings under s. 107 of the Code. 31 C. W. N. 358: 45 C. L. J. 211. 101 I. C. 607. 1927 Cal. 343: 28 Cr. L. J. 479.

—this sec. gives the M. a discretion and the absence of the complainant in a summons case cannot result in an acquittal of accused without the M. passing an order to that effect. 1923 Cal. 725.

—this section merely authorises the court to adjourn the case to enable the complainant to appear but does not authorise him to dispense with the presence of the complainant except when he is a public servant. 96 I. C. 878: 1926 Lah. 628. 27 Cr. L. J. 1022.

—cases instituted under s. 195 cannot be dismissed for non-appearance. Rat. Un. Cr. 137.

—an order of acquittal for non-appearance, in an warrant case, is illegal and a Pr. M. who passes such an order can revive the complaint. 28 C. 652 F. B., 28 C. 211. 1 C. W. N. 49.

—the right to an acquittal of the accused under s. 247 accrues under two conditions and is dependent firstly on the absence of the complainant and secondly on the court not adjourning the case. If a case is not taken up at all, it cannot be said that the second condition is fulfilled. 87 I. C. 970: 26 Cr. L. J. 1050: 1926 Cal. 102.

Procedure in a mixed case.

—when the investigation forms the subject of two distinct charges arising out of the same transaction one of which is a summons and the other a warrant case the procedure of warrant-case shall apply. 11 C. 91, 41 M. 727.

Appearance.

—appearance by pleader is not sufficient unless specially allowed. 2 Weir 309.

—the presence of the complainant's vakil is not sufficient compliance with the requirements of this section and does not take away the Magistrate's jurisdiction to proceed under this section. 49 M. 833: 27 Cr. L. J. 988: 1926 Mad. 1009: 86 I. C. 652: 51 M. L. J. 730.

—the M. is empowered to dismiss the complaint if the complainant does not appear when the case is called on for hearing even though he appeared soon after. 7 M. 213.

—the M. is not bound to wait for the complainant till the close of the day. 7 M. 213, 49 M. 883: 96 I. C. 652: 27 Cr. L. J. 988: 1926 M. W. N. 928.

—If a Bench summon a party to appear on a certain day at 11 A.M. and the party appears and the Bench does not sit until 2 P. M. and the party does not wait, it cannot be said that the party has failed to appear. 99 I. C. 944: 1927 Mad. 393: 28 Cr. L. J. 208.

S. 247. Appearance—contd.

—there is nothing in the section justifying the construction that the words "upon any day appointed for the appearance of the accused etc" mean any time before the close of the working day. 49 M 883 : 1926 Mad 1009 : 1926 M W. N. 928 : 96 I. C. 652 : 27 Cr. L. J. 988.

Death and substitution of complainant.

—this sec. applies to complainant who is alive but does not appear, and not to one who dies before trial, so the son may be substituted. 20 C. W. N. 862 : 18 Cr. L. J. 154.

—the death of a servant who had complained for his master cannot be a ground for acquittal under this sec. and another servant may come in. 18 C. W. N. 1211, 1. P. L. J. 262.

—the maxim of "actio personalis moritur cum persona" in civil law confined to torts does not apply to a case of non-cognizable offence instituted upon complaint and the trying M. has discretion in proper cases to allow the complaint to continue by a proper and fit representative 28 Bom. L. R. 283. 93 I. C. 891. 1926 Bom 178 : 27 Cr. L. J. 491.

—when the complainant died and his nephew was allowed to be substituted and the case started under s 352 I. P. C. it was bad as the accused should have been acquitted. 19 C. W. N. 334 : 16 Cr. L. J. 322

Adjourned hearing

—when the complainant fails to appear the M. has a discretion either to dismiss the complaint and to acquit the accused or to adjourn the hearing or he can even proceed to examine the witnesses in the absence of the complainant 24 C. W. N. 199.

—the M. can adjourn the hearing for the purpose of allowing the accused time to secure the attendance of his witnesses. 16 W. R. 21.

—but he cannot adjourn the hearing unless there are sufficient and proper grounds for doing so. The fact of the accused being guilty of the contempt of the process of the court is no good ground for proceeding with the case 17 C. W. N. 159.

—where the adjourned hearing is not known to the complainant order of dismissal is illegal. 8 M. H. C. R. Ap. 51, 6 W. R. Cr. 58

—so also when the M. did not specify the place where the case was to be taken up but ordered the parties to appear either at Aligarh or at Talibnagar. 1882 A. W. N. 229.

—where the case was, after examination of the witnesses on both sides, adjourned for argument and for the purpose of oral and documentary evidence being explained, the hearing of the case did not end and this sec. applied. 18 C. W. N. 584 : 15 Cr. L. J. 163, 22 W. R. 40.

S. 247. Adjourned hearing—con'd.

—but when after hearing argument date was fixed for delivering judgment this sec did not apply. 23 C W. N. 932; 20 Cr. L. J. 992; 45 C 867, 2 N. L. J. 63; 19 N. L. R. 48, 711 C 669.

—the complaint ought not to be dismissed for default on an adjourned date, unless the M. has seen fit, for sufficient reasons, to require his attendance specially on that date. 2 Weir 306, 7 M 213, 2 Weir 477, 46 C 867.

Mistake of the Court.

—when the case was by mistake called on a date not fixed and the accused was acquitted for non appearance of complainant the M. can proceed with the case at the date fixed. 18 C W. N. 1180; 6 Cr. L. J. 148

Absence of complainant owing to mistake or other reasons.

—If the complainant is, by mistake present in another room of the court-house, no order of dismissal should be passed under this sec. 24 C L. J. 441, 18 Cr. L. J. 104, 13 C. L. R. 303, 47 C 147

—nor any order of dismissal should be passed when the complainant cannot appear owing to circumstances beyond his control. 24 W. R. 64, 5 W. S. 247. Order of acquittal of accused for non-appearance of complainant—contd.

—where the complaint in a summons case is dismissed for default the order is under this sec. and tantamounts to acquittal and does not fall within s. 436 Cr. P. C., 77 I. C. 295 : 25 Cr. L. J. 359.

—the Magistrate is not entitled under s. 247 to record the order "struck off" nor is he, in a case which he has not tried, entitled to record the order of acquittal on the second complaint. The most he can do is to record an order of discharge. 10 Bom. L. R. 623 : 8 Cr. L. J. 139.

—the right of an accused to an acquittal under this section accrues under two conditions and is dependent firstly on the absence of the complainant and secondly on the Court not adjourning the case. —the order under this section does neither amount to an acquittal nor to a discharge, so does not bar further proceedings in accordance with law. 1913 P R. 9.

S. 250. (Frivolous or vexatious accusation).

The sec has been recast and fully amplified giving legislative sanction to the decisions of the High Courts regarding the way in which the powers under the sec. should be exercised.

The important changes are following :—

The words "false and either frivolous or vexatious" have been substituted for the words "frivolous or vexatious".

(1) Under the old law the order to pay compensation was part of the order of discharge or acquittal and irrespective of the complainant remaining absent or present The amendment provides to call upon the complainant, if present forthwith to show cause why he should not pay compensation and if absent, to summon him to appear and show cause

(2) The limit of the amount of compensation has been increased from Rs. 50 to Rs. 100 if the Magistrate is not a Magistrate of the third class

(3) Under the old law imprisonment could be awarded in case the compensation could not be recovered but under the amendment the Magistrate is empowered to award imprisonment in default of payment of compensation, by the order of compensation itself.

(4) Sub-sections (2-B) and (2-C) are new, the former making the provisions of ss 68 and 69 of the I. P. C. applicable when any person is imprisoned and the latter not exonerating the complainant from being further liable in the Civil or Criminal Court.

S. 250. The important changes are following :—contd.

(6) Under the old law no appeal would lie from the order of the 1st class M. but under this amendment such appeal will lie if such Magistrate awards compensation exceeding fifty rupees.

(7) Sub-section (4) has been amended allowing one month's time from the date of the order in case no appeal lies.

(1) Object of the section.

(2) Applicability of the section.

(3) "Discharges or acquits the accused."

"By his order of discharge or acquittal."

(4) "False and either frivolous or vexatious."

(5) Upon whose complaint or information the accusation was made i. e. Who is to pay compensation.

(6) To whom compensation is awardable.

(7) Amount and nature of compensation.

(8) Procedure.

(9) Appeal and Revision.

(1) Object of the section.

—the object of this sec. is not to punish the complainant, but to award by summary order some compensation to the person against whom a frivolous or vexatious complaint is brought, leaving it to him to obtain further redress by a regular civil suit or criminal prosecution. 30 C. 123 p. 129 F. B. This ruling has been given effect to by the insertion of sub-cl. (2 C.) in the amendment.

Right of the accused to cross-examine.

—according to the plain language of the section the accused has a right to have the witnesses for the prosecution recalled and cross-examined after the framing of the charge 7 C. L. J. 240, 24 Cr. L. J. 371, 1 P. L. T. 652, 4 M. 230, 104 I. C. 637 : 1927 Rang. 248 : 28 Cr. L. J. 861.

omission is a mere irregularity and the conviction is not thereby vitiated. 16 Cr. L. J. 5 (Mad.)

—while the Bombay H. C. has held that it would depend on the facts of each case whether the failure to comply with the mandatory provisions of s. 256 amounts to a mere irregularity of procedure or to an illegality vitiating the trial and where the accused is prejudiced it is an illegality. In this case where the charge was framed the pleader of the accused was absent and when the M. required the accused to state forthwith whether they wished to cross-examine the prosecution witnesses the accused applied for an adjournment which was rejected by the Magistrate, held that the procedure

—where prosecution witnesses are recalled for cross-examination at the instance of the accused, after charge has been framed, it is not always under s. 256 81 I. C. 976 : 26 Cr. L. J. 1152

—where the prosecution witnesses have been recalled for further cross-examination in a warrant case under s. 256, the omission for the court to examine the accused thereafter is a serious irregularity, 45 M. L. J. 402 : 1922 M. W. N. 601

—where no accused presented, after the close of the evidence

—the M. is bound to recall the witness if so claimed by the accused, even if they were cross-examined before the framing of the charge, that the accused would not be prejudiced by the circumstances of the case, senses of recall, 6 C. W. N.

—when the accused asked for the recalling of the prosecution witnesses for cross-examination after the framing of the charge under s. 256 Cr. P. C. the M. cannot direct the witnesses to be produced after the accused has deposited the cost of their attendance. Such order cannot be justified under s. 257 (2) if no opportunity was given to the accused for that purpose under s. 56. 93 I. C. 963 : 5 Pat. 110 : 27 Cr. L. J. 499 : 1927 Pat. 214.

—where the prosecution witnesses are recalled by the accused

—as a general proposition it can be said that once a M. has given order that a certain witness should be called he should take steps to enforce his attendance. 90 I. C. 923; 26 Cr. L. J. 1627; 1926 Pat. 139, 95 I. C. 761; 1926 Cal. 1088; 27 Cr. L. J. 841; but if he later comes to the conclusion, as in the case of a prosecution who had already been cross-examined at great length, that his presence is not really necessary it cannot be said that he has no jurisdiction to dispense with his attendance and in the absence of prejudice there will be no ground for interference. 90 I. C. 923; 1926 Pat. 139; 26 Cr. L. J. 1627.

—where an accused cross-examined or had the opportunity to cross-examine the prosecution witness after the framing of charge, the M. may refuse the application made by the accused to summon the prosecution witnesses for cross-examination unless he is satisfied that it is necessary for the purpose of justice. 92 I. C. 865; 1925 Pat. 696; 27 Cr. L. J. 353. 6 P. L. T. 626.

—if a M. refuses to examine a defence witness present in court though requested by the accused, the procedure is illegal. 4 Bom. L. R. 461.

Recording grounds of refusal.

—omission to record reasons for refusing to summon witnesses vitiates trial. 51 C. 1044; 84 I. C. 864; 1925 Cal. 411; 26 Cr. L. J. 384, 76 I. C. 1030; 25 Cr. L. J. 310; 1905 Cal. 80, 3 A. 392; 1895 A. W. N. 40, 4 C. W. N. 241, 4 Bom. L. R. 38, 24 Cr. L. J. 831, 25 Cr. L. J. 310.

—where a M. rejected an application after recording on the ground of it being made "too late" it is a sufficient compliance with this section, 39 C. 781, stating facts leading irresistively to the conclusion that the application was for no other purpose than that of vexation or delay or defeating ends of justice is sufficient compliance with the section. 11 C. W. N. 789.

Effect of refusal.

—in case of refusal to summon witnesses if the accused is prejudiced, the H. C. will direct to re-open the case; 14 C. W. N. 280; Rat. Un. Cr. 723, 1925 Cal. 80; 76 I. C. 1030; 25 Cr. L. S. 257. Production of documents.

—before granting a summons for the production of the documents in the possession of the prosecution under this section the M. should satisfy himself that the documents called for have some bearing on the issues in the case and are relevant. 8 S. L. R. 267

Deposit of expenses.

—the ordinary rule is that in warrant cases the costs of causing the attendance of witnesses of the accused should be borne by the Crown, unless adequate reason be assigned for a departure from this rule 29 Cr. L. J. 459; 108 I. C. 907, 1929 Lab. 23; 117 I. C. 667 30 Cr. L. J. 814.

S. 258. Acquittal—contd.

—where a M. passes an order of acquittal under this section the S. J. cannot treat it as an order of discharge and direct a commitment of the accused under s. 436 (now 537), 43 M. 330.

—it is not necessary that the conviction or acquittal should be by the same M. who framed the charge. 3 C. 495.

S. 259 (Absence of complainant.)

—it is not in every warrant case, that a M. will be competent to pass an order of discharge on account of the absence of the complainant, the warrant case must fall under this section. 10 C. 67, 1891 A. W. N. 116.

—but the fact that a summons instead of a warrant has been issued in the first instance will not exclude a warrant case from the operation of this section. 10 W. R. 31.

—issue of summons does not make a warrant-case a summons case and the M. cannot dismiss it for the non-attendance of the complainant. 10 W. R. Cr. 31.

S. 260. Power to try summarily.Applicability of the section.

—the provisions of this chapter do not apply to trials before the Presidency M. Rat. Un. Cr. 539.

What is summary trial.

—summary trial implies speedy disposal of a case which can be tried and disposed of at once. 1891 A. W. N. 183, 25 W. R. Cr. 65, see also, 1892 A. W. N. 30.

Duty of the Court trying summarily.Formalities must be observed.

—the M. who acts under this chapter should most strictly observe the formalities which it provides. 22 W. R. Cr. 28, 9 C. W. N. 76 (note).

Responsibility is very great.

—the responsibility thrown on M. entrusted with summary powers, is very great and the responsibility of those who have to entrust them with such powers is equally great. 31 A. 189.

When questions of title or other intricate questions are involved.

—in a criminal case the M. should not try a case which involved intricate questions of title or other intricate questions of law. He should exercise his discretion and refer the case to a J. or a Bench. 3 Pat. L. T.

—In cases of title disputes or in important cases the M. should not proceed summarily. 25 W. R. Cr. 65, 4 C. W. N. 247, 1 P. L. T. 121, 3 P. L. T. 347.

J. 697.

—it is illegal to minimize an offence shutting the Court's eyes to a graver offence in order to justify itself to try the case summarily. 51 A. 540; 27 A. L. J. 340; 116 I. C. 789; 30 Cr. L. J. 686; 1929 All. 349.

When insufficient materials are submitted—upon inadequate materials witness and passing a non-verdict. 341 (note).

—the nature of the summary procedure should appear on the face of the record. 20 W. R. Cr. 17.

Notes of evidence form part of the record.

—notes of evidence taken in a summary trial form part of the record and the M. is bound to keep them on the record and should not destroy them. 89 I. C. 974; 26 Cr. L. J. 1454.

S. 260. Changing procedure during trial, effect of.

—If during the inquiry of an offence under Ss 147 and 324, the M. after hearing evidence, is of opinion that an offence under s. 323 has been committed, he may try summarily, 22 M. 459, such change L. R. 185.

—the H. C. can on revision enhance the sentence, passed summarily, upto two years. Bom. H. C. Cr. Rul. 30th July 1883 F. B.

S. 263. Recording of evidence—contd.

—but a contrary view has been expressed by the Divisional Bench of the Allahabad H. C. differing from the above case of 48 C. 280, holding that the provisions of ss. 263 and 264 Cr. P. C. are not controlled by s. 355 Cr. P. C. In cases under ss. 263 and 264 the M. is perfectly free to take such notes as he pleases, or if he prefers, to take none at all and when he takes such notes they are his private property which he can treat exactly as he pleases. 59 I. C. 225: 1927 All. 127: 28 Cr. L. J. 97: 49 A. 261: 25 A. L. J. 140 and that in a summary trial a M. can destroy his notes of evidence. 101 I. C. 174: 25 A. L. J. 346: 28 Cr. L. J. 442: 49 A. 562: 1927 All. 480, (48 C. 280 diss., 25 A. L. J. 140 fol.); so also it has been held by the Bombay H. C. that under s. 264 of the Cr. P. C. the judgment is the only record in cases which are tried summarily and in which an appeal lies and that the rough and incomplete notes of evidence taken in the trial cannot and should not be transmitted and attached to the record. 29 Bom. L. R. 710, 26 Cr. L. J. 1026 Fol., and also by the Madras H. C. that an appellate court cannot, in order to test the substance of the evidence forming part of the judgment under s. 264, call for or consult such materials as may exist outside the record, such as notes of evidence taken by the M. 99 I. C. 346: 52 M. L. J. 32: 23 Cr. L. J. 138: 1927 M. W. N. 40: 1927 Mad 298.

Framing of charge.

—this section exempts the M. from framing a charge in cases in which no appeal lies, if appealable sentence is passed, charge must be framed, 27 C. W. N. 923, but it has been held by the Punjab H. C. that the framing of a formal charge in writing is not necessary in a summary trial whether the case is appealable or not. 94 I. C. 415: 1926 Lah. 301: 27 Cr. L. J. 639: 27 Punj. L. R. 265, and also recently by the Calcutta H. C. that it is doubtful whether a formal charge should be framed in a summary trial even if appealable sentence is passed because s. 263 does not mention the need for framing such a charge. In any case the failure to frame such a formal charge under s. 264 would be cured by s. 535 Cr. P. C., 53 C. 738: 93 I. C. 191: 1926 Cal. 1202.

—where process was issued on a charge under ss. 147 and 323 I. P. C. but after summary trial the accused was convicted under s. 323 I. P. C., the conviction was illegal as the M. had no jurisdiction to try the accused summarily for an offence under s. 147 I. P. C. and the omission to frame a charge under s. 147 I. P. C. was not a mere irregularity to be cured by s. 537 Cr. P. C. 52 B. 254: 1928 Bom. 142: 29 Cr. L. J. 492: 30 Bom. L. R. 371: 109 I. C. 220.

—the offence in respect of which the process is issued determines whether a particular accused has been tried for an offence in a case where the trial is held summarily. the same case.

—though no formal charge is to be framed yet the M. must specify the offence in such way as to give the accused sufficient notice of it. 16 C. W. N. 696, 1882 A. W. N. 59, 1 Bur. L. R. 594.

S. 263. Framing of charge—contd.

—it cannot be said that in summary trial misjoinder of charge can be made without remedy. The same rules of law as apply to charge in warrant cases must apply to the particulars set out in section 263 in a summary record. 16 C. W. N. 69.

Offence is to be stated.

—the facts found by the M. must show what offence has been committed. 3 C. W. N. 281, 1857 P. R. 7, 1849 P. R. 5.

—the record must show the necessary ingredients of the offence charged. 3 L. R. R. 3.

—the offence charged, the offence proved and the reasons for conviction must be recorded. 2 C. L. J. 563; 10 C. W. N. 79; 3 Cr. L. J. 178.

—the record should show clearly the precise nature of the offence and should be complete in all particulars. 1852 A. W. N. 53.

Examination of accused and recording of his plea.

—in all warrant cases the accused must be examined under s. 342 and cl. (g) of the acc. does not give the M. any discretion as to the examination of the accused in a warrant case. The words "if any" in that clause are intended for summons cases and do not apply to warrant cases. 18 C. W. N. 1247; 41 C. 743; 15 Cr. L. J. 190; 22 Ind. C. 766.

—even the plea of the accused cannot take the place of the examination of the accused and render it unnecessary. 3 P. L. T. 347.

—the words "if any" in cl. (g) do not limit the obligation imposed on courts by s. 342 or render it inapplicable to summary trials. 90 I. C. 434; 26 Cr. L. J. 1554.

—omission to record the plea under cl. (g) is fatal. 9 C. W. N. 76 (note), 94 I. C. 408; 1926 Nag. 360; 27 Cr. L. J. 632; 22 N. L. R. 65.

Finding and reasons for conviction.

—though a trial before a M. is summary the M. must give reasons though briefly, for justifying the conviction. 3 Pat. L. T. 499; 65 I. C. 446.

—the reason should include the findings of fact on which the conviction is based. 3 C. W. N. 281, 21 A. 189, 9 C. W. N. 75 (note).

—the reasons for the conviction must be stated in such a manner that the H. C. may in revision judge whether there were sufficient materials before the M. to justify the conviction. 1885 A. W. N. 213; 3 C. W. N. 281, 1899 A. W. N. 81, 1883 A. W. N. 114, 1886 A. W. N. 181, 3 P. L. T. 499, 6 C. 579, 19 Cr. L. J. 719. (Pat.)

—the M. should set out so much of the reason that have influenced him, as to satisfy the accused that the M. has considered each of the ingredients of the offence necessary in law for the particular conviction; this should be recorded with brevity, but the brevity should not be such as to tend to obscurity. 21 A. 189, 10 A. L. J. 251.

S. 263. Finding and reasons for conviction—contd.

—a judgment in a single line is not a judgment according to law. 20 Cr. L. J. 431 (Pat.)

—failure to record a brief statements of reasons is fatal and the whole proceedings are illegal and liable to be set aside. 6 C. W. N. 40, 18 B. 97, 6 C. 679, 1 P. L. T. 716, 13 C. P. L. R. 17, 1927 Nag. 250: 101 I C 671: 23 Cr L. J. 495, 1928 All. 266: 26 A. L. J. 109: 107 I. C. 592.

—omission to comply with the requirements of cl. (h), in a case in which no appeal lies, may, in some cases, be remedied at a subsequent period, 6 C. L. R. 273 but the defect cannot be cured by explanation sent to the H. C. in pursuance of a rule issued. 9 C. W. N. 75 (note).

—but if the record submitted under s. 441 Cr. P. C. discloses sufficient grounds for the decision, the H. C. condones the irregularity provided no failure of justice has occurred 48 M. 253: 44 M. L. J. 84: 11 I C. 212

—the omission of the reasons for the conviction is no doubt an irregularity but unless it has prejudiced the accused there would be no interference in revision. 81 I. C. 908: 1924 Mad. 799: 25 Cr. L. J. 1084

—the omission to comply with cl. (b), of s. 263 Cr. P. C. on the part of the Bench Magistrates trying a criminal case is only an irregularity which can be cured under s. 537 where the case was non-appealable one and there was clear evidence justifying the conviction. 26 Bom L. R. 1236 contra. 44 M. L. J. 84: 46 M. 253: 71 I C. 212.

S. 264. (Record in appealable cases.)

—a M. passing an appealable sentence cannot make his record in the manner prescribed by section 263, but must record the evidence and frame a charge 27 C. W. N. 923, but it has been recently held that it is doubtful whether a formal charge should be framed in a summary trial even if appealable sentence is passed because s. 263 a charge.

—omission to frame a formal charge under s. 264 would be cured by s. 535 Cr. P. C.: 53 I. C. 738: 98 I. C. 191: 1926 Cal. 1201, 85 I. C. 146: 1925 Bom. 138: 26 Cr. L. J. 466.

—sub-section 2 of s. 264 read with the opening words of s. 265 makes it clear that the judgment alone embodying the substance of the evidence and particulars mentioned in s. 263 is the self-contained record of the case and apart from this record there is no other. 94 I. —the record must be made up at the time of the trial and not subsequently from memory or from rough notes. 15 M. 83; and the judgment in appealable cases must be written by the Judge himself. 6 M. 396

—under s. 261 the judgment being the sole record of the trial the rough notes taken by the Judge cannot be attached to the record as part of it. When the evidence is bulky or the offence a complicated one the summary procedure ought not to be adopted. 87 I. C. 914: 26 Cr. L. J. 1026, this case has been followed in 1927 Bom. 426: 29 Bom. L. R. 710: 28 Cr. L. J. 537: 102 I. C. 345, where it has also been said that there is some justification for saying that such notes cannot be destroyed in cases falling under s. 255 Cr. P. C.

—where a M. made rough notes of the evidence which he subsequently copied and placed on the record and destroyed the original notes and introduced into the case the facts of another case which he tried at the same time, the procedure was irregular and illegal and the destruction of the original note was tantamount to destroying the original record with the result that there was no legal evidence on the record for the consideration of the appellate Court. 1 P. L. T. 63. Contra, the judgment being the sole record rough notes cannot be attached to the record as part of it. 87 I. C. 914: 26 Cr. L. J. 1026: 1925 Sind. 281, 1927 Bom. 426: 29 Bom. L. —the omission to record the substance of the evidence in the judgment renders the conviction bad and it cannot be cured by sec. 537 Cr. P. C., 1928 Bom. 433: 30 Bom. L. R. 954: 112 I. C. 21.

S. 264. (Record in appealable cases)—contd.

—the defect in recording the evidence is not always a sufficient ground for quashing the conviction. The Appellate court may require the lower Court to remedy the defect by properly recording the evidence in fresh judgment after re-examining the witnesses or it may order a re-trial. 1 A. 680.

S. 265 (Language of record and judgment).

—the judgment in appealable cases must be written by the Judge himself. 6 M. 396.

—a judgment signed by the Presiding Officer of a Bench of Magistrates is a good one but where the Presiding Officer wrote the judgment, signed and delivered it after other members, had left the Court, the judgment was not a proper judgment and conviction must be set aside. 52 M. 237: 1928 M. S. 266. (Trial before Court of Sessions to be by jury or with assessors)

—in the absence of any notification under s. 269, a trial in the Court of Sessions must be with the aid of assessors. 18 P. R. 1898.

—the law makes no distinction as to the procedure at the trial between a trial by jury and one with the aid of assessors except as to the summing up of the case to the jury and the manner in which the verdict of the jury and opinion of the assessors are taken. 33 B. 423.

—the Sessions Judge is exactly in the same position as the jury in dealing with the evidence. 27 C. 295

—the jury form a tribunal or body with a foreman and the verdict is the verdict of the body and when there is no unanimity among the members of the body, the opinion of the majority prevails. But the assessors do not form a body and the Judge is to invite the opinion of each separately and he is the sole judge of law and fact. 24 M. 523, 11 M. L. J. 241, 13 A. 337, 6 C. W. N. 715, 14 Bom. —the S. J. after erroneously taking the verdict of the jury in a case triable with the aid of assessors cannot correct his mistake by treating the verdict as opinion delivered by assessors, 25 C. 655, 9 M. 44, 23 B. 624, 26 M. 243, 3 C. 765, in such a case an appeal lies only on a point of law and not on a matter of fact, 25 B. 640, F. B. 33 B. 423

—under sub-sec. (3) an accused may be simultaneously tried at one trial by the jury for offences triable by jury and with the aid of the same jurors as assessors for offences triable with the aid of assessors 2, L. W. 933, 30 I. C. 1305, but the Judge must always preserve a distinction between the two cases. He must separately record the verdict of the jury in the jury case and the opinions of the jurors as assessors in the assessor-case. If he disagrees with the verdict of the jury he must not send the whole case to the High Court but must send only the jury-case under s. 307 and pass judgment in assessor-case under s. 309 Cr. P. C. 9 Bom. L. R. 1057, Ratanlal 600. Moreover in such cases all the jurors in the jury-case must serve as assessors in the assessor-case, 26 M. 593, 21 M. L. J. 530, 10 M. L. T. 22, 10 I. C. 231.

—the words "same trial" in clause (3) cannot be read as taking away the right of appeal given by section 420 Cr. P. C. 38 I. C. 730 (M).

—sub section (3) provides for certain advantages to the accused, such as trial by jurors as assessors for offence not triable by jury and it would be manifestly illegal to deprive him of such advantages by splitting up the trial. 97 I. C. 364; 1927 Pat. 13; 6 Pat. 308; 27 Cr. L. J. 1100.

—where the accused was charged with an offence under s. 412 I. P. C. and tried by a jury but was convicted of an offence under s. 411 I. P. C. though there was no charge framed for this offence, held that the clause (3) of this section did not apply as no charge was framed under s. 411, and under s. 238 Cr. P. C. the accused can be convicted for a minor offence; so no appeal lies on facts under s. 418 of this Code. 94 I. C. 602; 1926 Bom. 134; 27 Cr. L. J. 650; 27 Bom. L. R. 1416.

S. 270. Trial before Court of Sessions to be conducted by Public Prosecutor.

—the absence of a Public Prosecutor in a particular case is at most an irregularity curable under s. 537. 35 P. R. 1887.

—the public prosecutor may avail himself of the services of the pleader engaged by the private complainant. 11 B. H. C. R. 102

—an advocate of the H. C. may appear on behalf of the prosecution in the Court of Sessions and may conduct the prosecution without being specially empowered by the M. for that purpose. 23 W. R. 14.

S. 271. Charge

—the charge sheet to which the accused is called upon to plead is a very important document, it should be drawn up and considered with extreme care and caution so that the accused may have full knowledge of the offence with which he is charged and the Appellate Court also may have clear idea of it. It should be read over and explained to the accused and every addition and alteration made in the charge must also be read over and explained; when this is not done the record should contain explanation thereof, 18 A. L. J. 442

Plea of guilty.

—the accused can plead guilty under s. 271 or he can claim to be tried under s. 272 or he can refuse to plead which is taken to be the same as claiming to be tried. The plea of "not guilty" is not recognised by the Code, 41 C. 1072.

S. 271. Acceptance of plea of guilty

—the provisions of section 271 Cr. P. C., that the plea should be recorded and the accused may be convicted thereon clearly leaves it open to the court to refuse to accept the plea and lay the case before the jury or assessors, or in the case of Magistrate to try the question of the accused's guilt himself 13 C. W. N. 552.

Effect of plea of guilty on co-accused.

—where an accused person has pleaded guilty and the court is prepared to convict on that plea, it is contrary to the spirit of the law to postpone the conviction so that the person who had pleaded guilty may technically be said to be tried jointly for the same offence with other co-accused and any statement in the nature of a confession may be used against them. 30 A. 540, 12 A. —but the above cases reported in 23 A. 53, 30 A. 540, 25 M. 61 and 19 B. 195 were referred to and explained in a case by the Calcutta H. —where the requisite number of jurors being absent, the deficiency was made up from other persons present in court who were called as jurors, the trial was not vitiated though they were not in the jury list and were not chosen by lot. 29 C. W. N. 652; 86 I. C. 467; 26 Cr. L. J. 819; 1925 Cal. 798.

—where out of 12 jurors summoned to attend only 5 appeared and those were empanelled as jurors, the trial was held to be illegal and not irregular only as there were not enough jurors present to permit of their being chosen by lot, the proper course being to make good the deficit by choosing some other persons who were present and adding their names to the five jurors and from the whole body choosing the necessary five by lot to act as jury. 44 C. L. J. 541; 99 I. C. 930; 1927 Cal. 242; 28 Cr. L. J. 194, this case has been followed in 46 C. L. J. 160; 31 C. W. N. 1102; 104 I. C. 905; 1927 Cal. 787; 28 Cr. L. J. 889 which has held that the word "required" in the proviso must refer and is related to the words immediately preceding viz., "in case of deficiency of persons summoned" and the word "chosen" means chosen by lot. So the deficiency cannot be made good otherwise than by lottery from those persons present in court. Similar case. 104 I. C. 459; 28 Cr. L. J. 843; 1928 Pat. 31; 7 Pat. 50; 9 Pat. L. J. 615, but this provision of choosing by lot is applicable only when the persons summoned are present in such number as to make it possible to choose them by lot. When such number is not present the Judge is to take the help of persons present in court to form the jury. The words "deficiency" and "number of jurors required" in the second proviso mean deficiency in the number of jurors required to make up the jury and not to make up a sufficient number for the purpose of selection by lot. 52 C. 1026; 31 C. W. N. 711; 102 I. C. 903; 1927 Cal. 593; 28 Cr. L. J. 615.

S. 288. Evidence given at preliminary inquiry admissible.Amendments.

~~now~~ (i) The word "recorded" has been substituted for "taken."

(ii) "Under Chap. XVIII" have been substituted for "before committing Magistrate."

S. 288. Amendments—contd.

(iii) "For all purposes subject to the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act 1872" have been added.

Object of the section and of the amendment.

—the substitution of the words "duly recorded in the presence of the accused under Chap. XVIII" for the words "duly taken in the presence of the accused before the committing Magistrate," by the amendment, is intended to cover cases where evidence may be recorded by the committing Magistrate but not for the purpose of commitment a procedure laid down in the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, evidence recorded in the presence of the accused. 42 C. L. J. 205; 90 I. C. 37; 26 Cr. L. J. 1577; 53 C. 181; 1925 Cal. 235.

—the words "for all purposes" added by the amendment was intended to remove any limitation to the value of any evidence recorded by the committing M. and admitted by the Sessions J. as evidence in the case. The evidence recorded by the committing M. and admitted under the section must be treated as evidence for all purposes even as the basis of finding or verdict and on a par with any other evidence before the Session Court or as substantive evidence on which the verdict of the jury or judgment of the judge can be based. 42 C. L. J. 205; 90 I. C. 37; 26 Cr. L. J. 1577.

—under the amendment the evidence given in before the committing M. is admissible at the trial as substantive evidence and not for the purposes of corroboration. The words "subject to the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act" are merely to prevent the evidence recorded by the committing Magistrate from being recorded by the committing Magistrate. 1925 Sind 289, 42 C. L. J. 205; 90 I. C. 37; 26 Cr. L. J. 1577; 53 C. 181; 1925 Cal. 235; 26 Punj. L. R. 361; 1925 927 All. 479; 27 Cr. L. J. 1577. The evidence recorded by the committing Magistrate and admitted by the Sessions J. could not be used under some sections of the Indian Evidence Act as that would render the permission of section 288 unnecessary and superfluous. 42 C. S. 297. Charge to jury.

Summing up of the charge.

—the summing up contemplated by law is a fairly full and distinct statement of the evidence with such advice as to the legal hearing of that evidence and the weight which properly attaches to the several parts of it as a sound judicial discretion would suggest. The Judge in a proper summing up must formulate and specify simple issues for consideration and collate the evidence pro and con bearing upon the issues in order to assist the jury to arrive at a correct decision thereon. Summing up the depositions of all witnesses without discrimination including what the pleaders on both sides said and huddling together important and trivial points only confuse the jury. Non-fulfilment of the above conditions constitutes serious misdirection. 87 I. C. 833; 29 C. W. N. 526; 26 Cr. L. J. 1009; 1925 Cal. 729.

—the object of summing up is to enable the Judge to place before the jury the facts and circumstances both for and against the prosecution in order to help them to arrive at a right decision. 42 C. L. J. 504; 53 C. 372; 92 I. C. 442; 1926 Cal. 139; 27 Cr. L. J. 266.

—the charge to the jury must be recorded in such a way as would enable a court of appeal to judge whether the fact and circumstances of the case have been properly placed before the jury and whether the law has been correctly explained. 42 C. L. J. 504; 53 C. 372; 92 I. C. 442; 1926 Cal. 139; 27 Cr. L. J. 266.

—the Judge should reduce the charge to writing as soon as possible after charging the jury if he does not write it before delivery. 1930 All. 28; 30 Cr. L. J. 1146; 1930 Cr. C. 44; 120 I. C. 114; 1930 A. L. J. 486.

—the charge to the jury must be so as to enable the jury to grasp the points for their decision and should set out the case against each of the accused separately. 1004 Pet. 326; 103 I. C. 81; 5; 1926 Cal. 494.

—the Judge is to place before the jury the entire evidence for or against the accused and leave the ultimate decision of the questions of fact to it. He is not debarred from expressing his own opinion upon the evidence put in such a way as not to create any impression in the mind of the jury that it was a direction from the Judge which they should follow. 34 C. 634, 26 C. W. N. 990 Relon. Any advice from the Judge to ignore or neglect any evidence is improper. The jury should not be asked to decide questions of fact without considering the whole of the evidence. 6 Bom. L. R. 31 Relon. When there are no eye-witnesses nor sufficient evidence of motive it is proper to leave the whole case to the jury. 43 C. L. J. 483; 96 I. C. 930; 1926 Cal 996; 27 Cr. L. J. 1035.

—where a 297 was only technically complied with as regards the heads of charge but it was not sufficient to enable the appellate court to be satisfied that it was delivered fully as regards the evidence and the points of law and salient points were not also placed before the jury. It was a misdirection vitiating the trial. 33 C. W. N. 84; 118 I. C. 351; 30 Cr. L. J. 912; 1929 Cal 170.

—although the law requires that the heads of a charge to the jury should be recorded yet as the law allows an appeal on the ground of misdirection the charge must be in such form as to enable the Appellate Court to be satisfied that it was delivered with sufficient fulness to the jury and that all points of law and fact were clearly and correctly explained to the jury having regard to the evidence adduced in the case. 31 C. W. N. 387; 101 I. C. 606; 1927 Cal 936; 24 Cr. L. J. 478; 34 C. 698; 11 C. W. N. 666 Ref. 26 C. W. N. 996; 35 C. L. J. 437.

—the Judge should not only record the heads of charge but should point out sufficient materials showing that he has correctly explained the law to the jury. Absence of that would be sufficient to render retrial necessary. 100 I. C. 358; 1927 Cal. 460; 28 Cr. L. J. 278.

—the Judge may formulate at the conclusion of the delivery of his charge specific questions for the jury's reply. In complicated cases such practice is helpful to the jury. 91 I. C. 225 : 1925 Pat. 79 : 27 Cr. L. J. 49.

—but when the Judge is not sufficiently acquainted with the language of the jurymen he may delegate the delivering of the charge to a person like the Govt. pleader asking him to translate the charge he has put down in writing. 105 I. —in addressing the jury the Judge should endeavour to speak in a manner simple and direct. The charge must not be involved, nor the language should be extravagant. 11 Cr. L. J. 538 (c).

—in order to help the jury to arrive at a proper verdict the Judge should use the plainest and simplest language in the charge. 1930 Cal. 430; 1930 Cr. C. 657.

—it is the duty of the Judge to warn the jury that the statement of an accused, not amounting to a confession cannot be considered against the co-accused. 50 C. 318; 1923 Cal. 517.

—when there are two trials, the first being a preliminary, it is proper for the Judge to warn the jury that they are to consider the evidence in the first trial only, and that the other is preliminary. 1929 M. W. N. 577.

—where the Judge omitted to mention to the jury that the evidence of the Police proving the confession of the accused was inadmissible there was misdirection in summing up. 1923 P. 103.

—in his summing up the Judge should point out to the jury that a considerable time had elapsed between the recovery of the stolen property from the person who had been put in possession of them by the accused and theft. 1929 M. W. N. 577.

S. 298. Duty of Judge.

Clause (a) To decide all questions of law, relevancy of facts, admissibility of evidence, etc.

Question of law.

—under the procedure law it is the duty of the judge to explain to the jury the law applicable to the case and it is the duty of the jury to accept the law as laid down by the judge without any other help. In case jury cannot understand the law the judge may explain it afresh but cannot place before the jury the Code or any legal treatise. 30 C. W. N. 693 : 43 C. L. J. 537 : 1926 Cal. 895 : 27 Cr. L. J. 926.

—the judge is to explain the law to the jury and should not hand over to them a copy of the Penal Code leaving them to decide under what sec. the offence falls or refer them to the addresses by the pleaders on either side. 14 C. 164, 29 C. 379, 27 B. 644, 6 Bom. L. R. 259, 16 C. W. N. 40.

—"laying down the law" in a. 297 does not mean laying down the whole law on the subject irrespective of the facts of the particular case. It is the duty of the judge to draw attention of the jury to what appears to be a possible answer to the charge notwithstanding that it may have escaped the counsel for the accused. 19 C. W. N. 653, 18 Cr. L. J. 385.

—what the judge says to the jury upon a point of law is a binding direction upon them. 20 W. R. 41.

—when the complainant is a consenting party it is for the judge and not the jury to decide whether rape has been committed. 19 B. 735 1 W. R. Cr. 21.

—the judge should himself decide whether a communication is privileged. 10 W. R. Cr. 14.

—failure to draw the attention of the jury to vital points vitiates the trial. 85 I. C. 711; 26 Cr. L. J. 567 (C).

Sub-sec (2), the Judge may express his opinion in the summing up.

—where the judge states to the jury his impressions of the demeanour of witnesses without recording his views at the end of the deposition it does not amount to misdirection as the jury saw the witnesses themselves. 85 I. C. 716; 26 Cr. L. J. 572; 1925 Cal. 980.

—the judge in his charge to the jury ought not to express his own opinion in terms too dogmatic and unqualified although he informs them that they are not bound by any opinion of his. 18 C. W. N. 180.

—the judge should tell the jury that his opinion is not binding on them and that they are the sole judges of facts. 35 C. 531, 1930 Cal. 430; 1930 Cr. C. 657.

—It is open to the judge to express his opinion on any matter of fact, 10 C. 970, 99 I. C. 849; 1927 Nag. 117; 28 Cr. L. J. 117 and his impressions which the evidence has made upon his mind. 13 W. R. 34, following the last case it has been held that in many cases it is desirable that the Judge should tell the jury what view he has taken of the facts in order to enable them to consider the facts properly and to arrive at their own decision on them. 1928 Cal. 269.

—but he should refrain from expressing any decided opinion on matter of fact in unmistakable terms, 1 W. R. 2 1 W. R. 25, he should present the facts in their natural aspect. 14 M. L. T. 442, 2 Weir 386.

—if the Judge attempts to take the case out of the jury's province by something in the nature of impressing his own view upon the jury it is a case of misdirection. 110 I. C. 577; 1928 Oudh 326; 29 Cr. L. J. 721; 5 O.W. N. 497.

Miscellaneous.

—where the jury have delivered a verdict, the judge cannot again ask them to consider that verdict. The judge is only entitled to question the jury as to their verdict, where it is ambiguous or incomplete. 35 M. 585; 15 Cr. L. J. 197; 22 Ind. C. 981.

S. 290. Miscellaneous.—contd

—where the verdict is unintelligible and the Judge thinks it better to recharge the jury on a few points there is nothing in this Code to prevent him from doing so. But in such matter the Judge cannot cross-examine the jury. 37 C. Cl. 1935 Cr. C. 49. 1939 Cal. 120.

—in trials by jury though the law requires a judge to record only the heads of his charge still the record should include such statements and comments on the part of the judge as will enable the appellate court to understand exactly what he said. 26 C. W. N. 296. 35 C. L. J. 437. 1922 Cal. 192.

—after a clear verdict is returned by the jury it is not competent to the S. J. to ask the jurors their reasons. 4 Pat. L. T. 425; 1013 P. 474, 58 I. C. 829 fol. 3 Pat. L. T. 655 Diss.

—where a jury return a verdict of culpable homicide, it is the duty of the S. J. to require them to find expressly whether or not the accused is guilty of the minor offence. 2 Bom. L. R. 334.

—where the accused is charged for offence under ss. 147, 266 and 498 I. P. C. and the judge refers the jury to offences under s. 341 and 352 I. P. C. it does not amount to misdirection as the lesser offences falling under ss. 341 and 352 I. P. C. were included in the offence under s. 366. 53 C. 599; 44 C. L. J. 239, 1926 Cal. 1059.

S. 299. Duty of jury.

—under this sec. the jury have to weigh and value the evidence admitted by the judge and in order to value a confession since retracted, they must go into the question whether it was made voluntarily, as a free and voluntary statement is some guarantee of its truth. 85 I. —it is no longer the law that before making a reference, the verdict is perverse; it is sufficient reference is necessary for the I. C. 606: 26 Cr. L. J. 1006:

—the conditions necessary for reference to H. C. are not merely disagreement with the verdict of the jury but also that the judge is clearly of opinion that it is necessary for the ends of justice to submit the case. It is quite impossible to direct the judge to be clearly of a certain opinion and the judge's view on that point is to be final for that purpose. 32 C. W. N. 673: 47 C. L. J. 483: 1928 Cal. 444: 29 Cr. L. J. 819: 111 I. C. 323

—when the evidence is so open to hostile criticism as to justify the jury in regarding it with suspicion, the S. J. should not refer the case under this sec. 7 C. W. N. 145, 9 C. L. J. 432.

—the judge must confine himself to evidence properly given before him. 27 C. 295: 4 C. W. N. 129.

—the judge can refer a case to the H. C. only if he comes to the conclusion that the verdict of the jury is one which reasonable men could not come to on the evidence on the record. A mere disagreement with the verdict on the fact is not enough 51 M. 956: 1928 Mad. 1186: 55 M. L. J. 591: 1929 M. W. N. 185: 114 I. C. 343: 30 Cr. L. J. 317 F. B.

Weight should be given to the verdict of the jury and to the opinion of the judge —In dealing with a case under this sec. the H. C. will have to give due weight to the verdict of the jury and also to the opinion of the S. J. 41 C. L. J. 35, 29 C. W. N. 842, 51 C. 160, 28 C. W. —s. 307 does not put the opinion of the jury on any higher plane, both should be given due weight, but as a general rule more weight should be attached to the opinion of the judge than of the jury as he is trained to weigh and appreciate the evidence and give reasons for his opinion whereas the jury are a body of laymen unaccustomed to weigh or appreciate evidence and give no reasons for their opinions 55 C. 879 : 1928 Cal 732, 29 Cr. —the H. C. should give due weight to the opinion of the S. J. and of the jury after considering the entire evidence and then convict or acquit the accused. The H. C. need not re-construct the verdict of the jury and it should always hesitate to reverse the unanimous verdict unless it holds it to be unreasonable. 40 C. L. J. 135 : 28 C. W. N. 947 : 81 I. —when the case rests entirely on oral evidence the H. C. should uphold the verdict of the jury, for as they saw and heard the witnesses they were the most competent to judge as to the value of oral evidence. 40 C. L. J. 592.

—the real test to be applied is to see whether it can be said that the verdict was so unreasonable that reasonable men could not have arrived at that verdict. 28 C. W. N. 876 : 82 I. C. 356, 4 Pat. L. T. 425.

—when one of two inferences is possible upon the evidence the H. C. will not interfere with the finding of the jury even though the Court is of opinion that it would have drawn the other inference in case of its being a court of appeal. 97 I. C. 17 : 1926 Pat. 566 : 27 Cr. L. J. 104

When the H. C. should not interfere.

—where the verdict of the jury is reasonable one and based on the honest opinion, the H. C. will not interfere on reference under this section. Human opinions honestly held may differ on all questions, but the test to be applied with regard to the honesty of such opinion is whether any reasonable man, on the materials before him, can hold it. 51 C. 708 : 1927 Cal. 848 : 28 Cr. S. 311. When avoidance of previous conviction may be given.

—circumstances under which previous conviction would be relevant under s. 14, 43, and 54 of the Ev. Act 1 C. W. N. 146, 4 C. W. N. 97, 27 C. 139, 14 C. 721 F. B.

—in a trial of offence under ss. 395 and 402 I. P. C. the evidence of previous conviction is not permissible under sec. 54 Evl. Act, no evidence having been previously offered of the accused's good character. Nor does ss. 6 and 14 Evl. Act justify the admissibility 5 P. L. J. 706.

S. 321 List of jurors and assessors.

—persons of an independent condition of life, men of judgment and experience should be chosen as jurors and assessors, 23 W. R. 35, but men of high social position such as a hereditary Raja, should not be summoned to serve as juror or assessor unless it were known that he would be willing to act as such 1897 A. W. N. 167.

—assessors can be chosen only from the list prepared under this section Ratanlal, 304.

S. 326. District Magistrate to summon jurors and assessors.

S. 337. Tender of pardon to accomplices.

Amendments.

This section has been considerably altered, its scope broadened and the procedure relating to tender of pardon fully set out. Now the sec applies also to offences other than exclusively triable by the H. C. or the S. C.

Scope of the sec.

—this sec does not suggest the idea that the only method of obtaining the evidence of one co accused against another is by tendering pardon to him with all the safeguards mentioned in the sec. and this sec. does not control sec. 494. 1929 Cal. 319 : 56 C. 1023 33 C. W. N. 468.

In which cases pardon may be tendered.

—the pardon granted to an accused in a case not triable exclusively by the Court of Sessions is illegal. 25 M. 61 F. B. But the scope has been broadened by the amendment

—the approver is an approver with regard to the whole case and not as regards some of the accused only. When pardon is tendered with regard to an offence triable exclusively by the S. J. the fact that there may be other offences does not invalidate the pardon. 87 I. C. 965 : 26 Cr. L. J. 1945 : 1925 Nag. 403.

—where the offence originally charged being triable by the S. C. exclusively is subsequently altered to a charge not exclusively triable by him, the validity of the pardon is not affected 81 I. C. 881 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1057.

S. 337. In which cases pardon may be tendered—contd.

—all that this sec. requires is that there should be an investigation in progress regarding an offence triable exclusively by the H. C. or the Court of Sessions for an offence punishable with imprisonment which may extend to ten years, 1925 Nag 317 : 26 Cr. L. J. 1115 : 89 I. C. 243.

—the granting of locus penitentiae is a matter of judicial discretion and it should not be granted in a case where the accused has made two contradictory statements. 1929 All. 321 : 27 A. L. J. 227 : 120 I. C. 125

Approver's disclosure may not be reduced to writing.

—the disclosure of facts by the approver may not be reduced to writing. If it was made orally the verbal testimony of the person to whom it has been made will be sufficient to prove the same. But the practice of reducing it into writing is obviously very desirable so that no dispute may subsequently arise. 29 Punj. L. R. 165 : 29 Cr. L. J. 413 : 1918 Lah. 320 : 108 I. C. 514.

To whom pardon can be tendered.

—under this sec. it is not necessary that the person to whom pardon is tendered should himself be charged with an offence triable exclusively by the Court of Sessions. All that is necessary is that he should be directly or indirectly concerned in or privy to such offence. 6 N. L. J. 144 : 73 I. C. 262 : 24 Cr. L. J. 566.

—a pardon may be tendered to a person even after a charge has been framed against him. 22 Cr. L. J. 255 (Lah.).

—a pardon can be tendered to an approver in the course of an inquiry even though the principal offender has absconded and the trial therefore cannot proceed. In such case the approver's statement will be recorded under s. 512. 46 B. 120.

—pardon cannot be tendered to a person whose complicity in the crime is not admitted by itself as such person cannot be considered to be an approver. 24 Cr. L. J. 799.

—a tender of pardon to a person who had already pleaded guilty but who had not been sentenced on his plea, is not illegal though he may no longer be regarded as a respected offender. 25 M. 61 P. C.

—no man ought to be treated as an accomplice on mere suspicion unless he confesses that he had a conscious hand in the crime. 11 Bom. L. R. 1153 : 10 Cr. L. J. 530, 27 M. 271.

—persons who assist in concealing a crime already committed are not accomplices. 27 M. 271, 23 C. 361.

—persons who admit that they were cognizant of the crime and made no attempt to prevent it and did not disclose its commission are not accomplices but their evidence ought to be treated with suspicion. 24 W. R. Cr. 55, 21 C. 328, 61, 27 C. 144, 20 W. R. Cr. 19, but spies and informants who with a view to lay trap for suspected person suggest to him the commission of an offence and supply him with the means for committing it, are themselves abettors of the offence and accomplices. 19 B. 363.

S. 337. Who can tender pardon.

—a Magistrate of a district cannot tender pardon to a person implicated in an offence committed in another district and inquired into in the latter district. 20 A. 40.

—a Deputy Commissioner trying a case triable exclusively by the Sessions Court, under the power conferred by s. 30 can tender a conditional pardon to an accused. 10 O. W. N. 847.

—when a case is under investigation, a M. can tender pardon only with the sanction of the District M., 5 A. L. J. 691.

—where a first class M. under the authority of the Dt. M. tendered pardon to an approver at a time when the offence was under investigation by the police and the approver subsequently gave evidence the pardon was validly tendered. 3 Loh. 431 : 75 I. C. 365. 24 Cr. L. J. 941.

Power and duty of the M. tendering pardon.

—the M. tendering pardon is not competent to try the case. 10 C. W. N. 847. 4 Cr. L. J. 44, 3 P. R. Cr. 1898, 82 I. C. 573 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1341, 88 I. C. 736 : 1925 Oudh 472, but the Dt. M. sanctioning the tender of pardon to an approver is not so precluded. 1919 P. R. 30.

—where in a case of robbery the M. grants a conditional pardon to an approver and is satisfied that there is prima facie case, he has no jurisdiction to dispose of the case himself but is bound under s. 337 (2) (a) to commit the case to sessions. 4 Bur. L. J. 11. 86 I. C. 477.

—the M. tendering pardon should explain the conditions which accompany the tender. 12 W. R. Cr. 80.

—a M. tendering a conditional pardon should record his reasons for so doing but where the facts which led up to the tender to state reasons does not vitiate
L. J. 142, 36 C. 629, 13 C. W. N. 757.

—the omission to record reasons for tendering a pardon is neither an illegality nor an irregularity which vitiates the proceedings. 5 Lah. L. J. 407.

—an approver to whom pardon has been granted cannot be committed to sessions by the M. acting under this sec. but such commitment does not vitiate the trial against other accused. 30 Cr. L. J. 567 : 1929 Oudh 190 : 116 I. C. 193.

Power of Local Government.

—the tender of pardon by the Local Government although of doubtful validity in law can in no way be regarded as an inducement or threat illegally held out to an accused person to disclose or withhold any matter within his knowledge. 5 C. L. J. 224 : 5 Cr. L. J. 142.

—the Local Government cannot offer conditional pardon. 10 C. W. N. 847, 10 C. W. N. 962 : 33 C. 1353, 5 C. L. J. 224.

S. 337. Power of Local Government—contd.

—this sec has nothing to do with the power of discretion of an executive authority such as a Local Government in the matter of instituting or refraining from instituting any prosecution 45 A. 256: 21 A. L. J. 42.

—an approver cannot be examined as a witness unless and until he has been discharged by a written order, a mere promise of immunity from prosecution given by the Local Government does not amount to an order of discharge which requires a formal order, 1 Lab. 102. 1904 P. Q. 21 Diss.

Forfeiture of pardon.

—a witness who, after accepting a tender of pardon, makes a full and true disclosure, is not at liberty to subsequently contradict his statement without any risk of forfeiting his pardon. 33 M. 514: 7 M. L. J. 121: 1910 M. W. N. 5. 11 Cr. L. J. 254.

—no formal withdrawal of pardon and no formal declaration of the forfeiture of pardon are required to proceed against a person who accepted a conditional pardon but violated the conditions. 19 C. W. N. 17 Cr. 27 Ind. C. 164: 16 Cr. L. J. 120, 37 A. 331.

—non-forfeiture of pardon may be pleaded by the accused, and it becomes one of the issues to be heard. above case. 11 A. 79.

—when one accused who was given the pardon forfeited it before the committing M. who committed the case to the Court of Sessions, the latter might take a special verdict from the jury as to the first issue as to whether he had forfeited the pardon. 19 C. W. N. 295: 42 C. 657: 16 Cr. L. J. 65, 30 B. 611.

—the validity of a pardon will not be affected by the fact that the co-accused against whom his evidence was afterwards recorded was ultimately convicted of a minor offence. 97 I. C. 367: 27 Cr. L. J. 1103. 1926 All. 90.

—an approver fails to comply with the condition on which a tender of pardon is made as soon as it is established that the disclosure is not a true and full one and it becomes apparent to him so as soon as he is shown to have a statement entirely inconsistent with the one upon the strength of which the pardon was tendered.

—the approver shall be, unless he is on trial, detained until the termination of the trial. 8 L. B. R. 357, 37 B. 146.

—sanction of the H. C. for prosecution of approver is to be obtained by motion in open court and not by letter of reference. 30 P. W. R. 1912 Cr. : 175 P. L. R. 1912, 230 P. L. R. 1912 : 13 Cr. L. J. 451.

—where the approver deposes to crimes which are not part of the inquiry without being warned against making incriminating statements and proceeding on the footing that the pardon covered the whole field, he could not subsequently be tried for offences which he deposed to, the pardon being a bar. 96 I. C. 509 : 1926 Pat. 279 : 27 Cr. L. J. 957 : 5 Pat. 171.

Appear as witness, sub-sec. (2).

—according to the sub-sec. (2) the approver shall be examined as a witness "in the case" which includes the preliminary inquiry. 24 M. 321, 11 N. L. R. 59 (this is the law under the present amended section).

—any person who has taken pardon under s. 337 must be examined as a witness in the court of committing M. and in the subsequent trial of any person tried for the offence, provided the approver can be physically produced. Non-compliance with this provision renders the trial illegal. If the approver dies after giving evidence before the committing M. the provisions need not be complied with but the fact that the approver is untrustworthy or that he gave a false story does not absolve the court from complying with the statutory provision. 1930 Lah. 95 : 11 Lah. 230 : 120 I. C. 489 : 31 Cr. L. J. 111.

—failure to comply with the provisions of s. 337 (2) is an illegality and not an irregularity 1930 Lah. 95 : 11 Lah. 230 : 120 I. C. 489 : 31 Cr. L. J. 111.

—there is no provision of Indian statutory law nor is there any principle of natural justice which makes an accomplice, as such, an incompetent witness at the trial of another person in respect of the offence in the commission of which he was an accomplice. 45 A. 226 : 21 A. L. J. 42

—competency of the witness is not affected but his credibility may be affected by the assurance of amnesty given to him. 1925 Nag. 313, 1923 All. 343 fol

—great caution is necessary in admitting and using the evidence of an approver. It not only requires corroboration in material particulars for its use but as evidentiary value depends considerably upon the circumstances under which his evidence was tendered. 33 C. 1353.

—the evidence of the approver should not be believed without material corroboration. 12 Cr. L. L. J. 35 : 1911 P. W. R. 3 and it is unsafe to convict an accused upon such testimony. 19 W. R. 68. 20 W. R. 19, 1916 P. W. R. 6, 29 C. 782, although it is not illegal. 7 A. 16, 1 M. 394, 5 W. R. 80, 15 W. R. 37, 6 B. L. R. 108.

S. 337. Apppear as witness. sub-sec. (2)—contd.

—as to the amount of corroboration necessary there is no hard and fast rule, 24 C 337, there should be corroboration of important circumstances of the story. 11 W R. 21, identity of the prisoner, 3 B. —if an accused person after accepting pardon shows in inclination not to give evidence, he should be examined as a witness and then dealt with under s 339, 31 M 272.

—the deposition before the committing M. of the approver who resiled from his statements in the Sessions Court and was then and there put in the dock and tried with the other accused was not admissible in evidence, because the co-accused had no opportunity to cross-examine. 22 C. 50.

—the prosecution is not bound to put the approver forward as a witness at the Sessions trial if they believe that he would give false evidence 21 M. 321, 20 A. 529, 41 P. R. 1905: 3 Cr. L J. 55. F. S. 338. Power to direct tender of pardon.

—the S. J. cannot tender a pardon under this sec. when the offence for which he has been committed is not triable exclusively by the Court of Sessions. 10 C. 936, 25 M. 61 P. C.

—the C. M. must obey the direction of the S. J. 6 W. R. Cr. 5.

—evidence of the approver is admissible though the evidence of the pardoned accomplice, taken with the statement of unpardoned co-prisoners is not sufficient by itself to convict those who never confessed. 7 A. 160.

—the word "supposed" is intended to mean not actually convicted although admitted to be party to the crime. above case and Rat. Un Cr. 750.

—the Local Government cannot tender pardon. 33 C. 1353, 10 C. W. N. 847; 4 Cr. L. J. 44

—pardon can be tendered to an "accused." 9 S. L. R. 43.

—it is extremely improper to grant pardon at a later stage of the trial just before judgment. 1884 A. W. N. 147.

S. 339. Commitment of person to whom pardon has been tendered.Forfeiture.

—the word "forfeited" has been submitted for the word "withdrawn". 32 M. 173, 15 M. 352, so a pardon can be forfeited and not withdrawn. 31 P. R. 1904, 50 P. R. 1905; 3 Cr. L. J. 342.

—the approver commits a breach of condition if he fails to make a full and true disclosure throughout, both before the C. M. as well as the S. J. 24 M. 321, 32 M. 173.

—where in giving evidence material discrepancies are introduced into the evidence with the intention of benefiting the accused, there is a forfeiture of the pardon by giving false evidence. 91 I. C. 253; 27 Cr. L. J. 77.

—the mere failure of the evidence of the approver to procure conviction of his alleged associates in crime is insufficient in itself to justify a summary order for the withdrawal of the pardon and the trial of the deponent. 15 P. R. 1895.

—the question is whether the accused has forfeited his pardon by some act of his own and not whether the M. has validly withdrawn it. 25 B. 675.

—the H. C. or the court of Sessions is to determine whether the pardon has been forfeited. 25 B. 675.

—the S. J. may take a special verdict of the jury in the first instance as to whether the pardon has been forfeited, and the question must form an issue in the trial, 19 C. W. N. 295, 42 C. 557; 16 Cr. L. J. 65, 39 B. 511, 32 M. 173, and a conviction without the determination of such issue is illegal, 32 M. 173, 59 P. R. 1903; 43 P. L. R. 1906; 3 Cr. L. J. 342, 31 P. R. 1904 (the new amendment has made the point clear).

—it is open to the pardoned accomplice to plead in bar of his trial that he did comply with the conditions of pardon, and the plea must be gone into, 30 B. 611, 8 Bom. L. R. 740; 4 Cr. L. J. 346.

—the substitution of the word "forfeit" in s. 339 for the word "withdrawn" makes it unnecessary for a M. to withdraw or cancel the pardon before trying the approver. The S. J. is to decide whether the pardon has been forfeited, and this can only be done after the termination of the trial, 23 Cr. L. J. 611, 68 I. C. 835.

—no formal declaration that the pardon has been forfeited and formal withdrawal of the pardon are necessary, 42 C. 856, 42 C. 756, 39 A. 305, 32 M. 173, 30 B. 611, 1918 P. R. 24, 7 N. L. R. 65, the forfeiture is ipso facto incurred, 37 C. 845.

How the approver is to be dealt with.

—it is open to an accused who has accepted pardon to resile from it and claim to be tried. If he does it before he is treated as an approver and put into the witness box, there is no illegality in his being tried along with the other accused, 33 M. L. T. 77, 1923 M. W. N. 697, 45 M. L. J. 613.

—confession made by an approver under a promise of pardon but with respect to different offence is admissible in evidence against him, 46 A. 236, 22 A. L. J. 85; 81 I. C. 604 F. B.

—when the person to whom pardon has been tendered expresses complete ignorance and states that he was indifferent whether pardon was granted to him or not, he did not accept the tender of pardon, 1924 All. 564.

—an approver forfeiting pardon should be tried de novo after the trial of the principal accused has been finished, 23 B. 493, 24 M. 321, 4 Bom. L. R. 826, 4 U. B. R. 7; 7 Cr. L. J. 245 contra, 20 A. 529, 29 A. 24, 1908 A. W. N. 259, 5 A. L. J. 691.

—the M. should not commit the approver along with the principal accused, 31 M. 272.

—sanction of the H. C. is necessary for the prosecution in regard to the statement made under conditional pardon, 10 B. 190, 11 B. H. C. R. 34, and the want of sanction is a fatal irregularity, 27 C. 137, 42 P. R. 1884.

—sanction to prosecute for perjury ought to be refused unless it appears that a conviction for the original is unlikely or a prosecution for it is undesirable for any other reason or that on a conviction for the original offence the sentence that could be passed would be too light to cover both offences, 103 I. S. 339 A. Procedure in trial of person under sec. 339.

This sec. is new, setting out the procedure in cases in which a person who has been granted pardon is tried under s. 339.

—the certificate of the public prosecutor is a condition precedent to the prosecution of the approver. 26 Bom. L. R. 1240, 82 I. C. 715 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1355, 1925 Lah. 15

—the words "the statement made by a person who has accepted the tender of pardon" in sub-sec. (2) are wide enough to cover a statement made by the approver before the pardoning Magistrate. But he must be asked if he has any explanation to offer. 82 I. C. 715 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1355.

—the provisions of this sec. are compulsory and the approver cannot be properly tried and convicted of the offence of murder until the Court trying him records a finding that he has forfeited the pardon. 1929 Oudh 256 : 116 I. C. 61 : 30 Cr. L. J. 559.

—the question of forfeiture should be left to the jury. 33 M. 514.

—before an approver is put on his trial, it is the duty of the trying court to decide first whether there has been a forfeiture. 30 B. 611, 42 C. 856, 32 M. 173, 11 N. L. R. 59, 7 L. B. R. 1, 1902 P. R. 34.

—the object of this sec is to enable the accused to explain any circumstance appearing against him and not to supplement the prosecution case. 50 C 223, 10 M 295, 30 A 540 : 1908 A W N. 241 81 I C. 150 : 25 Cr L. —the language of the sec is very wide. The court is to come to conclusion after considering the evidence on both sides and also the statement of the accused as a whole The court cannot supplement the prosecution evidence by selecting out of the statement of the accused. 51 A. 313 : 1929 All 1 : 26 A L. —this sec. is not intended merely for the benefit of the accused. It is part of a system for leading the court to discover the truth : and it constantly happens that the accused's explanation or his failure to explain is the most incriminating circumstance against him. 4 N. —the examination must be made before defence commences. Rat. Un. Cr. 227, 6 Lab. L. J. 618 : 1925 Lab 288.

—the word "examination" includes cross-examination and re-examination. Where the accused is examined by the prosecution and then cross-examined by the defence, the examination is complete. The accused cannot claim a further right to be examined. 50 C. 1157 : 1930 C. 219 : 122 I. C. 291 : 31 Cr. L. J. 406.

—"examination" does not mean examination in chief of the witnesses but it includes cross-examination and re-examination of the witnesses. Where, however, the M. failed to question the accused after this cross-examination and re-examination of the prosecution witnesses but no prejudice was caused to the accused, the irregularity was curable under s. 537 Cr. —no adverse inference against an accused ought to be drawn from criminal proceedings which terminated in compromise. 17 C. W. N. 238.

—composition of a criminal case does not mean hushing up the matter. 1929 Pat. 512 : 1929 Cr. C. 272.

Compromise does not bar charge under s. 211 I. P. C.

—the plea that original charge has been compounded is no answer to a charge under s. 211 I. P. C. 11 C. 79.

S. 345. Effect of compromise by some of the accused.

—a case may be compromised with some and proceeded against others. 84 I. C. 62 : 16 S. L. R. 149 : 26 Cr. L. J. 238.

—when there are several joint complainants, one complainant can compound the offence committed against himself but not the offence committed against others. 27 C. W. N. 168 : 37 C. L. J. 254 : 73 I. C. 322.

—composition with one accused does not mean acquittal of another. 45 B. 346 and 43 A. 583, 41 M. 323 fol., 7 C. W. N. 176 diss.

—compromise of an offence with one or more of several accused persons has not the effect of acquittal in respect of the remaining accused between whom and the complainant no compromise has been effected. 94 I. C. 144 : 1926 Lab. 424. 27 Cr. L. J. 576.

—in a case of assault against several accused, composition with one amounts to the whole offence being compounded. 67 I. C. 592 : 23 Cr. L. J. 432.

Effect of compromise of some of the offences.

—where an accused is charged under ss. 325 and 147 I. P. C. and the former charge is compounded the charge under s. 147 does not ipso facto lapse. 86 I. C. 62. 26 Cr. L. J. 686 : 26 Punj. L. R. 35.

—in case of joint complaint with reference to distinct and independent transaction composition with respect to offence relating to one transaction does not operate as acquittal with reference to the other. 1930 All. 92. 1930 A. L. J. 85. 120 I. C. 117. 30 Cr. L. J. 1149. 1930 Cr. C. 81.

Proof as to the fact of compromise.

—when one party alleges composition and the other party denies, the Magistrate is to take evidence concerning the factum of composition. 39 M. 946, 41 M. 685.

—where an accused person alleges that an offence with which he is charged has been compounded so as to take away the jurisdiction of the Cr. Court to try it, the onus is on him to show that there was composition valid in law. 21 C. 103.

—the onus is on the accused to show that the composition is valid in law. 21 C. 103.

Compounding an offence supposes an agreement similar to that under the Contract Act.

—compounding an offence supposes an agreement by which the parties have settled their differences and implies that the prosecutor has received some consideration or gratification for dropping the prosecution. It is similar to an agreement under the Contract Act. 21 C. 103.

—but a lawful composition may be effected without the passing of any consideration. 9 P. R. 1896, 10 Cr. L. J. 228.

Admission of evidence of negotiation of compromise.

—admission of evidence of negotiation of compromise which tended to show that the accused had admitted his guilt, is bad and vitiated trial. 11 C. W. N. 26 (note).

S. 345. Compromise cannot be withdrawn.

—a petition of compromise once filed cannot be withdrawn and the Magistrate should accept the petition. 3 C. W. N. 322, 3 C. W. N. 548, 7 C. W. N. 176.

—the effect of composition of a compoundable offence is the immediate acquittal of the accused and once a composition has been effected the complainant cannot be permitted to withdraw from it. 81 I. C. 346 (Lahore), 45 A. 145.

Compromise of non-compoundable offence.

—compromise of non-compoundable offence is against public policy and so the terms thereunder or any bond in consideration thereof, cannot be enforced. 16 C. W. N. 854, 18 C. W. N. 192 (note), 19 C. W. N. 383, 20 C. W. N. 760.

—it may be compounded with the person aggrieved and a contract may be entered into with him. 37 M. 385.

—when the complaint is both under compoundable and non-compoundable ss but the accused is summoned under compoundable sec. it may be compromised. 20 C. W. N. 44 (note).

De novo trial, meaning of.

—de novo trial means a new trial from the beginning of the case. The object of granting de novo trial is to enable the M. who hears the case to see the way in which the witnesses give evidence before him to mark their demeanour and thereby to be in a position to judge of their credibility. 1925 M. —it is illegal to convict an accused on evidence taken in connected trial although the accused consented to such a procedure as the provisions of this section are not complied with. 104 I. C. 9; 28 Cr. L. J. 771; 1927 Lab. 781.

—it is improper to take deposition in one case and have them copied out and used in another case and such a course should not be adopted in trial of criminal cases. 27 Q. W. N. 99.

—the H. C. has power under this sec. to dispense with the attendance of an accused in the Sessions on the ground of his ill-health 14 Bom. L. R. 236; 15 Ind. C. 96, 13 Cr. L. J. 464.

—dying declarations must be recorded in the presence of the accused, if not so done it must be proved by person hearing them. 8 C. 211, 6 C. W. N. 72, 921.

S. 353. Evidence to be taken in presence of accused.—(contd)

—In a trial of two cross-complaints when the prosecution evidence in each is taken as the defence evidence in the other, it amounts to letting in evidence in the absence of the accused and violates s 353 Cr. P. C. 4 Lab. 374

—this sec and s. 356 (2) taken together contemplate cases where the whole trial including the delivery of Judgment in cases where the sentence imposed is one of fine only can take place in the absence of the accused. 1930 Nag. 61 : 31 Cr. L. J. 284 ; 121 I. C 651 : 26 N. L. R. 50 ; 1930 Cr. C. 149

S 355. Record in summons cases and in trials of certain offences by 1st and 2nd class Ma.

—this sec. does not apply to offences under s 361 cl (b). 102 I. C. 345 ; 1927 Bom. 426 : 23 Cr. L. J. 537.

—s. 355 merely prescribes a briefer record in summons cases and other cases which may be tried summarily, when they are, as a matter of fact, tried regularly. 3 L. B. R. 3. 2 Cr. L. J. 375, 12 Cr. L. J. 260 10 Ind. C. 921 4 Bur. L. T. 117.

—the M's records in summary trials however brief, must show the necessary ingredients of the offence charged. 6 C. 579, 18 B. 97, 21 A. 375.

—there is no provision in the Code as to the language in which memorandum of the substance of the evidence is to be recorded. 19 M. 269 : 6 M. L. J. 134 : 2 Weir 433.

—in summons cases reading over of the recorded deposition is not prescribed. 2 Weir 433.

—the M. should add a few apt words to make it apparent that the deposition has been taken in presence of the accused. 10 A. 174.

—destruction by M. of the notes of the evidence in a non-appealable case is bad. 48 C. 280, 21 Cr. L. J. 299 approved.

—s. 355 does not require that the evidence of witnesses should be read over to them in a case triable summarily 65 I. C. 552. 23 Cr. L. J. 120.

—when a M. trying a warrant case summarily takes down the substance of the deposition of each witness but does not sign the record the procedure is illegal vitiating the trial. 3 Pat. L. T. 322 : 65 I. C. 546 : 22 Cr. L. J. 114.

—s. 355 does not require that the evidence of witnesses should be read over to them in a case triable summarily 1 Pat. L. R. Cr. 159 : 1923 P. 157.

S. 356. Record in other cases outside Presidency towns.

—omission to record the evidences in the manner prescribed by this sec. is material error, 20 W. R. Cr. 14 : 11 B. L. R. Ap. 5, 19 Cr. L. J. 235 (Pat.), 1891 A. W. N. 145, 1890 A. W. N. 164, 17 A. L. J. 1146, contra, it is not an illegality which would vitiate the trial, 6 O. C. 73.

—omission to make memorandum of statement of witnesses is a mere irregularity. 1928 Oudh 112 : 106 I. C. 582 : 29 Cr. L. J. 70.

S. 356. Record in other cases outside Presidency towns.—contd.

—when the court convicts the accused on his own plea non-compliance with the sec. does not vitiate the trial. 2 C. J. R. 317.

—provisions of sub-sec (1) are imperative and those of sub-sec (3) apply only to cases in which the evidence are recorded in the M's own hand, 42 C 381. 19 C.W. N 124: 16 Cr. L. J 192.

—testimony of the medical officer must be taken fully, specially in a murder case. Rat. Un Cr. 792.

N B.—Provisions have been made by adding Cl. (2 A) by the new Amending Act, as to the recording of evidence given in any other language, not being English, than the language of the court.

—this sec prescribes the manner in which evidence is to be recorded in warrant cases 41 C L J. 352.

—the provisions of s. 145 are of a quasi civil nature and the procedure prescribed in s. 356 applies for taking evidence in such cases. 1925 Oudh 286 —where there is discrepancy in a material part of the evidence of the principal prosecution witnesses between the record in the vernacular in which the witness deposed and the record in English, the accused is entitled to the benefit of doubt created thereby. 24 Cr L. J. 624 (Lah).

S. 357 Language of record of evidence.

—the authority conferred on an officer under the sec. is personal and local. 5 M. H. C R Ap. 9. Where the M. under the belief that the authority given to him in another district to record the deposition in his own handwriting still remained in force, committed the accused for trial the M's proceeding was irregular but the commitment was not set aside as the accused was not prejudiced. 2 Weir 434

—the plea should be recorded in the language in which it is conveyed to the court. 5 C 826.

—when the court is composed of more than one Judge, signature of only one judge is sufficient 1928 Lah. 125: 29 Punj L R. 11-107 I. C 100: 23 Cr. L. J. 212

S. 359. Mode of recording evidence under ss. 356 and 357

—it is not compliance with the law to record a more or less accurate paraphrase of the evidence. 11 Bur. L. R. 8.

—this evidence should ordinarily be taken down in the first person exactly as spoken by the witness. 15 W. R. Cr. 36: 8 B L. R Ap. 21.

—the provisions of sec. 360 apply to inquiries under s. 110 Cr. P. C. 26 Cr. L. J. 1233.

s. 360 applies to Chap. VIII.

—parties to a proceeding under Chapter VIII are not "accused." 50 C. 958; 39 C. L. J. 75; 1925 Cal. 720.

—parties to a proceeding under s. 145 fall within this sec. 41 C. L. J. 479; 29 C. W. N. 701; 52 C. 721; 88 I. C. 714; 26 Cr. L. J. 1194; 1925 Cal. 822 F. B.

—the provisions of sec. 360 apply to proceedings under s. 145 Cr. P. C. to this extent in best that as the evidence of each witness is completed, it must be read over to him. 29 C. W. N. 701; 41 C. L. J. 479 F. B.

—the provisions of this sec. should be complied with in an inquiry under s. 476. 18 C. W. N. 1242; 15 Cr. L. J. 483; 24 I. C. 571.

—this sec. does not apply to the examination of the accused. 12 W. R. Cr. 44 nor can the accused take objection that the did not understand the language. 7 C. L. R. 393.

S. 360. Deposition shall be read over to the witness in presence of the accused.

—the sec. is mandatory, the deposition of witness must be read over to the witness in presence of the accused, no practice to the contrary can alter the plain words of the law. 28 C. W. N. 868; 83 I. —an omission to comply with the provisions of this sec. in recording the deposition bars such deposition to be used as evidence in any subsequent proceedings (here trial under s. 211 I. P. C.). 1928 Cal. 271.

Sufficient compliance with the section, what is and what is not.

—It is not sufficient compliance with the sec. where the deposition is read over by a witness himself and is explained by the S. J. to the accused though not in the presence of the witness. 29 C. W. N. 526; 1925 Cal. 729; 87 I. C. 833; 26 Cr. L. J. 1009.

S. 360. Sufficient compliance with the section, what is and what is not.—(contd.)

—it is not sufficient compliance with the provisions of sec. 360 that the witness read his deposition himself and admitted it to be correct. 29 C. W. N. 650 : 52 C. 431 : 88 I. C. 604 : 26 Cr. L. —the sec. is complied with if the deposition is read over to the witness in presence of the pleader for one out of twenty-seven accused, a deposition so read over is admissible in evidence against the witness in a case of perjury. 36 C. 808.

—the evidence may be read over to the pleader of the accused while the prisoner is temporarily absent. 46 C. L. J. 368.

—where the deposition was handed over to the witness to read it over himself the sec. was not complied with. 18 C. W. N. 1242 : 15 Cr. L. J. 483 : 24 Ind. C. 571.

—reading over deposition of witnesses while the other witnesses are examined is not sufficient compliance with sec. 360 and a commitment to the Court of Sessions is bad. 41 C. L. J. 393, 26 Cr. L. J. 1267 : 1925 Cal. 933 : 52 C. 499, 88 I. C. 1043, 87 I. C. 840, 26 Cr. L. J. 1016 (C), 52 C. 499 : 88 I. C. 733 : 26 Cr. L. J. 1213 : 1925 Cal. 831.

For other cases see above.

Correction of deposition.

—the deponent may correct his deposition. 10 C. 937, 18 W. R. Cr. 57, 13 W. R. Cr. 17.

Conviction of perjury.

—a witness cannot be convicted for perjury before a criminal court if his deposition was not read over to him in the presence of the accused or his pleader, nor such evidence is admissible in evidence. 12 C. W. N. 845, 28 M. 308 fol.

—but the deposition, of a witness not read over is admissible under s. 145, Evl. Act. to contradict the witness at a subsequent trial. 104 I. C. 100 : 1927 Pat. 315 : 6 Pat. 478 : 28 Cr. L. J. 772.

Revisional power.

—where the point is raised in revision for the first time that the provisions of the sec. were not complied with, but it is not stated whether it was so with respect to all the witnesses or some only, the H. C. would not entertain the objection unless the accused was prejudiced. 6 Pat. L. T. 154 : 86 I. C. 459 : 26 Cr. L. J. 811 : 1925 Pat. 414.

—where a large number of witnesses were examined without complying with the provision of the sec. and a reference was made by the court to the H. C. to quash the proceedings and start a de novo trial and the accused objected, held that the proper order was to send back the case to the committal court and have the defects cured by recalling the witnesses. 29 C. W. N. 698 : 1925 Cal. 928 : 88 I. C. 1052 : 26 Cr. L. J. 1276.

S. 361. Interpretation of evidence to accused or his pleader.

—It is sufficient if the prisoner is made to understand what the document is and for what purpose it is used 15 W. R. Cr. 25

—If evidence is given in language not understood by the accused or his pleader it is under this section to be interpreted into their language while under s. 360 it is to be interpreted to the witness in his own language 31 C. W. N. 271 45 C. L. J. 411. 100 I. C. 227 8 P. L. T. 185. 1927 P. C. 44 29 Bom. L. R. 259. 1927 M. W. N. 103 28 Cr. L. J. 259 P. C.

—if the accused appears by a pleader who understands the language in which the evidence is given by the witness, the omission to interpret the evidence to the accused is not a material defect 24 W. R. 50 Cr.

—the first two paragraphs are not mutually exclusive. An accused person is often in much better position than his pleader to follow the drift of the evidence, so he should be kept informed of what is being said. But if there be no failure of justice non-compliance with the sec. is mere irregularity not vitiating the trial. 1930 Mad. 186 1929 M. W. N. 898 1930 Cr. C. 186

S. 362. Record of evidence in Presidency M's courts.

This sec. has been amended.

—a M. must comply with the provisions of sec. 362 (1) and (2) when he deals with a case under s. 452 read with sec. 511 I. P. C., and passes a sentence of one year's rigorous imprisonment, though the sentence is to be served in the Dharwar Juvenile Jail. 85 I. C. 134 : 25 Cr. L. J. 454. 1925 Bom. 147. 26 Bom. L. R. 1232.

S. 364. Examination of accused how recorded.

—where the examination of the accused was not in the record and the order-sheet contained the following remark: "the accused declined to make any statement in the court and on being asked whether they could adduce evidence they replied in the negative," the provisions of s. 364 were violated and the trial was vitiated. 53 C. 403; 41 C. L. J. 50; 86 I. C. 345; 1925 Cal. 575; 26 Cr. L. J. 761.

S. 366. Mode of delivering judgment.

What is judgment.

—judgment means the expression of the opinion of the Judge or M. arrived at after due consideration of the evidence and of the arguments 21 C. 121 p. 127.

When and how and by whom judgment shall be delivered.

Who can pronounce the judgment.

—under this sec. it is not necessary that the Presiding Officer writing the judgment should be the same person who is required to date, sign and pronounce it, in open court, 18 M. L. J. 197; 7 Cr. L. J. 459, a successor may pronounce judgment of the predecessor adopting it as his own, 40 M. 108; 1 Cr. L. J. 166

Delivered in open Court.

—the judgment must be delivered in open court 21 C. 121, 13 W. R. 209, except under special circumstances 1 Bom. L. R. 117; 25 M. L. J. 445. 14 M. L. T. 313; 1913 M. W. N. 863; 14 Cr. L. J. 595 Ref

Without delay.

—judgment should be delivered without undue delay, 5 C.P. 24.

In presence of accused —the Judgment should not be pronounced in the absence of the accused. Rat. Un. Cr. 325.

Legality of sentence without judgment.

—to deliver a sentence before writing reasons for the decision is a procedure neither contemplated nor permitted by this and the following secs. 58 L. R. 131; 12 Ind. C. 968; 12 Cr. L. J. 610; 21 C. 121, 23 O. 50, 20 C. 253.

—the omission to write a judgment before an accused is sentenced is only an irregularity curable by s. 537 unless there has been a failure of justice. 81 L. C. 193; 25 Cr. L. J. 705

Effect of loss of record.

—this sec. only imposes the condition that the judgment should be pronounced in open court and imposes a few other conditions, but they do not include the condition that the record should not have been lost, or that if only a portion of the judgment, relating to sentence only is pronounced, the conviction is illegal. 14 M. L. T. 317; 25 M. L. J. 445; 1913 M. W. N. 863; 14 Cr. L. J. 595; 21 Ind. C. 467, 38 M. 498.

S. 364. Effect of loss of record.—(contd.)

—in case a judgment has been lost, the appropriate course for a judge is to re-write the judgment from memory and from the materials on record and place it on record. 38 M. 498.

N. B. This point has been made clear by the recent amendment which provides that the judgment may be written "from the dictation of such Presiding Officer" and "where it is not written by the Presiding Officer with his own hand, every page of such judgment shall be signed by him." —where the chairman of the Bench of Ms. differs, one of the majority should be asked to write the judgment. 91 I. C. 394: 1926 Mad. 34 27 Cr. L. J. 90.

—judgment written and signed when Presiding M. was on leave is no judgment. 18 Cr. L. J. 10.

—the defects cannot be cured by s. 537. 1 Bur. L. J. 122, 73 I. C. 328. 24 Cr. L. J. 584.

—where the judgment was pronounced in open court but was not signed by the M. the omission was an irregularity which could be cured by s. 537 Cr. P. C. 7 Rang. 370, 47 A. 284 fol.

—the provisions s. 367 Cr. P. C. are mandatory. A judgment should be signed at the time of pronouncement and no substantial alteration or addition such as statements of points of determination and the reasons for the decision can be made after delivery 11 Pat. Language of the judgment.

—under this sec. judgment should be written in the language of the court or in English. 4 C. L. J. 232: 4 Cr. L. J. 162.

Contents of judgment.Particulars.

—the judgment must contain sufficient particulars. Rat. Un. Cr. 833, so as to satisfy the appellate or revisional court that the case has been examined from every aspect. 93 I. C. 241: 1926 All. 318: 27 Cr. L. J. 449.

—it must clearly indicate that the court duly considered the evidence. 1 C. W. N. 169.

—it must discuss the facts or the ground of appeal. 91 I. C. 690: 27 Cr. L. J. 114.

—findings should be on all charges. 13 W. R. Cr. 50.

—the common object must be specified. 35 C. 718, 36 C. 158.

—in a case of rioting with common intention of taking possession of complainant's land, possession must be decided. 53 C. 471: 96 I. C. 527: 1926 Cal. 945: 27 Cr. L. J. 975.

S. 367. Contents of judgment.—(confd.)

—the judgment should be clear, systematic and straightforward. 14 C. W. N. 23 (Note).

—It should not be based partly upon evidence and opinions formed in another criminal case. 11 C. W. N. 151 (note)

—though in case of summing up the Judge is not to record a judgment but only to record the heads of the charges to the jury that charge must convey sufficient information to the appellate court as to the explanation of the law by the Judge and about important questions of fact 30 C W N 693; 43 C L J 537; 96 I C 270; 1926 Cal 895 27 Cr. —there was sufficient compliance with the law where the Judge's record of the charge was as follows "as 36f and 366 I P C. read and explained to the jurors" 9 Pat 148 1930 Pat 243: 1930 Cr. C 511

Reasons

—when the M. has given strong and legal reasons for his conclusion, his omission to refer to minute details of the case does not vitiate the judgment. 71 I C. 597 - 24 Cr L J 181

—where in a joint trial of offences triable by jury as well as assessors the Judge in writing the judgment with regard to the charges triable by himself with the assessors merely referred to the charge to the jury without giving any reasons for agreeing with the jury there was no sufficient compliance with the requirements of this section in respect of offences triable with the aid of assessors and the judgment was therefore defective, 97 I. C. 748 : 1927 Mad. 56 27 Cr. L. J. 1164.

—where the statements of the points of determination and the reasons for the decision were not prepared until three weeks after the pronouncement of the judgment in open court the provisions of this sec. were not complied with. 11 Pat. S. 367. Contents of judgment.—(contd.)

—drunkenness is neither a defence nor a palliation and is not a reason for inflicting a sentence of transportation for life instead of death sentence unless it amounts to unsoundness of mind so as to enable insanity to be pleaded or it establishes incapacity in the accused to form the intent necessary to constitute the crime. 95 I. C. 284 : 1926 Lab. 428 : 27 Cr. L. J. 761 : 7 Lah. 141.

—where the accused is convicted of an offence punishable with death the fact that he murdered his victim to escape from custody is no ground for inflicting lesser sentence. 104 I. C. 636 : 1927 Oudh 352 : 28 Cr. L. J. 860 : 4 O. W. N. 754

Judgment of Appellate court.

—an appellate judgment like that of the original court should contain the points for determination, the decision thereon and the reasons for the same. 81 I. C. 437 : 1923 Lab. 344, 98 I. C. 716 : 1927 Nag. 88 : 27 Cr. L. J. 1404, 92 I. O. 855 : 1927 Cr. L. J. 343 : 1926 Sind 275, 107 I. C. 665 : 29 Cr. L. J. 270.

—s. 424 Cr. P. C. read with s. 367 lays down what the contents of the judgment of any appellate court other than a H. C. should be. The judgment of the court of appeal should be such that the H. C. as a Court of Revision may on looking into the judgment be in a position to judge for himself what the case was and how far the court of appeal has considered the evidence. 39 C. L. J. 117 : 81 I. S. 403.—Sub-sec. (3)—Different offences constituted by consequences happening subsequently.

—where certain police constables were first tried for wrongful confinement under s. 342 I. P. C. and were acquitted they could be subsequently convicted of rioting under s. 147 I. P. C. 49 C. 74.

—where in a case of criminal breach of trust the subject matter of the subsequent charge is not included in the subject matter of the previous charge for the same offence, the subsequent trial is not barred. 30 C. 632.

—but a person acquitted of an offence under ss. 201 and 202 I. P. C. cannot be tried again for an offence under s. 176 I. P. C. based on the same facts. 10 C. W. N. 518.

—conviction of an offence under s. 379 I. P. C. for having taken away opium from an opium factory does not bar a subsequent prosecution for an offence under s. 9 Cl. (c) of the Opium Act; the same facts as the facts to be proved for an offence under the Opium Act were quite distinct. 48 A. 426; 1926 All. 404; 27 Cr. L. J. 767; 96 I. C. 287.

—acquittal under s. 160 I. P. C. bars a subsequent trial under s. 61 (e) of the Bombay District Police Act. 29 Bom. L. R. 1478; 1927 Bom. 629.

—trial and conviction under s. 63 of the Calcutta Police Act, of 1866 bars a fresh trial under s. 103 (iv) of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923. 31 C. W. N. 195; 99 I. C. 1033; 1927 Cal. 224; 28 Cr. L. J. 283.

—the new facts or circumstances must have occurred since the conviction or acquittal at the first trial, 36 A. 4; 1901 P. R. 3, and must be such as to indicate a different kind of offence of which there could be no conviction therein. 8 Bur. L. T. 129.

—but if the new facts or consequences were known to the Court at the time of first trial a subsequent trial for an offence constituted by those new facts would be barred. 9 N. L. R. 26.

—but where the second offence is not completed till the acquittal in the first trial, second trial is not barred. 4 Bom. L. R. 57.

Sub-sec (4)—“was not competent to try.”

—this expression means “had not the jurisdiction to try,” so when an accused is acquitted by S. J. aided by assessors he cannot subsequently be convicted by the S. J. and a jury. 24 M. 641.

—the words “competent to try” are equivalent to “in a legal position to have tried and acquitted or convicted,” that is to say, the words refer narrowly to the legal position of the court at the time of the former trial in relation to the particular offence committed and not broadly to the class in general. 117 I. C. 625; 30 Cr. L. J. 806; 1930 Cr. C. 2; 1930 Pat. 26.

—second prosecution on the same facts is not barred if the court by which the accused was first tried and acquitted was not competent to try the offence subsequently charged. 48 M. L. J. 490; 1927 Cal. 224; 18 Cr. L. J. 643; 23 C.

—s. 403 refers to the character and status of the tribunal when it refers to competency to try the offence as shown by (f) and (g). A sanction under s. 195 is not a condition of the competency of the tribunal, it is only a condition precedent for the institution of proceedings before the tribunal. 36 M. 308; 24 M. L. J. 463; 19 I. O. 31.

Explanation.

—the Code is exhaustive on the subject of autrefois acquit and it is not permissible to add to its provisions. 31 M. 543; but Subramanya Ayyar, J. in a dissentient judgment is of opinion that this explanation does not bar resort to a plea analogous to autrefois acquit in cases where such plea ought to be allowed on grounds of justice. 29 M. 126. F. B.

—s. 403 embodies the general rule which affirms the validity of pleas of autrefois acquit and autrefois convict, subject only to the exception specified in it. Where a prosecution is withdrawn after a charge has been framed and it results in an order of acquittal made under s. 494 Cr. P. C., that is a valid acquittal to which s. 403 applies. 9 N. L. R. 26; 18 Ind. C. 887; 14 Cr. L. J. 135, 40 M. 976; 19 Cr. L. J. 301.

—an order under s. 249 stopping the proceedings of a trial has been specifically included by the explanation from being an order of acquittal. 1913 P. R. 9, 4 B. L. R. A. C. 1.

—a stay of trial under s. 240 does not amount to acquittal. 1889 A. W. N. 8.

—s. 403 has no application to a case in which the accused is discharged. 17 A. L. J. 867.

—a M. is competent to rehear a case when the accused is discharged. 28 C. 211, 652 F. B., 29 C. 726 F. B., 1 C. W. N. 49, (4 C. W. N. 26, 46), Diss.

—an order under s. 494 (a) is an order of discharge of the accused and under the circumstances of the case fresh complaint was not barred. 1924 P. 797.

—when the prisoner is released by the appellate court on the ground of illegal or irregular procedure in the Lower Court, retrial is not barred. 13 W. R. 42; So also when the prisoner is discharged on the ground of want of jurisdiction of the Lower Court. 29 C. 412, 3 M. 48.

—when a person is discharged under s. 119, fresh proceedings may be drawn against him. 33 M. 85.

S. 403. Explanation—contd

—it is not open to the Government to appeal to the High Court on the ground of the Sessions Judge's refusal to add new charges. 16 B. 414.

—an appeal by Government should not be entertained when the judgment appealed from is based on facts, and conclusions of the Court are such as may reasonably be arrived at upon the facts found. 16 A. 212, 21 A. 122, 7 P. R. 1904, 2 L. B. R. 303; 1 Cr. L. J. 1022.

—all sentences passed by the Deputy Commissioner of the Sonthal Perganas are final. 17 W. R. 11, 12 C. 536.

—no appeal lies from the order of a Magistrate fining a defaulter under s. 25, Income tax-Act. (Act IX of 1869) 14 W. R. 71.

—an order passed under s. 31 Court Fees Act, directing the accused to pay court fees is not appealable. 20 C. 687.

—appeal does not lie from an order under s. 22 of the Cattle Trespass Act awarding compensation. 15 C. 712, 11 M. 359, P. R. 224 of 1884, 19 M. 238, 10 B. 230, 11 M. 359, 3 N. W. P. 200, 1 C. 712.

S. 404. Unless otherwise provided no appeal to lie. When appeal does not lie—contd.

—no appeal lies from an order of a Judge directing prosecution under s. 41 of the Presidency Magistrates Act. (1V of 1877) 2 C. 466, 5 B. 85.

—s. 411 Cr. P. C. does not allow an appeal in the case of conviction by a Presidency Magistrate where the sentences are six months' rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs. 125 or 200 or in default a further period of three months' rigorous imprisonment. 16 C. 799, 20 B. 145, 2 M. 30.

—no appeal lies to the Sessions Court from the order of the Deputy Magistrate refusing to recall the witnesses for the prosecution for the purpose of cross-examination. 19 W. R. 53.

—no appeal lies from an order restoring possession of immovable property under s. 522 Cr. P. C., 25 C. 630; 2 C. W. N. 225, 27 A. 415, 23 C. 724, 30 C. 690, 7 C. W. N. 634, 34 C. 347, 5 C. L. J. 44.

—appeal against the trial of jury lies on matters of law only. 21 C. 955, 39 A. 358, 23 C. W. N. 661.

—no appeal lies on matters of fact when the accused instead of being tried with the aid of assessors is tried with the aid of jury. 3 Bom. L. R. 218, 25 B. 680, 35 B. 423, 11 Bom. L. R. 350, 26 M. 243; 2 Weir 463, 25 B. 696, 25 C. 555, 3 Bom. L. R. 278 contra. 3 C. 763, 24 W. R. 30.

—no second appeal lies to the High Court where the appellate court, under s. 428 Cr. P. C. takes additional evidence and disposes of the appeal. 27 C. 372, 4 C. W. N. 497.

—no appeal lies to the District Judge from an order to furnish security, affirmed by the Sessions Judge on reference. P. R. 23 of 86.

—when the Sessions Judge and assessors find the accused guilty on his own plea, there is no appeal. 5 W. R. 52.

—in a case in which no appeal lies the proper course is to make an application for revision. 1893 A. W. N. 147.

—the question as to the admissibility of evidence is a matter of law. 27 B. 626, 23 C. W. N. 661, 25 C. 230, 2 B. 61, 19 B. 749.

S. 405 (Appeal from order rejecting application for restoration of attached property).

—the expression "court to which appeals ordinarily lie" means that the court to which appeals lie in the majority of cases. 11 B. 438.

—an application under s. 89 by an absconder for restoration of the property cannot question the legality of the proclamation issued under s. 87 (a). No appeal lies under s. 405 from an order rejecting it. 32 P. R. 1019 Cr. : 54 I. C. 954; 21 Cr. L. J. 210.

S. 406. (Appeal from order requiring security for good behaviour).

peace. (2) Under the old law no appeal would lie from the order of the Dt. M. or Pry. M. directing security but now appeal lies from the order of any M. (3) Under the old law appeal lay to the Dt. M. and now, except under special notification by the Local Government an appeal will ordinarily lie to the S. C. and from the order of the Pry. M. to the H. C. Thus the amendments have set at rest the controversial points

—the second proviso clearly lays down that the moment a reference is made to the Court of Sessions under s. 123 it operates as a bar to an appeal and this principle was recognised under the old law. 23 Cr. L. J. 454 (Lab.).

S. 41B (Appeal on what matters admissible).

N. B. Sub-sec. (2) newly added, has removed the anomaly under the former law that the H. C. acting under s. 374 could consider the facts of the case as regards the person sentenced to death but on an appeal of the second accused could only intervene on a point of law.

Scope of the sec.

—this sec. applies both to appeals by Govt. under s. 417 Cr. P. C. against an order of acquittal as well as to appeals by convicted persons against convictions and sentences. 17 C. P. L. R. 75, 10 C. 1029.

Meaning of "Where the trial was by jury."

—this expression means 'where the trial was in fact held by jury' and not 'where the trial ought to have been held by jury.' So where the accused was tried by a jury in a case which ought to have been tried with the aid of assessors, no appeal would lie except on a question of law. 25 C. 555, 23 B. 696, 25 B. 680, 3 Bom. —an Appellate court cannot alter a conviction for an offence into one for that offence and another offence in the alternative. Ratanlal. 368.

(11). Reduction of sentence.

—when a single sentence is passed for two sentences, the appellate court may alter the sentence of one of the offences into a fine, but if it can be inferred that the trial court did not intend to pass any sentence on the conviction which is set aside in appeal, no reduction of sentence is necessary. 7 M. L. T. 81.

—in case of a single sentence of imprisonment and fine for two offences, it cannot be construed that the imprisonment was imposed for one offence and fine for another. Ratanlal 409.

(12). Enhancement of sentence.

What amounts to enhancement of sentence and its legality.

—when the accused is convicted on two separate charges and the conviction on one of the charges is reversed, retention of the sentence has virtually the effect of an enhancement of the sentence. 24 C. 316, 22 B. 760, 30 M. 48, 3 N. L. R. 67, 1887 P. R. 45.

—an Appellate Court cannot award compensation under s. 250 Cr. P. C., 28 A. 625, 39 C. 157.

—award of costs cannot be treated as incidental or consequential to the disposal of a revision petition within s. 423 (1) (d) for it does not necessarily follow from an order passed in revision. 48 M. 262, 86 I. C. 147, 48 M. L. J. 106, 1925 Mad. 438 F. B.

—an order under s. 471 (1) directing the accused to be committed to a lunatic asylum is a consequential order. 8 L. B. R. 290

—an order setting aside the order for security under s. 106 Cr. P. C. is an incidental order. 30 C. 101.

—under this clause the Appellate Court can exercise the powers conferred by s. 562 Cr. P. C., 24 A. 306, 29 M. 567 —an order directing payment of cost is an incidental order. 29 M. 188, 47 M. 914, 47 M. L. J. 365, 82 I. C. 141, (22 M. 153, 26 M. 421) Dist.

—sending back the case for the signature of the Hy. M. composing a Bench on judgment is an incidental order. 41 A. 217.

(15) Interference with the verdict of the jury.

—in an appeal from trial by jury the power of the appellate court is restricted by the provision of ss. 423 (2) and 537 Cr. P. C., 1928 Pat. 325: 108 I. C. 81, 29 Cr. L. J. 325.

—the H. C. cannot on an appeal from the unanimous verdict of the jury, interfere with it, in the absence of a misdirection by the Judge, where there is some circumstantial evidence. 46 C. 635, 10 Bom. L. R. 565.

—the appellate court should not disturb the finding of the Judge or the verdict of the jury on a simple issue of fact unless the verdict arrived at seems to be opposed to the entire weight of evidence. 1930 Cr. C. 231: 1930 Cal. 199.

—s. 423 (2) applies if it leaves to consider whether the verdict of the jury was erroneous owing to misdirection. 95 I. C. 393: 1926 Lab. 193: 27 Cr. L. J. 793.

S. 423. (15) Interference with the verdict of the jury—contd.

—when the reception of certain inadmissible evidence by the Court did not in fact occasion any failure of justice and where there was sufficient evidence before the jury to justify them, the Appellate Court would not interfere. 49 C L J 313

—the H. C. on setting aside a verdict of the jury on the ground of irregularity, has jurisdiction to order retrial. 46 C. 212.

S. 423. (15) Interference with the verdict of the jury—contd.

—when the verdict is set aside there is no restriction on the power of the Appellate Court. 25 C. 711.

—the H. C. cannot go into the facts of the case. 39 A. 348, 39 A. 348, 25 C. 230.

—the power of the H. C. under S. 307 Cr. P. C. is wider. 21 C. 955, 9 A. 420.

(16) Appeal from trial with the aid of assessors.

—an appellate Court should always be very cautious in interfering with a judgment of a judge and assessors who had the advantage to mark the demeanour of witnesses. 17 C. 485, 2 Weir 462, 19 B. 51, 7 P. R. (1904) 19.

—appeal from trial held with the aid of assessors differ greatly from those governing appeals from the trial by jury, in the latter case the appeal is restricted by the provisions of ss 423, (2) and 537 Cr. If the Appellate Court thinks additional evidence necessary.

—the word "necessary" does not mean that it should be impossible to pronounce judgment without the additional evidence. 25 Cr. L. J. 401 : 77 I. C. 481 : 1925 M. 106.

—there is no restriction in the wording of the sec. as to the nature of evidence. Above case.

—there is nothing in the sec. to preclude an appellate court from taking additional evidence in order to ascertain the value of the defence evidence. 55 M. L. J. 676 : 1928 Mad. 1174 : 1928 M. W. N. 777 : 113 I. C. 325 : 30 Cr. L. J. 133.

—where further evidence is found to be necessary, the proper course is to proceed under cl. (1). 31 C. 710.

—the power may be exercised at any time. 8 M. L. T. 418.

—it is a matter entirely within the discretion of the appellate court whether in the circumstances of a particular case there should be a retrial or additional evidence should be taken in the appeal when it is complained that the trial court wrongly refused to summon certain witnesses. 77 I. C. 481 : 25 Cr. L. J. 401 : 1925 Med. 106.

—the court recording reasons can direct further evidence to be taken on the side of the prosecution but it cannot direct the taking of the evidence of a co-accused who had not appealed. 93 I. C. 255 : 1926 Lab. 309 : 27 Cr. L. J. 463.

—additional evidence to prove a fact may be dispensed with by the admission of the pleader for the accused, the procedure being at most an irregularity curable by s. 537 Cr. P. C. 52 B. 686 : 1928 Bom. 241 : 30 Bom. L. R. 646 : 112 I. C. 110.

—the necessity for taking additional evidence must be apparent from something on the record and cannot be derived from external information eg., by affidavits that fresh evidence has been discovered which shows the statement of a witness to be incorrect,

—a court having once issued process, is bound to exhaust all the processes allowed by law, unless it is clearly shown that the accused is guilty of wilful obstruction and delay. 3 Pat. L. J. 632; 47 I. C. 274; 19 Cr. L. J. 902

Appellate Court must record reasons.

—before directing to take additional evidence the Appellate Court must record its reasons for so doing. 42 M. 885, 8 M. L. T. 418, but omission thereof is mere an irregularity which is curable by s. 531. 9 M. L. T. 406; 10 I. C. 290; 12 Cr. L. J. 240.

Examination of accused

—this sec. does not provide for the examination of the accused after witnesses have been examined on remand by the Appellate Court 6 Pat. L. T. 154; 86 I. C. 459; 1925 P. 414

—s. 342 Cr. P. C. which applies to original trial does not apply to evidence taken under s. 428 Cr. P. C. by the appellate court; the evidence may be taken by the appellate court properly be be appellate L. R. 651

Further investigation by police

—further investigation by the police cannot be ordered if the case had been originally started by a complaint in court. 1900 A. W. N. 130; 16 A. W. N. 73.

S. 428. Chemical examiner's report when not tendered.

—when the chemical examiner's report was not tendered at the trial the appellate court cannot send for it and admit it in evidence unless the provisions of sec. 428 were complied with. 21 A. L. J. 869.

Findings of Lower Court cannot be called for.

—the Appellate Court in directing the Lower Court to take additional evidence cannot call for its finding and the lower court cannot give any finding. 9 M. L. T. 406 : 10 I. C. 290, 16 Cr. L. J. 797 (Mad.) : 1914 M. W. N. 778 : 26 I. C. 671 : 16 Cr. L. J. 79, 3 B. L. R. A. C. 62, but where disregarding the provisions of the sec. such finding is called for the order will be set aside and the case will have to be retried. 9 M. L. T. 406 : 10 I. C. 290 : 12 Cr. L. J. 240.

Fresh sentence cannot be passed.

—the Appellate Court can rehear the appeal after obtaining the additional evidence. 3 P. L. J. 632 : 47 I. C. 274, but cannot pass a fresh sentence which may be the subject of further appeal. 27 C. 372.

No further appeal in case of dismissal.

—when an appeal is dismissed after taking additional evidence under this sec. the appellant has no further right of appeal. 27 C. 372, 8 W. R. 59, 15 W. R. 33, 6 B. H. C. R. 64.

Power of the High Court.

—both under the Cr. P. C. and under s. 107 of the Govt. of India Act of 1915 the High Court has full jurisdiction and power in criminal revision, to direct the Appellate Court to rehear the appeal after obtaining additional evidence certified by trial court. 3 Pat. L. J. 632 : 47 I. C. 274 : 19 Cr. L. J. 902, 1 Pat. L. J. 99.

—the H. C. may admit in evidence a copy of the notification under s. 423 Cr. P. C. 44 M. L. J. 557 : 72 I. C. 515 : 24 Cr. L. J. 433.

Sub-sec. (3) jurors or assessors should not be present.

—the Court of Sessions is in only one instance authorised to record evidence in the absence of the jury or the assessors and that is when additional evidence is called for by the Appellate Court. 15 A. 136.

S. 429. (Procedure where Judges of Court of appeal are equally divided).

—this sec. applies not only to appeals but to revisional proceedings. 40 M. 976 : 33 M. L. J. 121 : 45 I. C. 261, 27 C. 522, 27 C. 501 and also to reference 15 B. 542.

—cases governed by this sec. cannot be referred to a Full Bench. 40 M. 976 : 33 M. L. J. 12 : 19 Cr. L. J. 501, 29 C. W. N. 475.

—the third judge cannot differ from the referring judges on points agreed to by them, 22 C. W. N. 745 : 28 C. L. J. 33, the third judge may consider all the points involved, before he delivers judgment, 38 C. 202 but he cannot consider the case of the accused not referred to him. 33 C. 202.

S. 429. (Procedure where Judges of Court of appeal are equally divided)—contd.

—a third judge to whom reference is made under s. 422 Cr. P. C. cannot make a reference to a Full Bench. 29 C. W. N. 475 : 86 I. C. 979 : 1925 Cal. 1040 : 26 Cr. L. J. 915.

S. 430. (Finality of orders on appeal.)

—a sentence is called final when it cannot be called in question by any court or authority. 12 C. 536.

—where the Appellate Court has disposed of the appeal and signed the judgment it cannot rehear the appeal. 1 Pnt. L. T. 174 : 1923 Pat. 237.

—an order rejecting an appeal on the ground of being time-barred is final. 19 B. 732, 1887 P. R. 24.

—an order rejecting an appeal summarily is final, 23 B. 50 but such order for non appearance of the appellant is improper and the appeal may be reheard. 7 M. A. C. R. App. 29, 5 N. L. R. 76, 46 M. 382.

S. 431. (Abatement of appeals).

—an appeal other than an appeal under s. 471 Cr. P. C. or an appeal from a sentence of fine abates on the death of the appellant.

1903 P. R. 24.

—the principle of this sec. applies to revision, 1919 P. R. 8 : 10 P. W. R. 1919 : 20 Cr. L. J. 214 : 49 I. C. 274.

—the object of the addition of the words "except an appeal from a sentence of fine" was clearly to prevent the estate of a deceased person being damaged. Abote case

S. 432. Reference by Presidency Magistrate to H. C.

—this sec. applies only to Presidency Mts. 22 S. L. R. 201 : 1928 Sind. 69, 105 I. C. 802 : 28 Cr. L. J. 978.

—a Pr. M. cannot refer without hearing the case. 1 Bom. L. R. 52.

—reference under this sec. must be on a point of law only. Rat. Un. Cr. 838, 539.

—the power of reference is confined to questions of law which the M. requires to decide in order to perform his duty in disposing of the case or in other words unless they are matters upon which he has a duty to make up his mind. 34 C. W. N. 13 : 1929 Cal. 765 : 1929 Cr. C. 468 : 1929 Cal. 756 F. B.

—where a case was referred to the H. C. on the ground that the sentences passed on the accused for the offence under sec. 1. P. C. was ridiculously light, held that though the accused served the sentence of imprisonment actually passed, the H. C. impose a further sentence for a substantive period in a case. 93 I. S. 432. Reference by Presidency Magistrate to H. C.—contd

—upon reference, the H. C. only deals with the particular points of law referred to it. 33 C. 193.

—except in cases where there is a reference under this sec. the H. C. cannot and will not express an opinion upon any question unless it is brought before it in the ordinary way by application for revision. 9 Cr. L. J. 248; 1 B. L. R. 4 Cr. but see sec. 438 Cr. P. C.

—the order passed is conclusive both as to the merits of the case and as to the quantum of punishment 1890 A. W. N. 225.

—on a reference under this sec. the prosecution is to make out that an offence has been committed, so the prosecution must begin. 19 C 350.

—a trying M. cannot seek advice from District M. on a point of law. 37 B 144.

S. 433. (Disposal of case according to decision of H. C.)

—in a reference to the H. C. as to whether upon the facts stated any offence has been committed, the prosecution has to make out that an offence has been committed, so the counsel for the prosecution has the right to begin. 19 C. 380.

—the H. C. sitting in appeal cannot review its order passed by it under this sec. Ratanlal 638.

—the order of the H. C. on reference under s. 432 Cr. P. C. is conclusive. 1890 M. W. N. 225.

- (1) Scope of the sec

—the words of the sec. are very general—29 B. 543, 15 C. 608, 31 M. 133: 18 M. L. J. 57, and although a conviction under a particular Act shall not be open to appeal or revision the H. C. will revise an order of M. without jurisdiction. 2 S. L. R. 20: 10 Cr. L. J. 233.

—"propriety of any finding" is wide enough to cover findings of fact as well as of law, 10 B. 131, 12 B. 377, 14 B. 331, 10 C. 1047 and misreading of documentary evidence. 28 B. 479.

—the object of the sec. is to set right some patent defect of error and not to give the H. C. a roving commission to look for some trace of possible error. A. W. N. 1899, 135.

—the Dt. M. exercising original or appellate jurisdiction is inferior to the Sessions Judge. 89 I. C. 246 : 1925 All. 591 : 26 Cr. L. J. 1282.

S. 435. (3) Meaning of the term "inferior court" and its power—contd

—a single Judge of the H. C. is not inferior to the Divisional or Full Bench of the H. C. for the purposes of this sec. 1909 P. R. 4, 1909 P. R. 8.

—a Bench of the H. C. sitting as a court of revision cannot under s. 439 alter or interfere with a conviction imposed by a single judge of the H. C. ss. 435 to 439 clearly contemplate interference only with the findings of any inferior court. 92 I. C. 851 : 1926 Nag. 323 : 27 Cr. L. J. 339

—a court acting under s. 3 of the E. B. Assam Disorderly House Act is criminal court within the meaning of this sec. and the H. C. has jurisdiction to interfere under ss. 435 and 439. 37 C. 287.

—the provisions of this sec. do not apply to Dt. Ms. but to criminal courts inferior to the H. C. When exercising jurisdiction under the election rules of the District Board the Dt. M. does not act as criminal court and therefore the H. C. cannot interfere in revision with the order of the Dt. M. under s. 195 (5). 1929 All. 931, 1929 Cr. C. 659, 9 Bom. L. R. 1347 Rel. on.

(4) Power of H. C., S. J., Dt. M. and S. D. M. under this sec.

—(per C. C. Ghose, J.) the H. C. has undoubted power to quash pending proceedings in subordinate criminal courts and it is the bounden duty of the H. C. to interfere when it is brought to its notice that a person has been subjected or is about to be subjected to the harassment of an illegal prosecution. *per Cuming and Gould J. —as a matter of general discretion if a man makes an application to the H. C. in revision with full knowledge of the fact and deliberately keeps back one point, he will not be heard to make a second. —records may be called even after the prisoner has served out his sentence, 7 A. 135 and even after the death of the prisoner pending appeal. 2 B. 564.

—under the very extensive powers conferred by this sec the H. C. can call for and examine the proceedings of the inferior courts if the necessity of doing so is brought to its notice in any manner. But before it does so it would have to be satisfied that there are a priori grounds for apprehending a mis-carriage of justice. 45 A. 128; 20 A. L. J. 909; L. R. 3 A. 178 Cr.; 71 I. C. 243; 24 Cr. S. 436. (Power to order inquiry). It has been numbered 436 by the Amendment instead of 437.

Amendment.

By the new Amendment ss. 436 and 437 have been re-numbered ss. 437 and 436 respectively, and in the latter sec., as numbered, for the words "accused person" the words "person accused of an offence" have been substituted and after the words "discharged" the following have been added, namely "provided that no court shall make any direction under this sec. for inquiry into the case of any person who has been discharged unless such person has had an opportunity of showing cause why such direction should not be made." The words "instead of directing a fresh inquiry" in the next refers to this sec. and that has given rise to the cause of interchanging the numbers of the secs.

S. 436. Meaning of terms.

—"further inquiry" means that the case should be taken up again and that the question of dismissing the complaint, or charging the accused, should again be considered and an appropriate order made as the result of such fresh consideration. 82 M. 220 F. B.

"further inquiry" means an inquiry of the same nature as was previously held under s. 202 C. P. C. 9 Pat. L. T. 459 : 108 I. C. 329 : 29 Cr. L. J. 372.

—In regard to person accused who has never been before the court at all, it cannot be said that he has been "discharged" under this sec. 27 C. 658, 11 C. W. N. 218 (note), but see 29 C. 417, 32 C. 783.

—"discharged" in sec. 437 ought to be read as equivalent to discharged within the meaning of ss. 209, 253 and 259 and a discharge under s. 119 is not within the scope of this sec. 35 M. 83 : 6 M. L. T. 133 : 20 M. L. J. 137, it need not be an improper discharge. 9 A. 52, F. B., but see 394 P. L. R. 1902.

—"accused" means "a person accused of an offence" and not a person against whom proceedings under s. 110 are taken, 27 C. 662 : 33 C. 8 contra., a person against whom an inquiry under s. 107 is instituted, is in the position of an accused. 36 C. 163, 21 A. 107, 16 B. 661, 23 C. 493, 24 A. 148. But see N. B. below.

—"examining the record under s. 435 or otherwise" does not mean, in any other way whatsoever, but in other way provided by the Code. 10 C. 263.

—the reasons for exercising the power conferred by this sec. are reasons which should arise upon the materials to be found on the record and not upon extraneous matter. 1890 A. W. N. 147.

—the provisions of s. 436 are not applicable to persons against whom proceedings are taken under Ch. VIII. 81 Ind. C. 970 : 2 Bur. L. J. 285.

—the new proviso does not apply to dismissal under s. 203 Cr. P. C. 23 A. L. J. 451.

—as the amended sec. contains the words "any person accused of an offence" instead of "any accused person" it does not include persons against whom proceedings were taken under ch. VIII. 2 Bur. L. J. 285.

Powers of respective courts.

—the powers of the H. C., the S. J. and the D. M. are co-extensive under this sec. 32 M. 220 F. B.

—though sec. 439 gives the H. C. all the powers of an Appellate Court under s. 423, the power under this sec. is not included in it. 9 A. 52.

—where the D. M. dismissed a complaint and no application was made to the S. J. the H. C. declined to interfere under this sec. 28 A. 268, 1924 A. W. N. 232.

—where in respect of a case in which the M. directed a preliminary inquiry, the S. J. directed a further inquiry the M. had no power to summon the accused at that stage. 84 I. C. 449 : 26 Cr. L. J. 305 : 1925 Cal. 576.

S. 436. Powers of respective courts—contd.

—further inquiry after discharge is improper unless the order of discharge is perverse or foolish or based on an incomplete record of evidence. Before ordering further enquiry the court must state in what respect the trial judge's conclusion is unsatisfactory. 26 Punj. L. R. 291.

—merely because the Dt. M. does not agree with the opinion of the trying M. there is no reason to direct a further inquiry. 44 A. 691: 1922 A. 429: 71 I. C. 600: 21 A. L. J. 194: 1923 A. 484: 24 Cr. L. J. 184.

Procedure,—if notice is necessary.

—under the amended sec. 436 Cr. P. C. there is clear distinction between a case in which a complaint is dismissed under s. 203 and a case in which the accused is discharged under s. 253 Cr. P. C. In the latter case only notice should be given to the accused before any order is passed in revision because he was present at the trial but in the former case no notice is required to be given as the accused has no right to appear at that stage. 49 C. L. J. 422 : 1929 Cal. 508 : 119 I. C. 376 : 30 Cr. L. J. 1030.

S. 436. Procedure—If notice is necessary—contd.

—when a complaint is dismissed under s. 203 Cr. P. C. no notice to the person complained against need be given before further inquiry is ordered. 102 I. C. 511. 1927 Bom. 436: 28 Cr. L. J. 575: 29 Bom. L. R. 575, nor in such case an opportunity is to be given to the accused to show cause why orders should not be passed against him under s. 436. The provision to s. 436 applies only to cases where the accused person has been discharged and not to cases where orders have been passed under s. 203 Cr. P. C. 103 I. C. 106: 1927 Oudh 264: 28 Cr. —dismissal of the complaint under s. 203 Cr. P. C. does not amount to a discharge of the accused, so an order under s. 436 Cr. P. C. for further inquiry into a complaint dismissed under s. 203 is not bad for want of notice. 49 M. 918: 99 I. C. 337: 1927 Mad. 19: 28 Cr. L. J. 129.

S. 437. (Power to order commitment). It has been numbered 437 by the Amendment, instead of 436.

Application of the section.

—to apply this sec. the accused must be charged with an offence exclusively triable by the court of Sessions. 1929 M. W. N. 709, 1904 P. L. R. 234, 7 A. 853, 12 C. 473, 9 B. 100, 8 M. 18, 1 A. 413 F. B., 15 M. L. J. 373, Rat. Cr. 41, 24 M. 136.

—this sec. does not apply merely because in the opinion of the D. M. the offence could not be adequately punished by the M. 1908 A. W. N. 189: 8 Cr. L. J. 47, 2 Weir 260, 31 M. 133.

—the words "or otherwise" in the sec. do not mean 'in any way whatsoever' but 'in any other way provided by the Code.' 10 C. 268.

—the ground for exercising the powers under this section must arise upon the materials to be found on the record and not upon any extraneous matter. 1890 A. W. N. 147, 15 C. 608.

—the provisions of this sec. do not apply to Presidency M. who can revise a complaint even after discharge. 1 C. W. N. 49, 5 C. W. N. 169, 28 C. 211, 652, 29 C. 726, but the H. C. can interfere with the orders of Pr. M. 36 C. 994, 3 C. W. N. 593, 601.

When and how commitment should be ordered.

—the S. J. and the Dt. M. should use the powers given to them by this sec. sparingly and with great caution and circumspection specially when the question involved is a question of fact only. 102 L. C. 777; 28 Cr. L. J. 601 25 A. L. J. 703.

—a superior Court should hesitate to exercise its power of ordering further inquiry, unless there are palpable errors in the decision of the lower court. 50 C. L. J. 284. 1929 Cr. C. 467; 1929 Cal. 755.

S. 437. When and how commitment should be ordered—contd.

—where the inferior court has considered the whole of the prosecution evidence and there is no defect of procedure and the M. discharges the accused because in his opinion the evidence is insufficient or incredible but the Dt. M. comes to a different conclusion upon the evidence, his proper course is to make an order of commitment and not of further inquiry. 12 N. L. R. 94.

—so also where the S. J. or the Dt. M. is satisfied that on the evidence there is a clear case for commitment and no reason for desiring a further consideration by the M. he should commit under this section without ordering a further inquiry. 15 C. 608.

—but the Dt. M. is not restricted to ordering commitment of the accused who may have been discharged by a subordinate M.; he can also direct a further enquiry prior to making an order for commitment, 18 C. 25, but further enquiry should not be ordered unless the order of discharge was perverse or foolish or incomplete. 95 I. S. 439. Powers of the H. C. in revision.—contd.

—the H. C. can convict the accused on a charge on which the accused has been acquitted in effect. 94 I. C. 134 : 27 Cr. L. J. 566 : 1926 Lah. 361. For other cases on the point see cases under the heading "Revision of orders of acquittal" below.

Can pass one aggregate or consolidated sentence.

—the H. C. may in revision pass one aggregate or consolidated sentence 4 C. W. N. 245.

Can alter the finding and confirm the conviction.

—the H. C. may in revision alter the finding and confirm the conviction. 22 C. 391, 21 C. 827.

Can alter conviction.

—a conviction under s. 186 can be converted into a conviction for an offence under s. 225 (b) by the H. C. in revision. 103 I. C. 833 : 1927 Lah. 708 : 28 Cr. L. J. 753 : 9 Lah. 214 : 29 Punj. L. R. 196.

Can quash conviction.

—the H. C. on application for revision of an order of the S. J. confirming a conviction by a M. directed the application to be converted into one for revision of the order of the M. and quashed the conviction. 20 A. L. J. 198 : 66 I. C. 184 : 23 Cr. L. J. 248.

Can reduce sentence

—to reduce the sentence the H. C. should be satisfied that it is very unreasonable and excessive. 1930 Sind 58 : 1930 Cr. C. 123.

—where after rule was issued by the H. C. against the conviction, the Settlement officer the preparation of a Record considered it and reduced the sentence 473 : 24 Ind. C. 501

Can restore the sentence of the trial Court

—when an accused person applies under this section the H. C. can, in the interest of justice, set aside the order of the appellate court reducing the sentence and restore the sentence of the trial Judge 1926 All. 719 : 6 Cr. R. 274.

—the H. C. can in revision interfere with the excessive sentence 1929 Lah. 187 : 118 I. C. 438 : 33 Cr. L. J. 916

—Can quash commitment

—the H. C. can quash a commitment made by S. J. or Dt. M. 12 C. W. N. 117 : 6 C. L. J. 760, 30 M. 224, 7 C. W. N. 327, 2 A. 398.

Can quash proceedings.

—the H. C. can quash proceedings though such power will only be exercised in exceptional cases. 1928 Lah. 945 : 10 Lah. L. J. 485. When on the evidence it appears that no offence has been committed the H. C. will quash the proceeding. 52 B. 151 : 1928 Bom. 116 : 29 Cr. L. J. 317.

Can consider the case of convicts other than the petitioner.

—where some of several persons convicted preferred revision petition to the H. C., the H. C. in setting aside the convictions of the petitioners could set aside the convictions of other persons also. 1928 Pat. 249 : 29 Cr. L. J. 259 : 107 I. C. 529.

S. 439. Powers of the H. C. in revision.—contd.Can direct retrial or commitment

—the H. C. has under ss 435 and 439 all the powers of an Appellate court which include a power to direct a re-trial or commitment. 36 C 994, 7 C W N. 521, 6 C. L. J. 251, 11 C. W. —where on the facts there was prima facie case against the accused under a 471 I. P. C. but the M. convicted the accused under s. 196 I. P. C. the H. C. in revision ordered commitment to the Sessions. 30 C W N. 840 ; 44 C. L. J. 113, 96 I. C. 119, 27 Cr. L. J. 871.

When can order further inquiry

—a court of revision cannot order further inquiry merely for disagreement with the conclusion of the M., it can order further inquiry in cases where the M. has not taken sufficient trouble or has come to a perverse decision. 1929 All. 588 ; 117 I. C. 345 ; 30 Cr. L. J. 755 : 1929 Cr. C. 176

Can interfere with an order under s. 528 Cr. P. C.

—although it is not the practice to interfere with an order of the lower court under s. 528 Cr. P. C., it will interfere where there are reasons for so doing. 1928 Pat. 347, 29 Cr. L. J. 373, 108 I. C. 329.

Interference with order under s. 562 Cr. P. C.

—unless the order of a M. under s. 562 is clearly mistaken or injudicious or amounts to a failure of justice the H. C. will not interfere. 85 I. C. 843 ; 47 A. 353 ; 1925 All. 614 ; 26 Cr. L. J. 624, 100 I. C. 127, 1927 Lah. 353, 28 Cr. L. J. 255, 31 C. W. N. 960, 104 I. C. 447, 1927 Cal. 702 ; 28 Cr. L. J. 831, 107 I. C. 775 : 1928 Lah. 926 ; 29 Cr. L. J. 291.

Questions of misjoinder can be raised in revision

—a plea that a joint trial was illegal under s. 239 Cr. P. C. can be raised for the first time in revision. If the point is made out the trial is vitiated even if there is no prejudice. 1925 Cal. 248, 81 I. C. 343 ; 25 Cr. L. J. 807.

—but the H. C. will not interfere with a conviction solely on the ground of a technical illegality relating to misjoinder of charges. 93 I. C. 1054 ; 27 Cr. L. J. 558, 6 Cr. R. 267.

Can interfere with orders that are not final

—the H. C. has wide powers of interference under s. 439 and can interfere even with orders that are not final, where it is apparent closed the case was

—but where a M. refuses to allow composition of an offence compoundable with the leave of the court without rightly exercising the discretion the H. C. can interfere in revision and allow composition. 1929 Pat. 512 : 1929 Cr. C. 272, 55 C. 1190.

Can hear private complainant.

—in hearing a revision the H. C. can hear a private complainant in the case of an offence under ss. 500 and 501 I. P. C. 50 C. 159 : 36 C. L. J. 287, 42 C. 612.

—the H. C. may stay the further proceedings of the Lower Court under this sec. 1905 A. W. N. 238 : 2 A. L. J. 673 : 20 B. 543, 36 P. L. R. 1909 : 9 Cr. L. J. 131, 3 P. W. R. 1909 : 9 Cr. L. J. 154, 22 C. 131, 1925 Mad. 39 : 47 M. L. J. 373 Contra. 85 I. C. 37 : 1925 Mad. 315 : 26 Cr. L. J. 421.

S. 476. When order under this sec. should be made and when not—contd.

—the Cr. F. C. provides for taking cognizance of offences and not of offenders and a M. legally taking cognizance of an offence on an order under s. 476 has jurisdiction to proceed against any one who may be proved by evidence to be concerned in the offence whether he was mentioned in the order under s. 476 or not. 21 C. W. N. 950; 18 Cr. L. J. 901.

—a. 225-B. I. P. C. is not one of the offences mentioned in sec. 195 Cr. P. C. 21 C. W. N. 125; 18 Cr. L. J. 117.

—where the court drew up a proceeding against a person present in court for the non-production of document in his possession it was held that before any proceedings could be taken, it would be necessary to determine whether the document in question was one which he could be compelled to produce and if the requirements of ss. 130 and 131 Evi. Act were fulfilled 14 C. L. J. 120; 11 Ind. C. 794; 12 Cr. L. J. 450, 40 C. 477; 17 C. L. J. 245; 17 C. W. N. 647, 14 Cr. L. J. 197; 19 Ind. C. 197 Ref

—when a subordinate court has not made a complaint nor has rejected an application, the superior court can take action, but unless the former has refused to take action remedy lies in appeal within 30 days. 42 C. L. J. 120

—the fact that a complainant fails to prove his case is not sufficient to sanction a prosecution under s. 211 I. P. C. The Judge or M. must be satisfied that the complaint was made with intent to cause injury or that it was a false complaint made with the knowledge that it was false. 6 Pat. L. T. 365; 83 I. C. 701; 26 Cr. L. J. 141.

—the wording of s. 476 is wide enough to cover the consideration of other than strictly legal evidence in coming to the conclusion whether an order should be made under s. 476 for prosecution of a person and a prosecution can legally be directed upon evidence recorded in an investigation conducted under sec 202. A. I. R. 1924 Pat. 138, 21 M. L. J. 795.

—an order under a. 476 Cr. P. C. can be passed on the basis of evidence recorded under s. 202 (2). 74 I. C. 1054; 24 Cr. L. J. 862.

—it is no use passing an order under a. 476 Cr. P. C. unless there is a reasonable probability of conviction. 74 I. C. 855; 24 Cr. L. J. 823.

"In relation to a proceeding"

—if two offences are even remotely connected by the relationship of cause and effect one may be said to be committed in relation to the other. The words "in relation to" in the section are sufficiently wide to cover a case whereon offence was actually committed before the proceedings began in the complaining court; therefore, a false charge to the police is obviously a matter related to the proceedings in the S. O. for it is the basis of such proceedings. 100 I. C. 708; 1927 Cal 478; 28 Cr. L. J. 324.

S. 476. Revision.

—a S. J. has no jurisdiction to revise an order of a M. passed under s. 476. It is only the H. C. which has power to revise such order under sec. 439 Cr. P. C., or under the general powers of superintendence. 11 C. W. N. 123; 34 C. 42, 33 M. 48 F. B., 21 M. 124 F. B., 26 B. 745; 4 Bom. L. R. 618, 23 A. 249, 26 A. 249, 1908, A. W. N. 27; 4 A. L. —there is nothing in law to prevent the M from entertaining a complaint after the discharge of the accused persons in a previous police case under s. 494 Cr. P. C. An order made under s. 495 (a) is an order of discharge and therefore s. 403 does not debar the entertainment of a fresh complaint on the same facts. 1924 Pat. 226 A. I R 1924 Pat. 797 : 83 I. —when the offence affects the public peace and security a private person should not be permitted to conduct the prosecution. 18 Cr. L. J. 329 (Mad).

—the words "any such officer" refer only to the Advocate General, Standing Counsel mentioned in sub-section (1). If any person other than these officers e.g. an Advocate privately engaged, withdraws from the prosecution the effect of sec. 494 does not follow and the trial will proceed. 1908 Cr. B. R. 1st Qr. —when a person is permitted to conduct a case as prosecutor he may instruct a counsel to appear. 11 B. H. C. R. 102.

—the first paragraph of sec. 495 does not in any way limit the scope of the third paragraph. There is nothing in s. 495 to warrant the action of a M. in taking the prosecution out of the hands of the complainant's pleader and handing it to some other person who is not the public prosecutor. 25 Cr. (1) When bail should be granted :

—the requirements as to bail are to secure the attendance of the accused at the trial and bail is not to be withheld merely as a punishment. The proper test is whether it is probable that the party will appear to take his trial. The test is applied with reference to the nature of the accusation, the nature of the evidence in support of the accusation, the severity of the punishment which the conviction will entail, and in some instances, the character, means and standing of the accused. 51 C 402 : 38 C L J 388. 1923 Cal. 476 : 81 Ind. N. 51 : 4 M. L. T.

—the main question for consideration was that were there reasonable grounds for believing that the petitioners were guilty of offences of which they were accused. Other considerations must also arise and one of these which has always guided the courts of justice is whether the accused if bailed would abscond and attempt to escape by avoiding or delaying an enquiry or trial. Sa. 496-502. (1) When bail should be granted :—contd.

—there is no difference between the English and the Indian practice. Bail is not to be withheld by way of punishment and the requirements as to bail are merely to secure the attendance of the accused at the trial. 102 I. C. 909: 28 Cr. L. J. 621: 1927 Pat. 302: 6 Pat. 802.

—in view of the express provisions of the Indian statute it is not open to follow the English authorities which lay down the principles on which bail is granted in that country. 1918 Slad 142: 109 I. C. 118: 29 Cr. L. J. 470.

—bail is not to be withheld merely as a punishment. Its object is to secure the attendance of the accused at the trial and the test to be applied is whether it is probable that the party will appear to take his trial considering the nature of the accusation, the evidence in support of it and the punishment awardable. 33 C. L. J. 388, 1927 Pat. 302: 102 I. C. 909. 28 Cr. L. J. 621 8 Pat. L. T. 557.

—the power to admit to bail is not arbitrary but judicial one. 33 C. L. J. 388.

—where the complaint under s. 124-A I. P. C. is not in proper form bail should be granted. 1929 Lab. 284.

—the court is not called upon to conduct a preliminary trial of the case and consider the probability of the guilt of the accused before granting bail. But it may incidentally look at the weight of the evidence against the accused as a necessary part of its proper function, that is, to enquire if the giving of the bail might lead to a real danger of his absconding or if there is any real reason to suppose that he is likely to tamper with the witness for the prosecution. 1925 Mad. 1224. 22 L. W. 156.

—a mere vague allegation that the accused, if released, will tamper with the evidence is not sufficient to refuse bail. 32 Bom. L. R. 1131: 1930 Bom. 484

—the Court is not to confine its attention only to the question whether the prisoner is or is not likely to abscond as other circumstances may also affect the question of granting bail to persons accused of having committed crimes of grave and serious nature. It is the right of an accused person to demand the trial without unreasonable delay, and such delay will dispose the court to grant bail. 13 C. W. N. 43: 36 O. 166: 9 Cr. L. Ss. 516 A, 517. (Order for disposal of property).

N. B.—The amendment has settled many disputes as to the application of the section. For the word "disposal" the words "by destruction, confiscation, or delivery to any person claiming to be entitled to possession thereof or otherwise" have been substituted. By adding sub-sec. (4) provision has been made to deliver any property on the execution of bond and by the enactment of s. 516 A. provision has been made for the custody and disposal of property pending trial or inquiry.

Applicability of the sec.

—before the amendment, a criminal court had no power to order confiscation of properties forming the subject of the offence or in respect of which an offence appeared to have been committed. 28 C. W. N. 1094 : 1924 Cal. 1040.

—restitution proceedings are proceedings of a quasi civil nature and an ex parte order therein is valid 1928 Rang. 310.

of the property. In such a case, the general rule, that property taken under the authority of the court for a particular purpose should, on the fulfilment of that purpose, go back to the custody whence it was taken, shall apply. 29 M. 375; 4 Cr. L. J. 233, 9 M. 448, 14 C. 834, 24 C. 499, 17 B. 748, 22 B. 844, 1 B. 630, 14 C. P. 60.

—by the addition of the words "or in its custody" a M. has no power to pass an order under sec. 517 though no offence is committed in respect of the property 34 C. 347.

—an order for the disposal of property regarding which an offence has been committed can only be made upon the conclusion of the enquiry or trial and not on the application of a person subsequently made after the trial is over. 4 Lab. 460, 74 I. C. 708; 24 Cr. L. J. 801

—property which has passed out of the custody of the court cannot be touched by an order under this sec. 1921 Pat 128; 3 Pat. L. T. 228; 65 I. C. 494; 23 Cr. L. J. 110.

—an order under sec. 517 ought to be made at the time of passing judgment. It is necessary that the order should follow a fresh inquiry. 18 Cr. L. J. 469 —an order under s. 517 should be made only upon the conclusion of the trial and not long after it 24 Cr. L. J. 804.

—an order under s. 517 can be made only after the judgment in the case and within a reasonable time thereafter. 89 I. C. 973; 26 Cr. L. J. 1453.

—the essential of s. 517 is that property or document must be proved to have been used in the commission of the offence. Where currency notes were found on the person of a man convicted for importing opium into British India in contravention of the Opium Act, but it was held that no irresistible inference was possible that they represented payments of the imported opium, they should not be confiscated. 1924 All. 618; 81 I. C. 103; 25 Cr. L. J. 615.

—the expression "property regarding which an offence has been committed" includes movable property regarding the possession of which a quarrel has begun or a riot has begun whatever may be the offence that might ultimately be committed in the course of the quarrel or fight. 1928 Med. 194; 54 M. L. J. 312; 27 L. W. 132; 51 M. 636; 108 I. C. 65; 29 Cr. L. J. 322.

—when the pledgor dishonestly removes from the possession of the pledgee certain goods and sells them to a third person and the pledgor is convicted for itself, it is open to the court to pass an order under s. 517 directing the stolen articles to be returned to the pledgee. 71 I. C. 702; 24 Cr. L. J. 233; 1923 Cal 598.

—the jurisdiction of the criminal court is confined to an order at the conclusion of the trial for the disposal of the property which has been stolen and which is before it in any criminal proceeding. 1924 Cll. 189.

Order of forfeiture.

—order of disposal under this sec. includes an order of forfeiture or confiscation. Ratanlal 492. This view has been given effect to by the amendment which shows the inaccuracy of the rulings reported in 5 N. L. R. 59, 1907 P. W. R. 37, 5 P. L. J. 321, 34 C. 986.

When the decision of the civil court is required.

—in case of question arising as to who is the rightful owner which can only be determined by the civil court the M. should not pass orders under this sec. but he should order deposit of the articles with an officer of the court pending the decision of the civil court 19 Cr. L. J. 788.

—when rival claims are put forward to property by different parties the proper procedure is to lend the property in court pending the decision of a civil court as regards the title to it. 28 C. W. N. 1094. 84 I. C. 414: 26 C. L. J. 300: 1924 Cal. 1140, 6 Lah. L. J. 213, 1924 Lah. 588: 86 I. C. 273: 26 Cr. L. J. 737.

—a proceeding under s 512 (1) Cr. P. C. is neither an enquiry nor a trial within s. 517 Cr. P. C. It is not the function of a criminal court to decide nice questions involving principles of civil court. 2 Bur. L. J. 85: 1922 Rang. 248.

—when a question of bona fides and of title by purchase or otherwise clearly arises, the duty of the criminal court is to leave the complainant to his remedy in civil court. 74 I. C. 708. 24 Cr. L. J. 804 1924 A. 189.

—when a property produced before a criminal court is not proved to have been taken at an alleged dacoity or to belong to the complainant, the court ought to deliver it to the person who produced it leaving the complainant to his remedy in the civil court. 6 Lah. L. J. 213: 1924 Lah. 588

—where the accused was acquitted of the charge of abetment of theft of an animal but the animal was handed over to the complainant until the adjudication of the Civil Court, held that the proper order was to restore the animal to the possession of the accused. 54 C. 283: 1927 Cal. 532: 102 I. C. 482. 28 Cr. L. J. 546.

—where the accused is acquitted from the charge of cheating the property should be restored to him and not to the complainant. 95 I. C. 933: 1926 Cal. 1018: 27 Cr. L. J. 853

—when the ownership of the seized property is doubtful the property should be returned to the person from whom it was seized unless there are special circumstances. 50 M. 916: 104 I. C. 719: 1927 Mad. 797: 28 Cr. L. J. 879.

—as property to currency note passes by mere delivery a stolen currency note should be returned to the innocent third party from whom it was recovered. above case.

Miscellaneous cases.

—joint delivery on joint receipt is not bad. 7 M. L. T. 179; 11 Cr. L. J. 138

—magisterial control ceases with the delivery of the property. 1897 A. W. N. 26, 3 Pat. L. T. 228; 65 I. C. 494; 23 Cr. L. J. 110.

—proceedings under ss 109 and 110 fall within the words "inquiry" and "trial" and M. can order confiscation of property produced before him in the absence of proof that any offence was committed with respect to it. 42 M. 9; 20 Cr. L. J. 135.

—where the accused assaulted the complainant and dispossessed him of a bungalow and its contents, it was the duty of the M. to pass order under ss 517 and 522 directing restoration of the bungalow and its contents to the party dispossessed. 36 C. 44; 13 C. W. N. 77.

—an offence under s 124 A. I. P. C. consists in publication. It cannot be said that a press is used for commission of an offence under s 124 A. I. P. C. even though it was used for printing seditious matters. 34 C. 986; 11 C. W. N. 1046; 4 Cr. L. J. 293, 37 P. W. R. 1907; 6 Cr. L. J. 411; 5 N. L. R. 59; 9 Cr. L. J. 539.

—under s 517 the criminal court cannot direct forfeiture of property abovo case, but the law has been changed by the amendment.

—in the absence of any inquiry or criminal proceeding the M. cannot pass any order directing delivery of property: 6 C. L. J. 707; 6 Cr. L. J. 402; 5 C. L. J. 229; 5 Cr. L. J. 147.

—where in a case under s 145 the M. ordered boundary marks to be laid down defining the possession of the respective parties and it was contended that such order was authorised by sec. 517 held that this sec. had no application as the property was not in the custody of the court. 27 A. 300, contra. 14 C. W. N. 79 (note).

—in cancelling proceedings under sec. 145 (1) the M. has no jurisdiction to allow one of the parties to reap the crops to the exclusion of the other. 3 C. L. J. 573; 3 C. L. J. 466.

—when an order of return of property is passed by a stationary Sub-Magistrate only the Dt. M. and not the Subdivisional M. has the power to modify the order. 42 M. L. J. 40; 30 M. L. T. 251; 67 I. C. 339; 23 Cr. L. J. 387.

—where the trying M. acquitted the accused charged with theft of a drum and restored the drum to the accused the Dt. M. could not set aside the order of restoration as no appeal or revision lay with him. 46 A. 623; 22 A. L. J. 505; 81 I. C. 992; 25 Cr. L. J. 1168.

—where the accused was acquitted of a charge of criminal misappropriation but the trying court directed the property to be returned to the complainant, the Sessions Court could not, in appeal interfere with the order. 1928 Rang. 240; 111 I. C. 878; 6 Rang. 259.

S. 522. (Power to restore possession of immovable property)

N. B. By the amendment in place of "farce" the words "or show of force or by criminal intimidation" have been inserted and in place of "thinks fit" the words "when convicting such person or at any time within one month from the date of the conviction" shall be inserted and by sub-sec. (3), the words "an order under this sec. may be made by any court of appeal, confirmation, reference or revision" have been added. The first portion of the amendment has given effect to the doubtful view of the H. C. Judges in the case reported in 11 C. W. N. 467, and by this amendment the following rulings have become obsolete. 25 O. 434, 27 C. 174, 23 B. 494, 26 M. 49, 25 A. 341, 5 C. W. N. 239, 250.

N. B. By the addition of the sforesaid sub-sec. in the amendment the decision reported in 39 C. 1050 : 16 C. W. N. 811 : 13 Cr. L. J. 638 has become ineffective.

S. 526. (High Court may transfer case or itself try it).

The following amendments have been made in sec. 526 Cr. P. C.

(i) in sub-clauses (ii) and (iii) of sub-section (1) the word "criminal" before the word "case" and in sub-clause (ii) the word "such" before the word "cases" shall be omitted;

(ii) in sub-section (5), for the word "convicted" the word "so ordered" shall be substituted, and for the words "the cost of the prosecutor" the words "any amount which the High Court has power under this sec. to award by way of costs to the person opposing the application" shall be substituted;

(iii) after sub-section (6) the following sub-section shall be inserted namely—

"(6A) where any application for the exercise of the power conferred by the section is dismissed, the High Court may, if it is of opinion that the application was frivolous or vexatious, order the applicant to pay by way of costs to any person who has opposed the application, any expenses reasonably incurred by such person in consequence of the application"; and

(iv) for sub-section (8) the following sub-sections shall be substituted namely:—

"(8) If, in the course of any inquiry or trial, or before the appeal, the Public Prosecutor, the court before which the appeal is made, or the court before which the appeal is made, the court shall adjourn the case or postpone the appeal for such a period as will afford a reasonable time for the application to be made and an order to be obtained thereon

(9) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, a Judge presiding in a Court of Sessions shall not be required to adjourn a trial under sub-section (8) if he is of opinion that the person notifying his intention of making an application under this section has had a reasonable opportunity of making such an application and has failed without sufficient cause to take advantage of it.

Applicability of the sec.

—the principle underlying sec. 526 Cr. P. C. is to inspire confidence in the minds of the accused persons in the administration of justice and in the integrity of the Magistracy. 1928 Lah. 460 : 107 I. C. 783 : 29 Cr. L. J. 295

—by the deletion of the word "criminal" from cl. (i) the scope of the section has been widened and an inquiry under s. 14 of the Legal Practitioners Act conducted by a M. comes within the meaning of the word "case" 93 I. C. 700 : 1926 Lah. 199 : 27 Cr. L. J. 476.

—"criminal case" in s. 526 Cr. P. C. (old) might be understood as simply distinguished from a civil case, or in other words a criminal case was one over which a criminal court exercised jurisdiction. 28 C. 709 : 5 C. W. N. 749

—this sec. does not apply to proceedings under s. 145 34 C. W. N. 59 : 50 C. L. J. 331 : 1929 Cr. C. 522 : 1929 Cal. 778, 8 Pat. L. T. 716 : 1927 Pat. 331 6 Pat. 553. 28 Cr. L. J. 1035 : 25 B. 179, 28 C. 709 5 C. W. N. 749, 15 Cr. L. J. 339, Contra. 26 M. 188, 34 A. 533, 2 C. L. J. 614.

—proceedings under Chapter VIII are "criminal cases" (old) and can be transferred from one M.'s file to another's. 41 C. 719, 28 C. 709, 33 A. 642, 12 A. L. J. 262, 1913 P. R. 1, 1 S. L. R. 98 Contra. 1914 P. R. 5, 1916 P. R. 78.

—the expression "criminal case" (old) included proceedings of a criminal nature under the Code either than enquiries into or trials of offence 3 O. C. 247, 11 O. C. 61 but the amendment has set the point at rest by the deletion of the word "criminal" from cl. (i).

—"commencement of the hearing" in s. 526 Cr. P. C. must mean the commencement of the hearing in the court objected to. 8 C. W. N. 77.

—s. 195 (3) as amended must be read in conjunction with old s. 476 and new ss. 476 A and 476-B, incorporated in that sec. by the new Amendment Act and again all these sections must be read as governed or controlled by s. 426 which clothes the H. C. with power to transfer any case from any file to any other file. 86 I. C. 428 : 26 Cr. L. J. 796.

—in transferring a case the convenience of the accused should be considered rather than that of the prosecution. 94 I. C. 131 : 1926 Lah. 493 : 27 Cr. L. J. 563.

S. 526. Applicability of the sec —contd.

—any inquiry by a M. or a criminal court subordinate to the H. C. can be transferred under s. 526 to any criminal court of equal or superior jurisdiction subordinate to its authority, if the requisite grounds set forth in the sec. are established. 45 A. 700; 21 A. L. J. 619.

—s. 526 applies only to proceedings pending in courts subordinate to the H. C. Panchayet courts established under U. P. Act. VI of 1920 are not subordinate to the H. C. 83 I. C. 350; 21 A. L. J. 925.

—when a M. has acted within the meaning of sec. 117 Cr. P. C. no order under s. 526 can be made subsequently. 19 A. 291.

—the H. C. has power to transfer a case from the file of the Chief Pr. M. to that of any other Presidency M. 22 M. L. J. 114.

—H. C. has no power to transfer an extradition proceeding. 46 C. 31; 20 C. L. J. 241

—under the Letters Patent a single Judge of the H. C. can transfer a case from any court subordinate to it. 9 C. 397, 7 Bom. L. R. 104

—the H. C. can transfer a case to a court having jurisdiction from a court having no jurisdiction. 1929 Sind 250. 1929 Cr. C. 678, 9 All. 191, P. C., 18 All. 350, 8 Bom. L. R. 312, 2 Bom. L. R. 394, 36 M. 387, 42 M. 791, 1925 Pat. 187 Ref

—it is not competent to a superior court to transfer a case filed in a court not having jurisdiction to entertain it, to some other court. 72 I. C. 351; 24 Cr. L. J. 351. 1923 Mad. 326; 17 L. W. 69, 9 A. 191 Ref.

—before an application is made to the H. C. for transfer the Dt. M. must be moved first, 6 Bom. L. R. 480, 24 Cr. L. J. 466 (Lab.), and the case to be transferred must be before a competent court. 10 B. 247, 9 A. 191, 9 M. 356, 3 Bom. L. R. 121, 7 Bom. L. R. 104, 6 C. 30, 17 L. W. 69.

—the application for transfer must be made before the disposal of the case. 2 C. 290, 1 Bom. L. R. 782 —where the application for transfer did not mention any ground of transfer and was made at a late stage of the proceedings after the opposite party had closed his evidence, the application should be rejected. 34 C. W. N. 59. 50 C. L. J. 331; 1929 Cal. 778; 1929 Cr. C. 522.

—the M. cannot make a preliminary inquiry as to whether the grounds of transfer alleged against himself were well-founded. 92 I. C. 894; 1926 Lah. 236; 27 Cr. L. J. 332. 27 Punj L. R. 67.

Cl. (a) When a fair and impartial inquiry or trial cannot be had.

General

—the importance of securing the confidence of the parties in the fairness and impartiality of the tribunal is next only to the importance of securing a fair and impartial trial. 25 C. 727; 3 C. W. N. 65, 8 C. W. N. 75, 10 C. W. N. 793.

S 525 Cl. (a) When a fair and impartial inquiry or trial cannot be had—contd.

—if all the circumstances taken together would justify a reasonable apprehension that a fair trial would not be obtained, the case should be transferred. 9 C. W. N. 619, 10 C. W. N. 703, 8 C. W. N. 589, 18 C. 247.

—the doctrine that a reasonable apprehension in the mind of an accused that he will not have a fair trial is a sufficient ground for transfer, is sound, but in applying it regard must be had to the circumstances of each case. 36 O. 904, 12 A. L. J. 33; 14 Cr. L. J. 666; 21 Ind. C. 906.

—the apprehension must be reasonable and there must be sufficient ground for apprehension. 39 C. L. J. 333, 10 C. W. N. 441, 36 A. 239, 33 O. 1183, 18 Cr. L. J. 670; 2 P. L. W. 83; 4 P. W. —In deciding what will amount to a reasonable apprehension the court must have regard to the degree of their intelligence and their honesty and impartiality both probably fairly low. 10 N. L. R. 15; 15 Cr. L. J. 196; 22 Ind. C. 980, 5 P. L. T. 63, 33 O. 1183, 36 C. 924, 1 P. L. T. 494.

—although a M. may act with perfect impartiality still if the action taken by him is such as to create a reasonable apprehension in the mind of the accused that the M. is against him, the case must be transferred. 106 I. C. 456; 29 Cr. L. J. 40.

—in determining whether the apprehension is reasonable or not the court has not to come to a conclusion on abstract principles but has to bear in mind the degree of intelligence of the accused. 104 I. C. 227; 1927 Lah. 709.

—the question is not whether the belief of the accused that he will not have a fair trial is reasonable or unreasonable but whether it exists or not. 99 I. C. 360; 28 Cr. L. J. 188.

—one important object at all events is to clear away everything which might engender suspicion and distrust of the tribunal and is to promote the feeling of confidence in the administration of justice. 2 P. L. T. 198, 7 N. L. J. 155.

—where a M. receives hospitality in ignorance of the fact that his host is the soo of the complainant there may be reasonable apprehension in the mind of the accused that they would not have a fair trial. 94 I. C. 133; 1926 Lah. 347; 27 C. L. J. 565.

—where the proceedings of the M. were dilatory and he issued a warrant against the wife of the accused she being a pardanashin lady, transfer of the case was desirable. 99 I. C. 1025; 1927 Lah. 16; 28 Cr. L. J. 225.

—transfer should not be granted lightly on sentimental grounds and as a rule transfer application should not be granted when it is supported by false affidavit. 1928 Lah. 276; 107 I. O. 108; 29 Cr. L. J. 220.

—transfer should not be allowed only on the ground that there is apprehension that in the ultimate judgment the Magistrate will not give effect to a legal objection which might be taken. 1928 Lah. 317 : 107 I. C. 773 : 29 Cr. L. J. 289.

—where certain incidents take place in a district raising a reasonable apprehension in the minds of the accused that they cannot have a fair and impartial trial there, the accused are entitled to have their case transferred to another District. 1930 Lah. 951 : 1930 Cr. C. 1050, 1923 Lah. 264, 1925 Lah. 351 : 1928 Lah. 1, Rel on —where the case is repeatedly adjourned to bring pressure on the accused person to produce his absconding co-accused there is ground for transfer of the case. 1930 Lah. 953 : 1930 Cr. C. 1049.

(1) Expression of views or opinions

—when a case is sent to a M. for disposal with a remark by the Dt. M. that it was quite a clear case and the defence was ridiculous it is a good ground for transfer to another District 2 O. W. N. 688.

—where a case is triable by a court of sessions, it will not be good ground for the transfer of the case from the M. holding an enquiry, that the M. expressed certain strong views against a party or that he is going to be produced as a witness. 11 A. L. J. 741 : 14 Cr. L. J. 555 : 21 Ind. C. 155 —ordering the prosecution of the defence witness for perjury at the time the evidence is recorded and thus striking terror into their hearts is sufficient to justify a transfer. 106 I. C. 456: 29 Cr. L. J. 40.

—where in recording the evidence the M. made a note that the witness faltered and from his demeanour it appeared that he had not told the truth, there was sufficient ground for transfer. 29 C. W. N. 316: 1925 Cal 480. 86 I. C. 708. 26 Cr. L. J. 852.

—when a M. has dealt with a dispute between two parties in an informal manner as a private arbitrator, he should not afterwards deal with the same dispute as a M. as it would be inconvenient and embarrassing for him to do so and as his previous informal knowledge must necessarily hamper him at every turn. 18 C. —when the M. becomes aware of some facts of the case being present during Police investigation, he should not try the case. 5 C. W. N. 864.

(iii) Trying counter-cases.

—a judge is not debarred from trying a case of rioting because he has tried a counter-case and expressed an opinion, but he should not be influenced by his former impressions. 1 C. W. N. 426, 33 A. 583: 12 Cr. L. J. 561: 12 Ind. C. 652, 13 C. L. R. 275, 1917 Pat. 30, 36 C. 904.

S. 526. (III) Trying counter-cases—contd.

—expression of opinion in counter-case is not sufficient ground of transfer. 1 P. L. J. 399, 1 S. L. R. 37, 6 Bom. L. R. 1092, 1923 Nag. 217, 29 Cr. L. J. 589, 109 I. C. 605.

—a case was transferred from the file of the M. because he tried a counter-case. 14 C. W. N. 246 (note), 30 M. 233, 9 M. L. T. 162, 1910 M. W. N. 735; 8 Ind. O. 721 but it is not per se sufficient ground for transfer. 5 S. L. R. 241; 15 Ind. O. 804; 13 Cr. L. J. 532.

—It is obviously desirable that cross complaints should ordinarily be disposed of by the same Magistrate. Adverse decision in one case is no ground of transfer. 111 I. C. 851.

—expression of stray opinion may be sufficient ground of transfer. 30 M. 233, 1916 P. L. R. 78, 10 O. L. J. 556.

(iv) Supplementary or subsequent case.

—a M. trying one batch of persons for a particular offence is in itself no ground for transferring a subsequent trial pending before him of another batch of persons for the same offence. 31 O. 715, 8 C. W. N. 910, 1928 Lab. 460; 107 I. C. 783; 29 Cr. L. J. 295.

—a S. J. is not debarred from trying a person for an offence under s. 196 I. P. C. when he has given sanction under s. 193 Cr. P. C. as D. J. 16 C. 766.

—the trial by the M. of some of the accused under one sec. is no ground for transfer of the case of the other accused under a different sec. 15 Cr. L. J. 253, 93 Ind. C. 20.

—whether a trial before a particular M. is expedient for the ends of justice is a question which should be considered from the point of view of the accused person as well, and unless it is impossible to get a M. other than the one who has already convicted the accused on the same charge at a previous trial or unless there were circumstances necessitating the trial of the same case before the same M. over again, it is desirable that the re-trial should not be held by the same M. 30 C. W. N. 1002; 1926 Cal. 1173; 97 I. C. 943; 27 Cr. L. J. 1188.

(v) Similar case.

—the mere fact that in another case, on other evidence, the judge has come to a particular conclusion is not in itself a sufficient ground for transfer. 36 C. 904, 1 C. W. N. 426, 31 C. 715, 11 Pat. L. T. 248; 1930 Pat. 337; 31 Cr. L. J. 732; 124 I. C. 846 but see 4 C. W. N. 824.

—the fact that the M. had already tried certain other persons charged with the same offence is not a ground of transfer. 24 Cr. L. J. 800 (Oudh).

(vi) Relationship with party.

—the fact of the M. being a friend of a remote relation of the complainant is not per se ground for transferring the case. 4 P. W. R. 1912 Cr. 66 P. L. R. 1920; 15 Ind. O. 314; 13 Cr. L. J. 474.

S. 526. (vii) Relationship with party—contd

—the mere fact that the M. was the master of the complainant is not sufficient ground of transfer. 9 B. 172.

—the fact that both the complainant and the accused are acquainted with the M. who sometimes gets medical help from them is no ground of transfer. 1917 P. W. R. 13.

—the M. being a relation of the Sub-Inspector of Police is no ground of transfer. 28 C. 297.

—but where the prosecution witness was a relation of the M. the case was transferred 13 C. W. N. (note)

—where the prosecution witness is a friend of the Magistrate as well as of the complainant the case should be transferred 93 I. C. 318 : 27 Cr. L. J. 782 1925 Lah. 410

C. 384 : 23 L. L. J. 704 : 1922 Lah. 72, so also when the trying M. is personally interested in the District Board and the prosecution is against certain officials. 1929 Lah. 114 : 9 Lah. L. ix) Bias or prejudice.

—the question is not whether there was any real bias in the mind of the judge, but whether any incident happened creating in mind of the accused a reasonable apprehension that he may have a fair and impartial trial. 24 C. 493, 19 A. 64, 20 C. 857, 15; 10 A. L. J. 357; 13 Cr. L. J. 823; 17 Ind. C. 567, 28 C. 1928 Ail. 396; 26 A. L. J. 1250; 29 Cr. L. J. 750; 110 I. C. 686 B., 110 I. C. 801; 29 Cr. L. J. 769, 107 I. C. 160; 29 Cr. L. —the court must be satisfied that on the fact disclosed there is a reasonable apprehension that the applicant may not have a fair and impartial trial. Incidents may be susceptible of explanation and may not show any bias in the mind of the Judge but they create in the mind of the applicant a justifiable apprehension that he would have an impartial trial, it is ground for transfer. —If by reason of the words or conduct of M. before whom a case is pending any party reasonably apprehends that there is a bias on the part of the officer concerned, it would be a ground for transfer the case from his file, if there is no real bias. 28 C. 709; 5 C. W. N.

—not passing any order on the application for time to move the H. C. for transfer and continuing the recording of evidence before and after the communication of the issue of rule by the vakil are themselves grounds for transfer. 11 C. W. N. 507, 12 C. W. N. 242 (note).

—stopping further cross-examination of the complainant on the ground that he has already been cross-examined for an hour is a reasonable ground for transfer. 20 Cr. L. J. 559. But not always. 1917 P. W. R. 29, 25 Cr. L. J. 1185 (Cudh).

—where from the number of witnesses the case could not be finished in one day but the Judge insisted on finishing the case in one day and refused to adjourn the case, this constituted sufficient ground of transfer. 17 A. L. J. 48.

—but where the statement of the witness showed his complicity in the offence and the M. ordered him to be put on trial along with the accused, this was no ground of transfer although the case was transferred on the ground of the statement being on oath. 20 Cr. L. J. 385 (C).

—where a M. ordered the prosecution of the defence witness for perjury at the time of recording the evidence it is likely to strike terror into the heart of the defence witness who may be unwilling to depose, consequently such a step may be sufficient ground for transfer. 1928 Lah 160 : 106 I. C 456 : 29 Cr. L. J. 40.
